BRINGING THE VEGETABLES TO MARKET CALLS FOR SPEED

Most of the food products sold on the public market are brought to the by motor truck. But there are some gardeners who still use old, slow "Dobbin"—mainly because they think the cost of a truck is more than they can afford. When as little as $500 will buy a truck suitable for a gardener it is hard to believe any man in this business can afford not to have a truck.
