

GAME WARDEN RISES EARLY, TAKES FOUR; FINES TOTAL $1749

"Closed Season" Between 6 p. m. Saturday and 6 p. m. Sunday Nets Profit to State.

John Larson, district deputy game warden at Astoria, now believes the early bird catches the worm. Larson, between 3:30 and 7:30 a. m. last Sunday, arrested four alleged game law violators on the Columbia river fishing grounds, and when his final report was made to the state fish and game commission his net returns totaled $1749.05.

Fishing season on the Columbia is waning to the closed season beginning noon, August 25. Fishermen of that district are anxious to use every minute of the time in gathering in the fish. It so happens that there is a Columbia river closed season from 6 p. m. Saturday to 6 p. m. Sunday every week, and John had been tipped that several Astorians were violating both the Sabbath and the state game laws, so he got busy.

The log of his cruise record reads as follows:

"4 a. m., apprehended Charlie Holman of Astoria fishing in closed season near mouth of river, and told him to report to Judge P. J. Carney at Astoria. 5 a. m., Martin Zider, Astoria, caught for same offense and told same thing. 6 a. m., caught Martin Buterowitz, Brookfield, Wash., on Sand Island for same offense and told him same story. At 7:30 a. m., while cruising the 2 mile limit where Puget Sound fish are still giving trouble, was attracted back to Sand Island and caught W. A. Tallant of Astoria illegally operating seine and also seized over 6 tons of fish. Tuesday the four catches were tried before Judge Carney at Astoria. Buterowitz, Zider and Holman were each fined $50 and costs amounting to $5 each. Tallant was fined $200 and $10 costs. His 12,124 pounds of fish were sold at 1 1/2 cents per pound, making a return of $1874.95 and a total of $1749.05. Fishing season on the Columbia in addition to the usual Sunday closed term will close noon August 25 until noon September 10.

Dairy Improvement, Herd Enlargement, Aim of Producers

Enlargement of herds and improvement of dairy equipment is absolutely essential to increased production of milk, declare prominent members of the Oregon Dairy Council. At a meeting of the executive committee of the council Wednesday afternoon it was voted to call a conference of dairymen with the executive committee of the Oregon state bankers' association to arrange for extension of credits to dairymen contemplating enlargement of herds. Extensive exhibits will be made by the Oregon Dairy Council at the Multnomah county fair and manufacturers and land products show at Gresham September 15-20, and at the Pacific International Livestock exposition at North Portland, November 11-17. Mrs. Howard Hammond of the O. D. C. will be in charge of the Gresham exhibit and W. K. Newell is chairman of the committee appointed to have charge of the dairy show at the livestock exposition.

Plane Gets Cantankerous Jackson Receives Thrills

Lieutenant Batton, pilot of one of the forest patrol airplanes, had just "cranked her up" at Eastmoreland field Wednesday afternoon preparatory for a flight back to Salem when the machine started off with a rush. Batton ducked and the machine went bounding away along the ground. In the car was A. G. Jackson, publicity director of the forest service, who was planning to visit the scenes of fires in the forests. Jackson knows little about airplanes, but his general knowledge of automobiles told him he must stop the engine. So he disconnected the wiring and the engine stopped. While he was doing this, however, the machine had gained headway and Batton, seizing one wing and running along the ground, managed to steer the craft into a tree. The only damage done was to a wing, which will have to be replaced. "I didn't get to fly, but I believe I got a thrill that no one else around here got," said Jackson today. The forest official went to the fire by train this morning. A new wing was sent for and Batton may get away Friday.

Rotary Club Being Organized at Salem; Charter Applied For

Business men of the state capital are making preparations to obtain their own Rotary club and with nearly enough classifications needed for the formation of an organization, they are now awaiting approval and a charter from the national headquarters, according to a report by N. G. Pike, organization representative. Pike went to Salem Wednesday with J. H. Joyce to aid in the organization.

Pike reports that after making a general survey, a meeting of representative business men was called and a committee formed to apply for a charter. Fifteen classifications were obtained during the meeting and this will necessitate obtaining only 10 more prospective members before a charter can be signed. The committee formed is as follows: H. S. Gile, chairman; C. B. Clancy, secretary; Charles G. Miller, Dr. Perry, Fred Thielson, John McNary and Professor Sites of the university. Salem's charter has been applied for by the Portland Rotary club.

The industrial welfare commission of California has increased the minimum wage of women workers from $10 to $13.50 weekly.

Five Doomed Men Return to America Aboard Transport

New York, Aug. 21.—The transport Troy docked here Wednesday bringing home from France five American soldiers under sentence of death. Two are charged with murder, another with sleeping on his post. The cases are being reviewed by President Wilson. The Troy also carried units of the Thirty-eighth infantry and Third field artillery. The Matsonia and America brought more members of the same detachments. Part of the thirtieth infantry, which played a conspicuous part in stemming the German tide at Chateau Thierry, also arrived on the America.

Washington, Aug. 21.—(WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL)—Senator Jones of Washington introduced a bill authorizing the use of $250,000,000 for reclamation under the reclamation law, covering both old and new projects, preference to be given projects where cooperation is offered by states or irrigation districts. It was referred to the irrigation committee, of which McNary is chairman. This committee also has before it the McNary bill to add $50,000,000 to the reclamation fund for existing projects upon which Secretary Lane has made favorable report.
