

SOX HAVE BIG EDGE WITH PAD

Ray Schalk Stands Head and Shoulders Above Reds' Pair of Catchers.

By Henry L. Farrell
NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(U. P.)—What the old adage says about the hand that rocks the cradle, baseball sages say of the hands that receive the pitcher's slants.

It is admitted that in handling the pitching, combating the base work of the opposition and directing the field play of the team, the catcher has one of the most important posts of the defense.

In this department the White Sox are stronger than the Reds. Ray Schalk is one of the greatest catchers of the game. He is a hard worker, a fine general and judge of plays and his work in steadying pitchers and fielders makes him a more dependable player than any of the Red receivers.

IS GOOD STICKER

Schalk caught the entire world's series of 1917, batted .262, fielded .949 and held the Giants to four stolen bases in the six games. He has worked in 127 games this season and has batted .274, the best mark he has made in the last three years.

Ivy Wingo and Bill Hariden have alternated through the season for Moran. Wingo is but one point behind Schalk in batting, but he is the inferior by a wider margin in base running and general work. On account of previous experience in the big series, Hariden may get the call for Moran. He caught five games of the 1917 series after McCarty had been hurt. He batted .385, flied 1,900 and held the White Sox to six stolen bases. But his generalship was below par. New York fans to this day have not forgiven him for leaving the plate unguarded in the sixth game when Heinie Zimmerman pulled his historic feat of chasing Eddie Collins across the park. His stick work this season has been around .212.

LYNN ON BENCH

Schalk has worked so much this season that Byrd Lynn, the second string catcher, hasn't had much of a chance to show himself. He has worked in only 24 games this year and has a batting average of .220.

Nick Allen, the second string man of the Moran fold, has warmed the bench all season. He has a very slight chance of getting into the series.

Schalk can be depended upon to handle any situation that arises in the series. He is a dangerous man with the bat and a puzzle on the bases. All of which gives him weight enough to outbalance either of Moran's selections.

Washington U. Lands Spokane High Star

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 26.—Edwin ("Cop") Daniels, star North Central athlete and city league catcher, will leave Spokane on Wednesday morning for Seattle, where he will enter the University of Washington to study law.

Until a few days ago Daniels expected to enter the University of Idaho at Moscow, but following the acceptance of his credits at the University of Washington "Cop" switched his plans.

At North Central Daniels was full-back on the football team and catcher for the baseball team.

BOWLING

THE opening match of the season on the Portland Bowling Alleys was rolled Tuesday night between the Rialto Billiard Parlors quintet and "Bugs" Raymond's Hadley & Silver aggregation.

RACING

SALEM, Sept. 26.—Valentine Jr., owned by Secretary A. H. Lea of the Oregon state fair, won first honors in all three heats of the 2:15 pace for Oregon horses at Lone Oak park Thursday afternoon. The performance of the little pacer won the hearty plaudits of the 20,000 people who packed the grandstand and lined the course for the entire round.

Dolly D duplicated her performance of Wednesday by capturing all three heats in the 2:19 pace, although Lou Hal, coming from behind the field after a bad start in the first heat, made a desperate try for the lead position, and took a close second place.

PROTEST ABOUT EXPENSES HOLDS UP BALL SERIES

San Francisco, Sept. 26.—(U. P.)—If President Hickey of the American association upholds Business Manager Jim Morley of Los Angeles in his protest against the scheduled three-game series between the St. Paul club and the Seals unless the management of the Seals contributes to the expenses of the western trip, there will be no series here, Secretary Putnam of the Seals announced Thursday.

Putnam said the St. Paul club had several other games scheduled in California, and that he didn't think the Seals were obligated to defray part of the expenses. "The Seals management arranged the series to give our players an opportunity to make some extra money," Putnam stated.

Nobby Cords' Guaranteed Without Mileage Limit

Mileage you get as a matter of course when you buy 'Nobby Cord' pneumatic truck tires. It is part of your purchase. Their performance is guaranteed.

That is why there is no mileage limit in the 'Nobby Cord' guarantee.

Like all United States Tires—passenger car or truck—'Nobby Cords' are guaranteed to be free from imperfections in materials and workmanship, with no limitation of mileage.

But it is not mileage alone that counts. Nor is it the important savings in gas, oil, depreciation and repairs effected by these pioneer heavy-duty pneumatics.

The continuous and uninterrupted use of your truck—greater speed on the road—more work—increased business, which 'Nobby Cords' make possible, show up big on the balance sheet.

Any United States Tire Dealer will demonstrate how the use of 'Nobby Cords' will get this result in your truck service.
