Have you seen the state's annual exhibition of resources? Whether you have or not, you will enjoy The Journal's daily and Sunday stories and pictures about what is going on there.

Health Film Is Showing at Heilig

Mayor Baker Speaks at Initial Screening of "The End of the Road."

MAYOR BAKER spoke at the Heilig theatre last evening in connection with the first showing of the public health film, "The End of the Road," which will be at the theatre for the rest of the week, showing from 1 p. m. until 11 p. m. The film has the endorsement of the Oregon Hygiene society.

Young women and mothers in particular will enjoy the picture, in which Richard Bennett and Claire Adams are stars. As a story of the diverging paths of two young girls, it is entertaining, and as an educational factor it is invaluable to the campaign being waged to combat that plague that has been the curse of the world for centuries. For men, it has the same entertaining qualities and it will make them think of the consequences of loose living, not only to themselves, but to their unborn children, and to their wives.

"The End of the Road" is frank, but there is a sincerity about it that takes away the crudities of bold, outspoken words. In this respect the work of Mr. Bennett and Miss Adams stands out strongly.

Salem Is to Have Fine New Theatre

Salem, Sept. 25.—A modern theatre building, with a seating capacity of 1500 will supplant the old Salem hotel building on the corner of State and High streets, according to the announcement of T. G. Bligh, who this week purchased the property from L. S. Barnes for a consideration of $40,000. Bligh is already the owner of one theatre, the Grand, and two picture houses here, besides the Bligh hotel and a number of residence properties. The old Salem hotel corner, across from the Oregon Electric depot, is regarded as one of the most advantageously located business properties in the capital city.

Goldwyn Publicity Man Is in City

Frank C. Teck, well-known newspaper and publicity man of Seattle, now connected with the press and service department of the Goldwyn Distributing corporation, is in Portland visiting with F. A. Bernardo, manager of the local Goldwyn exchange. Mr. Teck, who has been in the publicity business in the Northwest for many years, will devote his energies hereafter to special newspaper features on Goldwyn productions, and will split his time among Northwestern cities.

THE Stroller notices

THAT sweet little girls who ride their bicycles to school should not race with the streetcars.

That one of them should be thankful today that she isn't in a hospital, minus a leg or an arm.

That a skinned knee or two isn't so bad.

That it might have been a different story had she tumbled under the car.

That today is no holiday for us.

That we are having a new roof put on our home.

That the old shingles will solve the kindling problem for us for the next few weeks.

That the "peanut gallery" is still the best place in the theatre in which to eat peanuts.

That the driver of the automobile carrying Oregon license 16625 is going to get himself into serious trouble or an early grave if he doesn't stop swinging around on the wrong side of streetcars.

That the same goes for the person who drives flivver 41994.

600,000 Feet Red Cedar Awarded to Delta Shingle Co.

Bid has been opened by the forest service on 600,000 feet of dead western red cedar on Morris creek in the Siuslaw national forest, the price being $1 per 1000 board feet. It will be awarded to the Delta Shingle company, which now operates on private timber in the same locality. Advertisements have also been sent out for 1,350,000 feet of western yellow pine and 60,000 feet of Douglas fir on Jeff Davis creek on the Whitman national forest. T. T. Muger has announced. The minimum prices named are $2.25 for yellow pine and $1 for other species. The timber will be used largely in the local market in Prairie City.

Oscar Figman Is Taking a Rest

Oscar Figman, comedian with the Alcazar Musical Comedy company, owing to indisposition, is out of the cast in "The Wizard of the Nile," and will rest for the week. Lee Daly is playing the role of "Kibosh," in which Figman appeared Monday night.

Fairbanks Is Going Strong at Majestic

Douglas Fairbanks is still "knocking 'em cold" at the Majestic in "His Majesty the American." This will be Doug's last week in Portland for the time being, and Manager Lacey is well pleased and satisfied with the reception that has been accorded the star. "His Majesty the American" is the first of the "Big Four" attractions to visit Portland. Others will be coming along soon, and the Majestic will handle all of them.

There are two strengths in tea: tea strength and tannin strength.

Tea strength is entirely agreeable and is good for you. Tannin strength is puckery and is bad for the insides. Fine tea is mostly tea strength — almost no tannin unless you steep it too long. Common tea is mostly tannin strength — not enough real tea strength to satisfy you, and that little is smothered by tannin. Which will you have — tannin strength or tea strength, common tea or Schilling Tea, the practical economical fine tea of this country? There are four flavors of Schilling Tea — Japan, Ceylon-India, Oolong, English Breakfast. All one quality, parchment-lined moisture-proof packages. At grocers everywhere. Press Club Will Be Guests of the Strand Tonight

Members of the Portland Press club will be guests of the management of the Strand tonight at a performance at 11:30 o'clock, when managers of other local theatres will also be guests. The event will serve to introduce the press boys to the Strand under its new policy as an all-feature film theatre, and will also make them acquainted with Philip Felix, leader of the concert orchestra at the Strand, who will introduce some special numbers for the occasion. The film feature this week is "The Brat," starring Nazimova. "Cheekers" is the bill scheduled for Saturday.

Fraternal Notes

Royal circle, Neighbors of Woodcraft, and Portland camp, Woodmen of the World, united Wednesday night to give a social program, supper and dance at W. O. W. temple. The affair was very successful and largely attended. The committee in charge for Royal circle was Jessie Joy, Gracia Sundleaf, Alice Tait, Marion E. Fedder, Margaret Wertelmer and Florence Gilmore. For Portland camp C. F. J. Kurtz, S. T. Chapin and W. B. Schade officiated. The two organizations have a treaty of peace whereby such festivities will be held once a month through the season.

