

Amateur Boxing Will Be Resumed on Pre-War Basis By Multnomah Club This Winter

MULTNOMAH CLUB PLANS TO REVIVE INTERCLUB MEETS

Frank Harmar Endeavoring to Schedule Boxing and Wrestling Meets With Coast and Northwest Clubs—Meeting With Spokane Practically Agreed Upon for Next Month.

RESUMPTION of mitt and mat contests with Pacific Northwest and Pacific coast athletic clubs is contemplated by Frank E. Harmar, chairman of the boxing and wrestling committee of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club.

Harmar is negotiating with the Los Angeles Amateur Athletic and Olympic club of San Francisco for meets in Portland, with the privilege of arranging return matches in the California cities. Arrangements for the staging of dual meets with the Spokane Amateur Athletic club are being completed. The first events will be held in Spokane next month.

Amateur boxing in the Northwest has been a dead issue since the declaration of war against the Germans, but indications are that the sport will come back to its prewar standing.

The club has several promising boxers, according to Eddie O'Connell, and as soon as meets are scheduled definitely it is likely that others will start to train with the gloves.

The wrestling prospects at the club are very bright. Instructor O'Connell has Virgil Hamlin, George Clark and Carl Freilinger for a starter, with about 20 other promising grapplers.

The fact that a part of the Pacific Northwest association ring championships will be staged here will create additional interest among the club mitt wielders.

Champion Thye Gets Offer to Meet Texas Wrestling Wonder

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 8.—An offer has been received by Ted Thye, Spokane wrestler, holder of the world's middleweight championship, to travel to Texas for a bout against Pete Brown, the phenom of the Lone Star state, who is being considered seriously as a contender for the honors now held by Thye.

The Spokane grappler has also been offered several engagements in the east against the pick of men in his class. Joe Coffey of Chicago, manager of Charles Renthrop, is also anxious to secure a match with Thye.

Thye wants to appear in a bout in Spokane before he leaves for the coast to take on Mike Yokel in Portland, and if the necessary arrangements can be made, Spokane fans will have an opportunity to see the champion in action as negotiations are under way to secure a suitable opponent.

Ed Hughes Captures Spokane Golf Title

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 8.—Ed Hughes won the Inland Empire championship golf tournament at the Country club with a total of 350 for the two days' play. Jimmy Wall was second and Dr. J. E. Drake, third. In annexing the title Hughes gains possession of the Sweeney trophy for one year. Sixty entries started, including 25 from out of town.

BASES FULL—EDDIE CICOTTE FAILS AT BAT

Remarkable photograph of the second inning of the fourth game of the world's series showing Morris Rath, former Salt Lake player, tossing Eddie Cicotte, the Sox pitcher, out at first base for the third out of the frame. The bases were loaded when Cicotte came up, Jackson being on third, Felsch on second and Schalk on first. Jackson and Felsch are shown on the third base line and Schalk between second and third. Pitcher Rath, who hurled for the Reds, is shown running over toward first base.

Washington Hated To Lose Services of Jimmy Arbuthnot

Edwin Brown, physical director of the Scranton, Pa., high schools, has accepted the position at the University of Washington left vacant by the resigning of James Arbuthnot. Arbuthnot, who several years ago was wrestling instructor at Oregon Agricultural college, resigned at the Corvallis institution to take up the physical director work at the University of Washington and within the last two weeks, Arbuthnot accepted terms whereby he returned to the Oregon Aggies to perform similar work.

In speaking of the departure of Arbuthnot, the University of Washington Daily, under recent issue, says: "Jimmy Arbuthnot leaves us to take up the same work at O. A. C. that he carried on so successfully here. While here 'Jimmy,' as he was everywhere known, had charge of intramural athletics, was coach of one of the most successful wrestling teams Washington ever turned out, engineered the most successful boxing tournament ever pulled off at Washington, besides carrying the position of gym instructor."

Arbuthnot leaves a considerable void in the university. Essentially a man of few words and much action he accomplished much for which he will never receive credit. The successful initiation of the extensive policy of intramural sports, which is so nearly approaching the ideal of every man in some sport, was due largely to his direction and leadership.

But today he ranks as the fightingest lad who has been under fire in these big games. Although seemingly hopelessly beaten by a lead of four runs, he was hit harder than he was that other day and there were many times when the outlook didn't seem to give him the glimmer of a show.

And this littlest world series player of them all fought on. Again and again he was in the hole, but he only pitched the harder.

They accused him of pulling a boner when he ran to second and found that base occupied, but the little midge stoutly refused to let it get his goat.

But that wasn't the supreme test of his gameness. It came when he stopped a ferocious liner from Larry Kop's bat that nearly broke his hand in the eighth round. They had to delay the game a few minutes while he nursed his tingling digits.

The smash was so terrific that even the partisan Cincinnati fans who were pulling for dear life for their Reds to cop the world series in this game, shouted their plaudits of the little fellow as he gamely returned to his post.

He won his game, 5 to 4, in 10 innings and the White Sox are still in the world series because little Dickie Kerr was game. He is the first pitcher on either side to cop two victories.

PELSINGER IS CONFIDENT OF WINNING BOUT

Boxers Ready to Climb Through The Ropes at Heilig Theatre In Second Smoker.

Harry Pelsinger and Jimmy Dundee, the California boxers, are ready to climb through the ropes in the head liner of tonight's boxing show at the Heilig theatre.

