THRIFT STAMPS AND WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

Business Office, The Journal.
Boy With Bare Legs Sought—Walter Hodgkins, who resides with his sister, Mrs. J. O. Nadeau on Maple street near Eighty-second street in Lentz, is absent on a tour of inspection of Vancouver. He is 11 years of age, has black hair, dark eyes, bare feet, blue overalls and white shirt. That is, he was last Tuesday. He was last seen in Vancouver at Nineteenth and Reserve streets. With him was $35 he thought his sister did not need as much as he, and consequently it may have helped to change his appearance. Informants in the office are sought by his relatives and should be communicated to the Portland office.

Fishermen Are Arrested—John Larson of Gold Beach, apprehended while fishing with a gill net below the head line at Doyle's Rock in the Rogue river, and Earl Hoffman of Portland, guilty of fishing without a license in the Rogue, were arrested this week by B. L. Jewell, deputy game warden of Curry county, according to a report filed with the state fish and game commission. Larson was fined $50 by Judge E. H. Dye. Hoffman left a gold watch for security but failed to appear for a hearing.

To Suppress Chinese Lotteries—Instructions were issued by N. F. Johnson, chief of police, Thursday to the captains of each relief concerning the supposed operation of Chinese lotteries in Portland. An investigation of the condition, he says, shows 13 or 14 lotteries still in operation. It now appears that the men in charge of the gambling places have become bolder, in the opinion of the chief, and he calls for a renewal of diligence in suppressing them.

Needs Child in City—Ada R. Mills, San Francisco, has written Portland detectives in an effort to locate her 4-year-old son, Richard Mills. The boy was taken to Portland by her husband while the mother was ill in California, and she has since heard that her husband is sick. She does not know where he is, but says his letters said he had placed Richard in a private family.

Worthy Case Appeals—Two beds and bedding, one kitchen table, small kitchen stove, three chairs and cooking utensils are needed to aid a homeless widow with three children. The Pacific Coast Rescue and Protective society, phone Broadway 1665, 195 Burnside street, is looking after this case and Superintendent W. G. MacLaren declares it is worthy.

Woman's Leg Broken—Hit by J. J. Scheelan's car as she was crossing the street at Broadway and Alder Thursday afternoon, Mrs. K. L. Reid, 650 East Sixteenth street, north, received a broken leg. Mrs. Reid turned after she had almost crossed the street, and started back, stepping in front of Scheelan's car. Scheelan lives at 441 Sixth street.

James T. Rogers Is Guest Tonight of L. B. Smith

James T. Rogers, great incohonee of the United States, Improved Order of Red Men, will be entertained this evening at dinner by L. B. Smith, great sachem of Oregon, at a private dinner given in his honor, and a number of prominent chiefs of the order have been invited. The guest was driven about the city this afternoon and shown the scenic beauties of the city. He addressed Oneonta Tribe and guests Thursday night at Multnomah W. O. W. hall, 112 East Sixth street, and told of the ancient origin and modern development of the Improved Order of Red Men. He will participate in the conferring of degree work in an open forest Saturday night 12 miles east of Portland. Incohonee Rogers goes from Portland Sunday to California.

Accused of Stealing Auto
Harry Moore, wanted in Yakima, Wash., on the charge of stealing a motor car, was arrested in Portland today by Officers L. P. Russell, Hill and Gordon. The car was found here.—Adv.

ODDS AND ENDS IN THE NEWS OF TRAVELERS AND HOMEFOLK

No Tourist, but "Traveler"
John E. Cook always desired to travel—he lived in Pittsburg. So he worked hard for many years in the real estate and insurance business. He saved his money, as he advises all young men to do. Now he has most of the world and intends to see the remainder of it. He is 69 years old.
Cook has traveled now for nearly 10 years and is a member in good standing of the Travel Club of the Travel Club of America. In 1914 he left Europe just in time to avoid the war. He spent 1915 in Alaska, 1916 in the West Indies, 1917 in South America, 1918 in Florida and Cuba and 1919 in Colorado, California and the Northwest.

Chicagoans Here
J. E. Dixon is district superintendent for the Portland States Rubber company, and his home is in San Francisco. Every year for 30 years he has journeyed through Ashland, Or. And every year as a tourist he has been awakened by the peculiar clang of an ancient gong with a bell in it.
"I would like to hear that gong in the heart of China, I would think I were in Oregon," said Dixon.

But this trip the gong was gone. In its place was a bright new automobile. Dixon, who is at the Benson hotel today, says it isn't the same Oregon.
Chicagoans Here
Visiting his brother-in-law, R. Reed, and sister, Mrs. Henry Benek, of this city, are O. F. Reed of Chicago and Mrs. Reed. This is the first Western journey of the Chicagoans and the wonder of their trip through the Pacific Coast ports are being laid away for narratives to friends when they return.

Gossip From Fossil
"There's a whole lot of building going on in Fossil," said Elmer Matthews, real estate and stockman, at the New Perkins hotel this morning. "A. Johnson, who runs the Fossil Manufacturing company store, is building a large home. Dr. Jenkins is putting up a nice little house. There will be some flour mills start soon. And most everybody—except three—is home from the war."

At the Hotels
Among Oregon guests at the Hotel Seward are: C. H. Gram, state labor commissioner, Salem; John P. Gram, his son; William G. Dwight, Tillamook; F. A. Gaviston, timber, Cottage Grove, and Lee J. Gilbert and family, Salem. Gilbert is in the motor car business. The Gilberts passed through on their way to Seaside.
Among Washington guests at the Oregon hotel are: N. Murphy, Murphy Lumber company, Yacolt, and John Dornitt and family, Cathlamet.
Mr. and Mrs. A. Carson, San Francisco, are at the Benson hotel. Carson is traffic manager for a large corporation. Tillamook and family, 2215 N. Stark, newly appointed Washington and Oregon representative for Albert Pick & Co., hotel furnishings, arrived at the Multnomah hotel Thursday on his way to Seattle.
F. J. Maguin, captain of the S. S. Rose City (San Francisco-Portland), is at the New Perkins hotel.
Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Alkman, sheep rancher, Bury, Idaho, is at the Portland hotel.

Among Oregon guests at the Hotel Carlton are: Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ditter, Corvallis; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Small, Corvallis; Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Prosser, North Bend, and Mrs. A. E. Orlin, Oregon City.
Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Gress and the Misses Alick and Gretchen Gress came all the way from Jacksonville, Fla., to see Portland. They are at the Multnomah hotel.
Judge and Mrs. Roger Mayo, Hammond, are at the New Perkins hotel.
Russett, the Portland sawmill owner, Kulehes point, is at the Portland hotel.
Dr. R. I. Iyel, Mrs. Iyel and daughter, Great Falls, Mont., are at the Multnomah hotel.
E. A. Van Sickle and C. E. Sharp, merchant of that town.

Among Washington guests at the Multnomah hotel are: E. B. Goodwin, merchant, Brierley City, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bartholet and child, Yakima.
Fire Fighters Get Trails on Three Sides of Big Blaze
Albany, Aug. 22.—Two hundred men, directed by J. R. Shaw and G. B. McLeod of the Hammond Lumber company, succeeded, during a respite in the strong winds, in getting trails around three sides of the big blaze on the company's land near Lacombe. Shaw reported Thursday that if the wind does not come up strong again the fire would be controlled without much more damage. The fire has traveled about four miles. The fire has been burning since Wednesday evening.

Arranging Dairy Exhibit
F. G. Deckebach of Salem was a visitor in Portland Thursday. Mr. Deckebach is arranging for the space for the Dairy Council's exhibit at the State fair.
