

HONORED VETERAN IS IN COMMAND OF MARINE RECRUITING

Captain Le Roy Hunt Won Medals of Distinction for Conduct in Campaign Last Year.

HIT BY GERMAN SHELL

Soldier Took Part in Belleau Wood, Near Chateau-Thierry, Overseas.

Wearing campaign ribbons denoting participation in five battles, possession of a French croix de guerre with palm and star, American distinguished service cross and a general headquarters citation for bravery, Captain Le Roy Philip Hunt assumed command last week of the marine corps recruiting station.

Hunt returned from overseas with the Fifth regiment, marine corps where he commanded the Seventeenth company during the war, after the armistice gaining a commission as major and assuming command of the first battalion of the regiment.

The new recruiter arrived overseas in July, 1917, in the following months commanding the Seventeenth company at Belleau Wood, near Chateau Thierry, Soissons, St. Mihiel, Champagne, Meuse-Argonne. After the armistice he went with his regiment to Germany, joining the army of occupation. He was there seven months.

NARROWLY ESCAPED

Hunt received one wound during the trying campaign of the celebrated Fifth. Many another time, he says, he narrowly escaped the fate of scores of other men in his regiment.

A German whiz-bang came over on the first day of the allied counter-offensive near Soissons, July 18, 1918, and pieces of the shell lodged in his left shoulder and chest. Hunt went down for the count. It is for this he wears a gold wound stripe on his right arm.

Some of the hottest fighting he saw, Hunt believes, came when the Second division, of which the Fifth regiment of marines was a part, was detached from the American army and operated with the French at Champagne. The object of the attack was to relieve the pressure on historic Rheims. The French in staging an offensive at Champagne in 1918 lost 60,000 men, but the combined French and American attack, in which Hunt participated, was successful.

ONLY FEW RETURN

"I started that night with nine officers besides myself and 185 men," the local man says. "Only one officer besides myself and 35 men returned." His clothes were torn, he had a bullet hole in his helmet and a piece of shrapnel burst and struck him behind.

Because Hunt's company took a German machine gun stronghold at Champagne, October 3, 1918, he won his croix de guerre. For leading an attack and taking a ridge near St. Etienne on October 4, 1918, America gave him his distinguished service cross.

CROSSED UNDER FIRE

The general headquarters citation for bravery was awarded for heroism in crossing the Meuse river under heavy fire November 10, 1918. Hunt declares the Fifth regiment of marines, the Eighty-ninth division, and another division he does not know, tried to cross the river in the face of heavy fire. Only the first and second battalions of the marines succeeded in getting over. Five hundred casualties were suffered by the Americans in the one movement.

Captain Ralph Wilcox, a Portland man, was with Hunt in some of the fighting during the Meuse-Argonne campaign. He acted as adjutant of a marine battalion.

The new director of marine corps recruiting in the Portland district succeeds Lieutenant Potter, who will retire from the marine corps after 21 years of service. Hunt lives in Berkeley where he attended the University of California. He has been in the marine corps three years.

Portland Proposal Is to Be Taken Up

Astoria, Oct. 4.—Clatsop post No. 12, American Legion, is expected to approve the plan proposed by the Portland post, to organize a civilian reserve to assist in combating Bolshevism and I. W. W. and to maintain order in case of emergency, according to President Himmag of the local post. He said that a resolution similar to the one proposed by the Portland post would be introduced at the meeting here Monday.

Armenians to Be Aided
Astoria, Oct. 4.—The Astoria Kiwanis club will do all in its power to help the Armenians. At a luncheon Friday Dr. Taylor of Portland spoke and the club voted unanimously to institute a drive for clothes for the sufferers.

Don't Neglect Your Breakfast

The Fear of Indigestion Often Prompts One to Start the Day Wrong. Eat What You Like, Take a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet and You're Safe.

Breakfast offers many of the most savory dishes of all the things we eat. And yet more people than otherwise go without breakfast save a roll and cup of coffee for fear of indigestion. If you like a fried egg or some buck-wheat or sausage for breakfast go to it and follow with a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet. You'll have no trouble. The average person who neglects breakfast will be hungry before noon. Most men smoke to kill the appetite, or munch on something to carry on till lunch time. An empty stomach under these conditions is not storing up energy, but on the contrary, is susceptible to many influences that may work hardship for the next meal. It is advisable to eat three good meals a day and digest them. If the stomach seems to be weak, to help it or give it assistance is the rational thing to do. Try a good breakfast and follow it with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and you'll soon learn that regularity of meals follows a natural tendency, not an acquired one. You will find Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets on sale in almost all drug stores throughout the United States and Canada.—Adv.

STEEL PLANTS MUST BE HUMANIZED, IS WARNING OF CRITIC

Working Men to Maintain New Standards of Living, Safety Council Is Advised.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 4.—(I. N. S.)—"The steel industry must be humanized to save itself from industrial revolution." This was the warning sounded today by Phillip Strammell, superintendent of the National Enameling & Stamping

Co., Granite City, Ill., to the metal section of the eighth annual congress of the National Safety Council. "Capital will simply invite destruction if it attempts to maintain the old order," he continued. "The old days are gone and it is no longer a question of returning to pre-war conditions, but a question of working out the demands, the ideals of labor in an orderly process. It is either evolution or revolution. FOUR ESSENTIALS NECESSARY Four steps are necessary to solve the crucial situation confronting the steel industry, Mr. Strammell declared. 1—Confidence must be restored between employes and employers. 2—All concerned must learn the lesson of cooperation. 3—The steel industry must be humanized. 4—Realization of the part the United States must play in world reconstruction. Perfect Tone Control Is An Exclusive Cheney Feature

With a simple tone adjustment method it is possible to get any gradation of tones on the Cheney that you prefer. You can modulate to the soft whispers of a lullaby, or if occasion demands you can augment the volume enough to fill a large dance hall.

The CHENEY
Cheney Tones are controlled properly at the source. There is no muffling, even of the softest tones. And the artist gives his own interpretation to the piece. Every tone is sweet, pure, marvelously rich. For the Cheney embodies the fundamental principles of the violin and pipe organ. It reaches new heights in beauty and fidelity of its reproductions.