"Moose" Tausig, Pelsinger's handler, is confident that his boy will take Dundee's number. "These two boys have fought often enough to know each other's style and there should be no stalling around," said Tausig today. "Harry was never in better shape for a bout than he is at the present time. He is boxing better and the fans will get a real treat." Dundee is as confident as Pelsinger over the outcome.

Danny O'Brien says he is out to surprise the "wise ones" tonight when he stacks up against Stanley Willis in the 10 round semi-windup. Danny has been training hard for the go and promises to give Willis the battle of his career. Willis knows that O'Brien is clever, but he figures on his strength and hitting ability to gain him the decision.

There are three preliminary bouts scheduled on the card, the first event starting at 8:30 o'clock.

Boxer Killed in a Bout
NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—(U. P.)—Meyer J. Ellis, 20, a preliminary boxer, died in a hospital early today following a match with Ray Doyle in Jersey City last night. He was rendered unconscious when his head struck the floor after a blow. Doyle was held on a charge of manslaughter.

Jackson Nelson Dead
Pendleton, Oct. 8.—Jackson Nelson, pioneer wheat farmer, died at Athena Monday night. Although 83 years old he was recently sued for divorce, but the case had not been called for trial.

SERIES TO END TODAY SAYS JAWN

Former Cub Star Predicts Crowning of Reds—"Buck" Weaver Comes Through.

By Johnny Evers
(Written for the United Press)
CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 8.—(U. P.)—The series should end with the seventh game this afternoon and the Reds will be the next champions of the world.

Slim Salles most likely will be the selection of Moran and he will be opposed by Eddie Cicotte. Salles won his first game against the White Sox and I believe he can win again by pitching the same kind of a game. On the other hand, Cicotte has nothing new to show the Reds. They have beaten him twice and I look for him to go down again a loser.

Tuesday's game was the first in which the pitching has been poor. All three of the pitchers who worked were hit hard throughout the game and were in danger constantly.

Kerr got through his second victory by the skin of his teeth. I looked for him to have trouble as the Reds had no line on his wares in his first start, but being a smart off club they learned most of his strong points.

REUTHER OFF FORM
Walter Reuther, on the other hand, was way off form. The long rest between games did him no good. He had one bad inning and the attack of the Sox made enough of him when he was slipping to win the game.

Chicago had all the breaks. The Red defense went up in the air several times. Reiber was given a life twice on third base in the fifth inning when Groh failed to put the ball on him after he had over-run the base. He scored the first run that the Sox had made in 26 innings.

Weaver pulled the big break with a double in the tenth inning. I have said all along that he would distinguish himself in this series and he did yesterday by his gameness. He got two doubles and ran out his hits to the limit, scoring each time.

ROUSCH STARS IN FIELD
Reuther was in trouble from the very start. He didn't look good and Moran used good judgment in removing him when he did. After he got started, Jimmy Ring pitched fine ball. It's a shame that he has to be charged with a defeat in a game that was lost before he took hold of it.

Eddie Rousch again sparkled on the defense. He pulled the only feature in the game when he made a dazzling catch of Reiber's liner in the eighth inning, and doubled Jackson at second.

Anglers Meeting Friday Night
Members of the Multnomah Anglers club have been notified to gather in the Oregon building Friday night to transact some important business. A report by Walter F. Backus, who represented the Pacific Northwest at the annual national fly and bait casters' tournament in Chicago, will be made. Backus established a new record while in the East. The meeting will be called to order at 8 o'clock.

THE Jefferson-Franklin game was a freaky one. The first Franklin touchdown was a pure gift from Youmans. Harry Thomas punted from his own 30-yard line and the ball went far beyond Youmans and rolled across the line. It would have been a touchback had not the doughty Jeffersonian tried to tackle it. He miscalculated it and a Quaker fell upon it for a touchdown.

The first Jefferson touchdown was another hair-raiser. Coulter kicked off to Poulson, who misjudged the ball, and it boyleed toward the goal. Poulson tried to pick it up but fumbled and kept fumbling it on repeated attempts till he had chased the ball 30 yards to his own goal line where a Jefferson man fell upon it for a touchdown.

King of Franklin drop-kicked a goal from the 30-yard line. It has been years since such a thing has been done. Place kicks are tried occasionally but there has not been drop kicks since Heck was a pup.

Poulson at fullback and Harry Thomas at half plunged through the Jefferson line for repeated gains during the first half. The 10-minute sermon between halves put pep into Jefferson line and very little yardage was gained in the last half.

The Lincoln and James John teams also were present getting wise to the style of play used by both teams. James John and Jefferson meet next Tuesday.

Herman Schroeder, all-star fullback of last year, arrived in town after a four months' cruise on a merchant marine vessel visiting England and France, while away taking a squint at the Atlantic cities. He is again at James John and will add a lot of strength to the Saints.

Ted Steffens, the Lincoln fullback, hits the line like a flash, but his weight does not permit him to make very large "gents" in it. His favorite stunt is to get back about seven yards and run full speed into the line, receiving the ball about three feet from the line.

Dick Girt, the James John half, has pulled off a 40-yard run in each game during the first quarter. He is a hard man to stop short of yardage when he once gets up speed.
Cochran, the Saints' left tackle, is playing a wonderful defensive game. He is through the line repeatedly, breaking up passes and fakes.