A number of members of the A. O. U. W. of Portland were guests at Hood River last Saturday night and were most hospitably received. Grand Master D. C. Herrin was among the visiting brothers and made a short and snappy talk. Hood River has a contest for membership on with any lodge but industry of Portland invited. Industry has challenged all the rest of the state to lump together and beat her.

Portland lodge of the Fraternal Brotherhood Wednesday night had a business meeting, class initiation and supper at Neighbors of Woodcraft hall. The lodge is composed of men and women and has some social feature every Wednesday night. Active efforts are being made to double the membership since January 1 before the first of 1920.

Saturday afternoon and evening Sunnyside lodge, A. F. and A. M., will confer the degree of entered apprentice upon a class of five or more, at East Thirty-fourth and East Yamhill streets. The lodge is holding three meetings a week and is 25 degrees behind with its work. Efforts are being made to do as much as possible in double sessions and in classes.

Fox Man Flies In Sanford E. Greenwald, feature publicity man for Fox corporation, came up from Eugene yesterday in a forest patrol airplane, en route from San Francisco to Seattle. Greenwald announces that the Fox people plan to issue a weekly "news" picture featuring Pacific coast events.

Chatterbox Acts as Policeman QUILLY Porcupine was a very quiet person, but he liked a good joke—if it wasn't on himself. So he laughed when he saw that those rascals hadn't eaten a bite of the hemlock bark he had gathered for the party for the porcupines. Chatterbox was cross and angry, but Quilly made him promise to keep the loss of all that good food a secret. The next day Quilly started off early for more provisions and he left Chatterbox on guard to see that no one else found a way into the cellar. Chatterbox looked everywhere and at last he found the new door into the hall of the Porcupine house and then he knew how the rascals had gotten in and what had happened. Before the day was over all those little rascals came sneaking back again, to try and get in and see if there could be a crumb left. Chatterbox ran back and forth in the tree tops and talked and grumbled and seemed very excited about something, but nobody could tell what he was talking about. Jimmie Coon felt worried and wondered if Chatterbox knew anything about the door into the hall that he had made. but he wanted to get a little more lettuce so that he would be sure and have enough for old Mrs. Rabbit, and he thought he would try and have one more fish—for he said he was so fond of you, Jimmie Coon, and it would be dreadful not to have enough! Jimmie Coon swallowed hard when he heard what Quilly had said and he felt ashamed of himself for taking those little animals into the cellar and eating all the nice things on the pantry shelves when Quilly had worked so hard. "Come on, Teddy Possum, I'm sorry. Let's go and get something nice for Quilly and make up for all those things we have taken. I'm glad he doesn't know what we have done." Tomorrow—Jimmie Coon Does the Right Thing.

Polytechnic School Is Showing 'Em How To Cook Vegetables

"The average cook fails when it comes to cooking vegetables," says Miss Anna Arnold, principal of the Girls' Polytechnic school, "and it is because of this that we are offering our course in vegetable cookery while fresh vegetables are in season. These lessons cover a variety of work and are being given to show what to plan for a meal. This is the only time during the year a course in vegetables will be given, because they will later be out of season. The class will meet on Wednesdays and Fridays from 2 to 3:30 p. m."

Combination Lock Invented by Brown

Invention of a keyless combination lock for doors has been made by Roy E. Brown, 422 1/2 Washington street, and is successfully being worked on several doors in the city. This lock has a disk of 12 numbers and is operated similar to a safe combination. A dispatch from Moscow reports the discovery of an anti-Bolshevist plot with ramifications throughout Russia, which has led to the capture and execution of 68 men on charges of conspiracy.

No matter how wise you may be, it's a fairly sure shot that there are many interesting facts of everyday life about which you've never studied. "The Reason Why," a daily journal feature, is interesting and instructive.

TODAY'S BEAUTY TALK

You can enjoy a delightful shampoo with very little effort and for a very trifling cost, if you get from your druggist a package of canthrox and dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid—enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. Your shampoo is now ready. Just pour a little at a time on the scalp and hair until both are entirely covered by the daintily perfumed preparation that thoroughly dissolves and removes every bit of dandruff, excess oil and dirt. After rinsing, the hair dries quickly with a fluffiness that makes it seem heavier than it is, and takes on a rich luster and a softness that makes arranging it a pleasure.—Adv.

HORRORS of BAD BLOOD

"All maladies of racking torture, quins, joint racking rheums, fierce catarrhs, intestine stone and ulcer cholera pangs, marasmus, dropsies, aethanas, pining atrophy, moping melancholia, moonstruck madness, what miseries!" —Milton. This is the state of man or woman suffering from poisoned blood. Read what the U. S. Dispensary and other authoritative books say in regard to the ingredients entering into "Number 40 for the Blood": "Employed in diseases of the glandular system, in blood poison, mercurial and lead poisoning, in rheumatism, catarrh, constipation, diseased liver, kidneys and spleen. Under its use nodes, tumors, sores, ulcers, mucous patches, copper colored spots and scrofulous enlargements disappear as if by magic." Insist on "Number 40," made by J. C. Mendenhall, Evansville, Indiana, 40 years a druggist. Sold by Laue-Davis Drug Co., Third and Yamhill streets.—Adv.
