

Starts one week from today. The series will be covered fully by The Journal's special correspondents. All the preliminary "dope" in pictures and snappy text on the Sports pages

NEXT SUNDAY

Maximum Temperatures Tuesday:
Portland	84
New Orleans	84
Chicago	83
Los Angeles	80
St. Paul	73

MILITIA'S REMOVAL IS SOUGHT

Strike Leaders Assert That State Troopers Have Exceeded Their Authority; Clashes Numerous

Three More Killed and Scores Injured; Situation in Steel Area Apparently at a Deadlock

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 24.—(U. P.)—Strike leaders meeting in Pittsburgh today were to take action seeking removal of state constabulary from the steel centers. They take the attitude that the troopers have exceeded their authority.

Shortly before this meeting began strikers and state constabulary clashed in Buffalo, N. Y., the first disorder reported today. During the night one man was killed and several injured in strike disturbances at Buffalo. Rioting also continued at Farrell, Pa., last night, one man being killed and six wounded. This brought the total casualties in that city to three killed and scores injured. Eight men were beaten by strike sympathizers in Indiana Harbor, Ind., last night.

Additional state constabulary ordered out by Governor Smith were enroute to the Buffalo-Lackawanna district today, following an appeal from the mayor of Lackawanna.

The strike situation in the all-important Pittsburgh district apparently was unchanged today, while both sides claimed gains in the Gary and Ohio areas.

FRESH RIOTS AT CLEVELAND; MORE TROUBLE IS PREDICTED
Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 24.—Disorders this morning caused the police guards in the mill districts to be doubled.

Patrolman Hack was severely beaten near the Otis plant when he endeavored to break up a strike meeting.

(Concluded on Page Eight, Column One)

Silk Shirt Factory To Start Operating In Portland Oct. 15

Announcement was made to the foreign trade department of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday that S. Shirek, former manager of the local branch of L. Dinkelpiel company, would establish a factory for the manufacture of silk shirts for men at 311 Pine street and would start operating October 15 with an output of material valued at about $1000.

The new company will operate 10 machines at the opening of the plant and will be the first silk shirt manufacturer in the Pacific coast. Material will be drawn direct from China and Japan and all shipments will be made direct to Portland via the Portland-Oriental steamships.

Women of Portland Plan Organization Of Political Party

More than a hundred Portland women, faithful attendants at the weekly meetings at Library hall, banded together Tuesday afternoon to form the nucleus of what they intend to make a far reaching political organization for women.

To learn how better to use her vote, to study political questions not only academically but empirically, to enable her to understand the meaning of how phrases—these are the purposes of the organization effected Tuesday by motion from the floor at the last of the series of mass meetings that has led to investigation of the public market and against overcharging on the part of landlords.

NO DUES TO BE PAID
It is proposed to attract to this organization every voting housewife in Portland. There are to be no dues, payment to the organization is to be made in the form of service on a great number of permanent investigating committees.

Officers of the new organization will be elected next Tuesday. Meetings for the present will be held weekly at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoons in Library hall, similarly to the mass meetings. All housewives are invited to come and to sign their names to the roster.

Mrs. J. C. Stuart, Mrs. W. L. Block, Mrs. Jack Fletcher and Mrs. John Scott were appointed a constitutional committee to draft a form of organization and present it Tuesday. Mrs. J. F. Chapman, chairman of the mass meetings, expressed her hesitancy at accepting the responsibility of leadership in the new organization, but it

Four Walters Go Hunting; 5 Deer Killed; How Did Bishop Get His?

Rt. Rev. W. T. Sumner Denies That He Is Good Shot or Hunter, but Brings Game Home.

Choice venison, prepared after the now nearly lost art practiced by Robin Hood and his merry men in Sherwood forest, has graced the bishop's table of late. Yet it was not because the Right Rev. Walter Taylor Sumner was either a good shot or even a hunter at all. The bishop lately returned from a two-weeks "rest" in the vast forest of the Umpqua country. With him were Walter Evans, Walter Gearin, Tom Honeyman and Walter Honeyman—nirmonds and Ike Waltons all.

