

EFFORT TO FIGHT TUBERCULOSIS TO BE COOPERATIVE

Society for Prevention of Disease Joins Forces With State Board of Health in Campaign.

RULES ARE TO BE PRINTED

Water Supply of Every Community Is to Be Examined at Least Once a Month by Bacteriologist

Closer cooperation and interweaving of the work of the state board of health and the Oregon Anti-Tuberculosis society were effected at a meeting of the health board Wednesday. After a report of Mrs. Sadie Orr-Dunbar on the work of public health nurses, the board appointed Miss Jane C. Allen, for a year stationed at the Mills Open Air school, as state advisory nurse. Miss Allen will be the pivot upon which the organized efforts of the two organizations will swing.

MRS. BLUMAUER INDORSED

The board also indorsed the work of Mrs. S. M. Blumauer, educational secretary of the Anti-Tuberculosis society, in her modern health crusades among the school children, and adopted resolutions urging educators to aid in promoting practical hygiene through that method.

"This work," said Dr. David N. Rosenberg, secretary of the board of health, this morning, "eventually will show its effect in later years in the early correction of bad health habits in childhood and in inoculating health ideas in children for sturdy citizenship."

Rules were adopted governing the control of all communicable diseases, which will be printed within a few days. Authority for these regulations was vested in the board by the last session of the legislature. The regulations affect hospitals, schools, sanitariums, baby homes, common carriers, camps, hotels and practically every other agency from which disease might spring. Strict measures will be adopted to prevent sale of infected merchandise and disinfection of public buildings will be enforced. The water supply of every community having more than five families or 50 persons shall be examined at least once a month in the state laboratory, the examinations to be free. Sanitary rules governing residents upon watersheds were also formulated. Industrial camp sites must be approved by the board and a permit issued before the camp may be established. Invitation was extended by the United States census bureau to avail itself of the official test for a birth registration state, about October 15, when the census bureau official will be in Portland. The invitation was accepted. In June, 1918, Oregon passed the death registration test which placed it upon the map with the census bureau in the matter of accurate inventories and records. The invitation of the census bureau was commendatory of Oregon's health program. Several states underwent the test by the time it was passed. Officials believe Oregon will stand an excellent chance of passing the test in which 95 per cent of the recorded births must be correct. Washington is already in the registered list and California is to take the test immediately preceding Oregon.

MATHER AND GRANT LEAVE MEDFORD FOR YELLOWSTONE PARK

Director Admits Threat to Close Crater Lake Looks Bad in Print, But Roads Needed.

Medford, Aug. 28.—Stephen T. Mather of Washington, D. C., director of national parks, was in this city Wednesday afternoon. He left with Madison Grant of New York, president of the National Geographical society, with whom he has been touring the national parks, for Yellowstone park.

In explanation of his criticisms of the roads to Crater Lake park and the management of the Park hotel before the chamber of commerce meeting at Portland, following the visit of himself and Grant to Crater lake, Mather declared he had no desire whatever to drive visitors from the lake, but that his somewhat caustic remarks were only calculated to awake the Portland business men to the urgent need of helping provide Crater lake with better conditions for tourists and better roads leading to this famous resort.

When shown a copy of his remarks as quoted in Portland newspapers in which he hinted he would close up Crater lake as a national attraction unless conditions were bettered there, Mather said: "That does look pretty raw in print. I never realized how it would look. I had talked to the Portland business men without avail for years of the necessity of cooperation all around to make Crater lake more inviting for the tourists, and I probably talked pretty strong, but I contend that the roads to and the tourists' accommodations generally at the lake must be bettered if it is ever to gain tourist trade."

APARTMENT HOUSE MANAGERS TAKE UP EXPENSE ACCOUNTS

Will Devise Methods of Collective Bargaining for Supplies and Reduction in Rentals. Problems that perplex renters will be discussed at a meeting of the Apartment House Managers Association tonight. The meeting is called for 8 o'clock at 87 Fourth street. There are 150 members of the association and a large number of expectees.

It is not the purpose of the association to raise rents, according to officials of the organization. On the contrary they declare the purpose of this meeting is to devise methods of collective bargaining for fuel, light and various supplies needed in apartment houses, thereby lessening the expense and reducing the rental charge to the tenant.

18 Russian Reds Are Arrested in Chicago

Chicago, Aug. 28.—(U. P.)—Eighteen Russian Reds were arrested today while the police are investigating their alleged I. W. W. activities. The men were arrested in a raid conducted Wednesday night by Chicago Police Officer's "red squad" on the rooms of the Union of Russian Workers, said to be the headquarters of the younger radical element of Chicago.

17 per cent profit is necessary, he said, to do business. Owing to present difficulties the Economy is doing without the extra profit due the middleman which has been eliminated because the Economy buys directly from the Seattle packers. "The Economy employs, in many Portland men, any butcher shop, he said.

H. Deering, for 25 years a butcher at Tiesler and Jefferson streets, said he was compelled to stop business by the influence of the packers. Pork is the only meat commodity the price of which has been materially increased in the last five years, he said.

"You cannot teach the public to eat cheap meat," he asserted. D. W. Westerback, a small butcher, concluded the two and a half hour session with an invective against the packers.

Thomas G. Farrell, chairman of the committee, brought with him the questionnaires recommended Monday night by the sub-committee on shoes. There was little room for heat of firms to write answers to the questions.

"I request the committee to allow me to have the questionnaires printed promptly," my lawyer, expenses," said George L. Williams of the committee. The committee agreed.