"I didn't go hunting," declared the bishop, "this morning. I went to rest." "The bishop went hunting with us, but he was unlucky in not getting a deer," explained Walter Honeyman. "Despite the varying interpretations of the bishop's idea of the outing, five deer fell before the unerring aim of the four men."

"So the bishop got one, anyway," say the four. "It has not been explained how the party happened to include four Walters—Sumner, Gearin, Evans and Honeyman. Some etymologists say Walter is derived from the old German 'Walder,' lord of the forest, and it may be this suggestion that caused the subconscious mingling of men of the same impulse on an adventure of the woods and mountains."

On the way home from the Umpqua, Gearin and Walter Honeyman stopped off at Eugene and fished in the McKenzie. The results of their prowess with the rod were displayed today in Honeyman's show window.

California Forest Fire Still Burning Fiercely at Oroville

Oroville, Cal., Sept. 24.—(U. P.)—Fires are still burning in the zone surrounded by Bidwell Bar, Harris Mills, Kanaka Hills and Enterprise. Thirty high school boys from Oroville have joined the fire fighters. Approximately 40,000 acres have been burned over, or are still in flames. There have been no casualties although several fire fighters have been scorched.

Observatory Is Threatened
Monrovia, Cal., Sept. 24.—(U. P.)—Constable James Quiggle and a force of 60 men left Monrovia early today for the region of Mount Wilson following receipt of reports that the Mount Wilson solar observatory, containing one of the largest telescopes in North America, is threatened by the forest fire in the Angels national forest.

Washington Reports Send Steel Shares Up Several Points
New York, Sept. 24.—(U. P.)—The firm tone which characterized trading during the first two days of this week's stock market operations continued at the opening today.

Steel shares advanced during the first half hour, with United States Steel up nearly a point at 103 1/2, Bethlehem up a point and Crucible showing a gain of 4 points.

The advance, it is understood, resulted from a report that the senate hearing on the proposed steel tariff bill would be postponed tomorrow may mean a compromise through government intervention.

Belgian King and Queen Elizabeth And Crown Prince To See Portland

Royal Party Scheduled to Visit City October 16 as Guests of Samuel Hill.

King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium, with the crown prince and staff members, will arrive in Portland at 9 o'clock on Thursday morning, October 16, according to information received this morning by local railroad officials, who will arrange a train schedule for the party.

From the information received, it is believed that Portland will be the first city on the Pacific coast to be visited by the Belgian king and queen. With more definite information regarding the length of stay here arrangements will be made for a big reception.

During the visit of the party the king and queen and crown prince will likely be the guests of Sam Hill, Portland capitalist and former head of the Home Telephone company. Hill is a personal friend of King Albert and visited him at numerous times while in Belgium.

Upon arrival in this city it is deemed likely that the party will be taken in charge by Hill. They will likely be taken to his summer home at Maryhill, Wash., which is near Goldendale.

Railroad officials have received assurance that the royal party will arrive October 16, but have been requested to hold confidential the routing for the present.

Preparations for the reception and entertainment of the king and queen have been started by Mayor Baker.

"Portland will see that the visitors are given a royal reception," said Mayor Baker, "and so far as more definite information is received concerning the visit, arrangements will be made so that the visitors are properly cared for."

Appointment of a committee to take charge of the reception and arrangements will be made this afternoon. C. Henri Labbe, consular agent for France and Belgium, will likely be named chairman.

Portland Harbor Pleases Japanese Representatives of Nippon Yusen Kaisha Steamship Co. Here on Tour of Inspection.

Expressing themselves as being delighted with the facilities of the local harbor for accommodating Trans-Pacific shipping, Tadashi Ashino and Usacuro Osawa, representatives of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha or Pacific Mail Steamship company, arrived in Portland from Astoria this afternoon for their second tour of inspection around the water front this week.

Arriving in Portland Sunday the Japanese representatives made a preliminary survey of local conditions and Monday conferred with officials of the Chamber of Commerce. Monday evening they took a trip down the river to Astoria, remaining there until today, when they returned to Portland for additional information.

A tour of the local harbor will be made with the steamship men this afternoon. They will inspect the harbor facilities and the water front. The representatives were Tadashi Ashino and Usacuro Osawa. Both were highly pleased with what they found here and prophesied the brightest possible future for this city. The visitors intimated that there is every reason to believe that Astoria would at least be a port of call for their steamships.

SUGAR FAMINE IN PORTLAND IS IMMINENT

San Francisco Stevedore Strike Prevents Unloading of Supply on Board Ships Now in Docks.

Portland is going sugarless. Meanwhile her sugar supply, still raw, is sweetening the hold of a ship in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

Other ships are expected to arrive in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

Other ships are expected to arrive in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

Other ships are expected to arrive in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

Other ships are expected to arrive in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

Other ships are expected to arrive in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

Other ships are expected to arrive in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

Other ships are expected to arrive in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

Other ships are expected to arrive in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

Other ships are expected to arrive in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

Other ships are expected to arrive in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

Other ships are expected to arrive in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

Other ships are expected to arrive in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

Other ships are expected to arrive in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

Other ships are expected to arrive in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

Other ships are expected to arrive in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

Other ships are expected to arrive in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

Other ships are expected to arrive in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

Other ships are expected to arrive in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

Other ships are expected to arrive in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

Other ships are expected to arrive in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

Other ships are expected to arrive in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

Other ships are expected to arrive in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

Other ships are expected to arrive in San Francisco bay. Stevedores on strike, refuse to unload the ship.

PROFESSIONAL MIND READERS ARRESTED

Persons Who Delve Into Occult for Pay, Taken on Charge of Violating City Ordinance.

A campaign against mind readers, card readers, teachers of the occult, their solicitors and others who guarantee to look into the future for pay, was inaugurated this morning by the women's protective bureau under specific orders from Chief of Police N. F. Johnson.

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Eva Pillsbury visited 14 "fortune tellers" and paid for readings. After making the rounds of all the places she could find, Mrs. Pillsbury called upon Municipal Judge Rossman and asked for warrants for the arrest of each on charges of obtaining money by deceit.

The warrants were issued and at noon today the following had been arrested: Mrs. L. C. Stevens, 375 Taylor street; Madam Blanch, 291 1/2 Morrison street; Mrs. M. A. Conison, 410 Raleigh building; Madam Frank, 291 1/2 Morrison street; Madam Lomar, 235 Fifth street; and Madam Bertha Quigley, 150 Eleventh street. The last named refused to give bail. Both were locked in jail.

Operatives in the women's bureau are severe in the criticism of the mind readers. They allege that these women are deriving a living during the war by agreeing to tell mothers, wives and sweethearts just how their beloved was getting along in far away France. "The ordinance under which these women were arrested today was long with broad and refused to give bail. Both were locked in jail."

Operatives in the women's bureau are severe in the criticism of the mind readers. They allege that these women are deriving a living during the war by agreeing to tell mothers, wives and sweethearts just how their beloved was getting along in far away France. "The ordinance under which these women were arrested today was long with broad and refused to give bail. Both were locked in jail."

Operatives in the women's bureau are severe in the criticism of the mind readers. They allege that these women are deriving a living during the war by agreeing to tell mothers, wives and sweethearts just how their beloved was getting along in far away France. "The ordinance under which these women were arrested today was long with broad and refused to give bail. Both were locked in jail."

Operatives in the women's bureau are severe in the criticism of the mind readers. They allege that these women are deriving a living during the war by agreeing to tell mothers, wives and sweethearts just how their beloved was getting along in far away France. "The ordinance under which these women were arrested today was long with broad and refused to give bail. Both were locked in jail."

Operatives in the women's bureau are severe in the criticism of the mind readers. They allege that these women are deriving a living during the war by agreeing to tell mothers, wives and sweethearts just how their beloved was getting along in far away France. "The ordinance under which these women were arrested today was long with broad and refused to give bail. Both were locked in jail."

Operatives in the women's bureau are severe in the criticism of the mind readers. They allege that these women are deriving a living during the war by agreeing to tell mothers, wives and sweethearts just how their beloved was getting along in far away France. "The ordinance under which these women were arrested today was long with broad and refused to give bail. Both were locked in jail."

Operatives in the women's bureau are severe in the criticism of the mind readers. They allege that these women are deriving a living during the war by agreeing to tell mothers, wives and sweethearts just how their beloved was getting along in far away France. "The ordinance under which these women were arrested today was long with broad and refused to give bail. Both were locked in jail."