Retail grocers will be interrogated tonight. The public is invited to attend. The sessions are held every evening except Saturday and Sunday at 8 o'clock in the grand jury room at the central postoffice.

BIGELOW INSISTS MARKET MASTER WILL KEEP PLACE

Joel A. Eastman will not be dismissed as master of the Yamhill street public market at present.

"Only evidence submitted at a regular hearing through regular channels could induce me to dismiss a civil service employee," Eastman said.

"I request the committee to allow me to have the questionnaires printed promptly," my lawyer, expenses," said George L. Williams of the committee. The committee agreed.

WOMEN ANSWER BIGELOW

Mrs. J. F. Chapman, chairman of the housewives' mass meetings which convene every Tuesday at library hall, denies the truth of this assertion. "The commissioner and market master were given first consideration," she said this morning. "We were invited to the first meeting we ever had, in room 10 of the library. There they were given a splendid opportunity to explain the workings of the market. At the close of their talk they were invited to address the assembly of 500 housewives at library hall. This they did. It is not our fault if the feeling of that mass meeting was that explanations by Bigelow like that of the steel industry."

PREDICTS NO CHANGE

Commissioner Bigelow has no belief that the abolition of the price list will be a successful experiment.

"Agitation for its removal has come to me from so many sources," he said, "that I feel bound to try things for a while. I don't mean that prices will soar, as they did before the list was established."

It is possible that Commissioner Bigelow's abolition of the price list is embodied in the proposed new ordinance. "I haven't seen the thing yet," he explained this morning. "I have to depend for information upon the newspapers."

"I object especially to the summary demand that Eastman be discharged and to the claimer's weight and measures. E. D. Jones, city sealer of weights and measures, reports that only one case of violation of the ordinance has been found since the administration began. He makes regular and careful surveys."

UNION'S REFUSAL BRINGS NO FRESH STOCK WEAKNESS

Wall Street Does Not Fear Railroad Tieup and Believes Men Lack Public Support.

CONSEQUENCES TOO HUGE

Judge Gary's Declining to Meet Workers Taken to Indicate Strength.

By Broadman Wall New York, Aug. 27.—The market effect of the railway shopmen's refusal to accept President Wilson's program was a check to the recovery in prices without any fresh weakness.

The inside position had been so much improved by the decline of the first three weeks of August that prices were able to stand up pretty well in the face of the unfavorable news. Bearish traders succeeded in making some impression at the opening and again at the closing, but they were not able to bring out any fresh liquidation of consequence. It was a different situation from the first week of August, when the market was at the top of a big speculative boom, and when there was a long account of sufficient proportions to be vulnerable.

STOCK MARKET TOPICS

Live and up-to-the-minute financial news is a feature of The Journal. This paper accepts no oil, stock or mining advertising of a purely speculative nature.

Furnished by Overbeck & Conke Co. Owing to the approaching holidays professional are selling on rallies following realization by bulls who bought for the rally and who are disposed to become cautious in view of the strike developments.

PUBLIC SUPPORT LACKING

Opinion is divided as to the possibility of a great railway tieup, but the majority of Wall street houses are inclined to take the position that the public will not support the shopmen in their attitude and therefore that the labor leaders themselves, will not be anxious for a strike.

A general tieup of the railroad is unthinkable, simply because its consequences would be too tremendous to be endured.

As for labor demands in the steel industry, Judge Gray's statement, in which he refused even to meet representatives of the unions, would seem to effectually dispose of the entire question. The unions have never been able to make any headway in the steel mills since the strike of 1901.

MORE WEAKNESS, IF ANYTHING

In fact, it is doubtful if they have not lost ground since then. At all events, the steel unions control less than one-third and probably not more than a quarter of the labor capacity of the steel trade. Under these circumstances Judge Gary is entirely right in turning down the demand for higher wages.

The new ordinance, proposed by the women, probably will be presented to the council at its regular meeting Wednesday of next week at the same time Commissioner Bigelow will propose to the council that one of the recommendations made by the women's committee be abolished—the maximum price list effect.

WOMEN OFFER ORDINANCE

Mrs. F. O. Northrup, chairman of the committee of five women who drafted the recommendations, called upon C. C. Hindman, deputy city attorney, Wednesday afternoon, to seek advice as to how the ordinance should be presented before the council. She was advised to prepare the ordinance ready for passage and to apply for a hearing.

HIGHER RATE NOT NECESSARY

A good many speculators have bought the railway shares on the idea of an immediate rate increase. And these traders were quick to unload in news of this morning. As a matter of fact, the published statements of the president and of all other public men like Chairman Beach, take the stand that a rate increase is not necessary now, but will certainly have to come if there is a further raising of the steel wages.

Under these circumstances investors who have held railway stocks through all the vicissitudes of the last six months ought not to think of selling now. There may be no attraction in buying the rails as a speculation but they are low enough to discount all the uncertainties of the situation. These should not be sold by those who own them outright.

Do You Know Your Own Business? If you own shares in a business do you want a Government employe to tell your executives how to run your business? If you are a loyal employe, do you want a political appointee to have the power to injure your concern by hampering its operations or by interfering with its efficiency? Perhaps you have noticed the effect of Government control on the railroads, telegraph, and telephone. Bills have been introduced to license and regulate the packing industry—perhaps your business will be next. Three million people use it annually as a tonic, strength and blood-builder. MAKE THIS TEST. See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired; next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times a day after meals for two weeks.