Operatives in the women's bureau are severe in the criticism of the mind readers. They allege that these women are deriving a living during the war by agreeing to tell mothers, wives and sweethearts just how their beloved was getting along in far away France. "The ordinance under which these women were arrested today was long with broad and refused to give bail. Both were locked in jail."

Operatives in the women's bureau are severe in the criticism of the mind readers. They allege that these women are deriving a living during the war by agreeing to tell mothers, wives and sweethearts just how their beloved was getting along in far away France. "The ordinance under which these women were arrested today was long with broad and refused to give bail. Both were locked in jail."

Operatives in the women's bureau are severe in the criticism of the mind readers. They allege that these women are deriving a living during the war by agreeing to tell mothers, wives and sweethearts just how their beloved was getting along in far away France. "The ordinance under which these women were arrested today was long with broad and refused to give bail. Both were locked in jail."

Operatives in the women's bureau are severe in the criticism of the mind readers. They allege that these women are deriving a living during the war by agreeing to tell mothers, wives and sweethearts just how their beloved was getting along in far away France. "The ordinance under which these women were arrested today was long with broad and refused to give bail. Both were locked in jail."

Operatives in the women's bureau are severe in the criticism of the mind readers. They allege that these women are deriving a living during the war by agreeing to tell mothers, wives and sweethearts just how their beloved was getting along in far away France. "The ordinance under which these women were arrested today was long with broad and refused to give bail. Both were locked in jail."

Operatives in the women's bureau are severe in the criticism of the mind readers. They allege that these women are deriving a living during the war by agreeing to tell mothers, wives and sweethearts just how their beloved was getting along in far away France. "The ordinance under which these women were arrested today was long with broad and refused to give bail. Both were locked in jail."

Operatives in the women's bureau are severe in the criticism of the mind readers. They allege that these women are deriving a living during the war by agreeing to tell mothers, wives and sweethearts just how their beloved was getting along in far away France. "The ordinance under which these women were arrested today was long with broad and refused to give bail. Both were locked in jail."

Operatives in the women's bureau are severe in the criticism of the mind readers. They allege that these women are deriving a living during the war by agreeing to tell mothers, wives and sweethearts just how their beloved was getting along in far away France. "The ordinance under which these women were arrested today was long with broad and refused to give bail. Both were locked in jail."

Operatives in the women's bureau are severe in the criticism of the mind readers. They allege that these women are deriving a living during the war by agreeing to tell mothers, wives and sweethearts just how their beloved was getting along in far away France. "The ordinance under which these women were arrested today was long with broad and refused to give bail. Both were locked in jail."

Operatives in the women's bureau are severe in the criticism of the mind readers. They allege that these women are deriving a living during the war by agreeing to tell mothers, wives and sweethearts just how their beloved was getting along in far away France. "The ordinance under which these women were arrested today was long with broad and refused to give bail. Both were locked in jail."

Operatives in the women's bureau are severe in the criticism of the mind readers. They allege that these women are deriving a living during the war by agreeing to tell mothers, wives and sweethearts just how their beloved was getting along in far away France. "The ordinance under which these women were arrested today was long with broad and refused to give bail. Both were locked in jail."

Operatives in the women's bureau are severe in the criticism of the mind readers. They allege that these women are deriving a living during the war by agreeing to tell mothers, wives and sweethearts just how their beloved was getting along in far away France. "The ordinance under which these women were arrested today was long with broad and refused to give bail. Both were locked in jail."

Operatives in the women's bureau are severe in the criticism of the mind readers. They allege that these women are deriving a living during the war by agreeing to tell mothers, wives and sweethearts just how their beloved was getting along in far away France. "The ordinance under which these women were arrested today was long with broad and refused to give bail. Both were locked in jail."

Operatives in the women's bureau are severe in the criticism of the mind readers. They allege that these women are deriving a living during the war by agreeing to tell mothers, wives and sweethearts just how their beloved was getting along in far away France. "The ordinance under which these women were arrested today was long with broad and refused to give bail. Both were locked in jail."

AGED BY WOUNDS AND WOE SLAYER TAKEN TO ASYLUM

Before Departure, Geo. Chenoweth Tells How He Avenged His Daughter's Alleged Betrayal by George Sydnam

Marshfield, Sept. 24.—With drawn, haggard face and haunted eyes, George D. Chenoweth, state representative from Curry county and slayer of his daughter's alleged betrayer, George Sydnam of Langos, this morning was taken to the asylum at Salem, accompanied by a guard, but in every way allowed freedom, despite the verdict of insanity returned by the jury.

Less than a year ago Chenoweth passed through here, broken from wounds received in France after more than a year of suffering in various hospitals in Europe, but jubilant over the prospect of again being reunited with his family, whom he had not seen since his enlistment in the Canadian army two years before. He left them a happy little group, a wife and four children, all of whom he felt proud to call his own.

He returned to find his eldest daughter, a girl of 21 years, the disgraced mother of a year-old child. The daughter said 18-year-old George Sydnam was the infant's father.

For the first time Chenoweth today gave his side of the story of the tragedy which followed. His wife, said Chenoweth, upon learning of her daughter's betrayal, asked young Sydnam to marry the girl, agreeing to pay all expenses of the marriage if Sydnam would continue to support the daughter. All she wanted was to give a name to the expected child.

This the youth refused to do, saying he could not be forced into marriage, not being of age. To the mother he applied an epithet and reiterated his refusal to consider marriage. Later, the mother again made her request, again to be refused.

Upon his return home, said Chenoweth today, he did not see Sydnam, who immediately upon hearing of the girl's presence in the community of the girl's father, left for California. He remained there until Chenoweth went to the senior of the state legislature, and then returned to Langos. He told several persons, said Chenoweth, that should the father of the girl insist upon the marriage, he would blow his head off.

"I'm quicker on the trigger than he is and he had better not talk to me," is the remark credited to the youth.

Chenoweth said through the legislative session, and according to testimony of witnesses at the trial last week, seemed to be the victim of great mental disturbance and distress. He returned and shortly after, on the evening of March 29, went to a dance hall at Langos, where he knew young Sydnam would be. Without parley he walked up to the youth, drew a gun, and before any action could be taken to restrain him, shot the boy twice. He calmly walked from the dance hall and later remarked to a group of bystanders: "I hope I killed him."

Chenoweth this morning talked freely of the tragedy.

"I believe the order of the court, sending me to the asylum, was one of expediency," he said. "The judge feared an eruption of feeling should I be allowed to return to my family, and thought to send me to the asylum would allay any animosity existing and would hinder the outbreak of further trouble."

"I am not of insane mind and believe that my attorneys will soon prove this. I do not believe I will be kept at the institution six months."

Asked about the manifestation of enmity towards him on the part of many of the residents of the county, Chenoweth explained:

"For six months following the killing I was kept in jail, my family, as well as I, being instructed by my attorneys not to return to the county, and thought that family of George Sydnam spread propaganda and in some measure succeeded in embittering the community. We were a disadvantage for we were constrained to keep silence."

"He is not insane," say those who know Chenoweth well, and before leaving the city this morning his hands were cuffed by many, awaiting his return, him speedy return. The sentenced man smiled, and in his eyes shone the gratitude he could not express for the sympathy extended him by his neighbors.

He is a broken man, still suffering from the wounds from which surgeons say he will never recover. His family will remain at the ranch home in Curry county by many, awaiting his return, him speedy return. The sentenced man smiled, and in his eyes shone the gratitude he could not express for the sympathy extended him by his neighbors.

He is a broken man, still suffering from the wounds from which surgeons say he will never recover. His family will remain at the ranch home in Curry county by many, awaiting his return, him speedy return. The sentenced man smiled, and in his eyes shone the gratitude he could not express for the sympathy extended him by his neighbors.

He is a broken man, still suffering from the wounds from which surgeons say he will never recover. His family will remain at the ranch home in Curry county by many, awaiting his return, him speedy return. The sentenced man smiled, and in his eyes shone the gratitude he could not express for the sympathy extended him by his neighbors.

He is a broken man, still suffering from the wounds from which surgeons say he will never recover. His family will remain at the ranch home in Curry county by many, awaiting his return, him speedy return. The sentenced man smiled, and in his eyes shone the gratitude he could not express for the sympathy extended him by his neighbors.

He is a broken man, still suffering from the wounds from which surgeons say he will never recover. His family will remain at the ranch home in Curry county by many, awaiting his return, him speedy return. The sentenced man smiled, and in his eyes shone the gratitude he could not express for the sympathy extended him by his neighbors.

He is a broken man, still suffering from the wounds from which surgeons say he will never recover. His family will remain at the ranch home in Curry county by many, awaiting his return, him speedy return. The sentenced man smiled, and in his eyes shone the gratitude he could not express for the sympathy extended him by his neighbors.

He is a broken man, still suffering from the wounds from which surgeons say he will never recover. His family will remain at the ranch home in Curry county by many, awaiting his return, him speedy return. The sentenced man smiled, and in his eyes shone the gratitude he could not express for the sympathy extended him by his neighbors.

He is a broken man, still suffering from the wounds from which surgeons say he will never recover. His family will remain at the ranch home in Curry county by many, awaiting his return, him speedy return. The sentenced man smiled, and in his eyes shone the gratitude he could not express for the sympathy extended him by his neighbors.

He is a broken man, still suffering from the wounds from which surgeons say he will never recover. His family will remain at the ranch home in Curry county by many, awaiting his return, him speedy return. The sentenced man smiled, and in his eyes shone the gratitude he could not express for the sympathy extended him by his neighbors.

He is a broken man, still suffering from the wounds from which surgeons say he will never recover. His family will remain at the ranch home in Curry county by many, awaiting his return, him speedy return. The sentenced man smiled, and in his eyes shone the gratitude he could not express for the sympathy extended him by his neighbors.

PRESIDENT TO FIGHT TO FINISH

Wilson Feels Convinced That 80 Per Cent of American People Are Behind His Treaty Efforts.

En Route to Cheyenne, Wyo., Sept. 24.—The fight has just begun. Convinced that 80 per cent of the American people are for a League of Nations and would rather see the proposed league established than none at all, President Wilson means to carry to a finish his fight against reservations that would alter the meaning of the treaty. He told his audience at Ogden, Utah, that it didn't make any difference how long the fight would be he would fight till it was won.

He told his audience at Ogden, Utah, that it didn't make any difference how long the fight would be he would fight till it was won.

He told his audience at Ogden, Utah, that it didn't make any difference how long the fight would be he would fight till it was won.

He told his audience at Ogden, Utah, that it didn't make any difference how long the fight would be he would fight till it was won.

He told his audience at Ogden, Utah, that it didn't make any difference how long the fight would be he would fight till it was won.

He told his audience at Ogden, Utah, that it didn't make any difference how long the fight would be he would fight till it was won.

He told his audience at Ogden, Utah, that it didn't make any difference how long the fight would be he would fight till it was won.

He told his audience at Ogden, Utah, that it didn't make any difference how long the fight would be he would fight till it was won.

He told his audience at Ogden, Utah, that it didn't make any difference how long the fight would be he would fight till it was won.

He told his audience at Ogden, Utah, that it didn't make any difference how long the fight would be he would fight till it was won.

He told his audience at Ogden, Utah, that it didn't make any difference how long the fight would be he would fight till it was won.

He told his audience at Ogden, Utah, that it didn't make any difference how long the fight would be he would fight till it was won.

He told his audience at Ogden, Utah, that it didn't make any difference how long the fight would be he would fight till it was won.

He told his audience at Ogden, Utah, that it didn't make any difference how long the fight would be he would fight till it was won.

He told his audience at Ogden, Utah, that it didn't make any difference how long the fight would be he would fight till it was won.

He told his audience at Ogden, Utah, that it didn't make any difference how long the fight would be he would fight till it was won.

He told his audience at Ogden, Utah, that it didn't make any difference how long the fight would be he would fight till it was won.

He told his audience at Ogden, Utah, that it didn't make any difference how long the fight would be he would fight till it was won.

He told his audience at Ogden, Utah, that it didn't make any difference how long the fight would be he would fight till it was won.

He told his audience at Ogden, Utah, that it didn't make any difference how long the fight would be he would fight till it was won.

He told his audience at Ogden, Utah, that it didn't make any difference how long the fight would be he would fight till it was won.

He told his audience at Ogden, Utah,