

SKULL FRACTURED WHEN CARS CRASH; DRIVER ARRESTED

Carl Wahlstrom Lies Dying at St. Vincents Hospital Because L. L. Condray Liked to Speed.

OTHER FRIDAY ACCIDENTS

Shovor Sullivan Rides Bicycle Into E. A. Woolsey's Motor Car; C. Hellman Also Hurt.

With probably a fractured skull, cuts about the face, throat and hands, and it is feared, internal injuries, Carl Wahlstrom, 18 1/2, 1367 East Lincoln street, an employe of the Corvallis creamery, was taken to St. Vincents hospital by the Ambulance Service company as a result of a collision between a machine driven by his cousin, T. L. Parker, 2169 Fifty-third street southeast, of the Hazelwood creamery, and another car driven by L. L. Condray, 23, East Grant and Ninth streets. The crash occurred at East Thirty-fourth and Lincoln streets, about 5:30 Friday afternoon.

RECKLESS DRIVING CHARGED

Condray was arrested by Motorcycle Officers Scott and Norene, and is held on charge of reckless driving.

Condray's machine was going north on Thirty-fourth street, when it crashed into the other machine, going east on Lincoln. The latter had almost passed the intersection, according to reports of witnesses.

CYCLIST HURT

Shovor Sullivan, 18, of 964 East Thirty-fourth street north, was thrown from his bicycle Friday afternoon when he collided with a machine driven by E. A. Woolsey, 777 Hoyt street, at the intersection of Broadway and Everett street. Sullivan was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital, where, it is reported, he is suffering from a fractured leg. Woolsey stated in his report to the traffic department that he turned his machine aside in an effort to avoid striking the boy, who started to stop, but changed his mind and tried to cross the intersection ahead of the automobile. In a collision between a motorcycle driven by Charley Hellman, 449 Holladay street, and an automobile driven by J. M. Boren, 1100 Woodward avenue, at Union avenue and East Broadway Friday afternoon, Hellman was thrown to the ground. He was bruised and cut.

FORMER RABBI DENIES KNOWLEDGE OF BOOTLEG WHISKEY FOUND IN HOME

J. Glickman Says He Never Heard of Moonshine Until He Was Pinched and Fined; Appeals.

Holding that the temporary war time prohibition measure enacted by congress for the period of the emergency, does not supersede either individual, state or municipal prohibition laws. Judge Rosman of the municipal court Friday overruled a demurrer filed on the grounds that the constitution of the United States expressly stipulates that federal laws and courts take precedence over all other courts and calling the case for trial in the city court, fined Rabbi J. Glickman, secondhand furniture pedler, $75 for violating the prohibition law.

The motion of the demurrer was made by Morris Gristman, attorney for Glickman, who contended that since federal legislation on prohibition the municipal court had no jurisdiction over such cases. Notice of appeal was filed and bond returned.

Glickman, who claimed he had never heard of a bootlegger until the officer accused him of being one, was arrested last Sunday by Officer Grissam, acting for the department of justice, at his home, 554 East Nineteenth street, and a half a dozen citrate of magnesia bottles and two vinegar bottles, all filled with alleged whiskey, were found. Glickman said he didn't know anything about these bottles in particular, or any whiskey in general. When the court requested him to smelt the liquid and pass it through a filter, he disclaimed any ability to distinguish whiskey from any other liquid by merely smelling it.

"You say you are a furniture dealer?" inquired Richard Delich, deputy district attorney. "Well, maybe this is furniture polish."

"No, I don't polish. I sell."

Glickman said it wasn't his business to know whether there was any whiskey in his house or not, his business was selling and buying furniture, and that was all he had time to attend to.

Elks in Charge of Thrift Stamp Sale Campaign at Baker

I. W. W. Members Held At Baker Kiss Flag And Leave the City

Baker, Oct. 11.—After they had been made by 10 ex-service men to kiss the American flag, the eight I. W. W. members who were held in the county jail pending action by the authorities, left the city quietly Thursday night upon being requested to do so by the police, and it is hoped no more threatened disturbances will cloud Baker's industrial skies.

PORTLAND WOMAN ACCORDED HONOR

Mrs. Matthew S. Hughes Re-elected President Methodist Woman's F. M. Society.

Mrs. Matthew Simpson Hughes of Portland was re-elected president of the Columbia river branch of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society Saturday morning in the third day of the twenty-seventh annual conference, being held at the First Methodist church.

Other branch officers elected this morning as appointed by the nominating committee were: Mrs. Uri Speley, Portland, vice president; Mrs. J. T. Abbott, Portland, corresponding secretary; Miss Nettie M. Whitney, Tacoma, associate secretary; and Mrs. Alexander R. Maclean, Portland, recording secretary. Mrs. C. W. Miller of Portland tendered her resignation with regret after she had been placed on the ballot by the nominating committee.

Delegates chosen to attend the fiftieth annual or jubilee national convention of the Methodist Women's Foreign Missionary society, which will be held in Boston this winter were: Mrs. Charles Boyard, Helena, Mont., and Mrs. John W. West, Seattle, Wash., C. Cook of Boise and Mrs. A. A. Lee of Salem were elected alternates to the national meeting.

COMMITTEES ARE NAMED

Committee heads elected for the ensuing year and chairman of special work are: Mrs. John W. West, Seattle, children's work; Mrs. G. E. James, Spokane, young people; Mrs. George Israelson, Portland, literature; Mrs. W. M. Erskine, Portland, agent; Mrs. M. E. Merrill, Seattle, requests and auxiliaries; Mrs. O. Tidball, Seattle, mite box; Mrs. F. A. Guller, Stanwood, Wash., liturgy; Miss Mary E. Foster, Helena, editor of the quarterly; Mrs. G. E. Parkinson, Corvallis, special work; Mrs. J. H. Park and Mrs. L. C. Dickey, committee on depot and supplies; John W. Renolds, Portland, attorney, and George W. Tibbets, Tacoma, auditor.

WORKERS WERE HONORED

Those attending at the session this morning were touched when Mrs. Albert N. Fisher of Portland, recording secretary for the past 27 years, was chosen corresponding secretary emeritus.

A garland of flowers was placed over her shoulders as she was tendered the new office. Few eyes were dry when Mrs. Fisher returned to her seat after the new honor had been conferred upon her.

Mrs. Fisher resigned Friday from her former position. She held the distinction of being one of the 11 secretaries to apportion the millions of dollars spent each year by the National Methodist Foreign Missionary society. Mrs. Fisher was presented with a bouquet of 27 purple carnations, one for each year of service, by Mrs. M. C. Wire, also of Portland.

CONFERENCE WELL ATTENDED

In all, 320 delegates have attended at various times during the sessions of the three day conference. One hundred and fifteen of these are from districts outside of Portland. The Columbia river branch of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society embraces the states of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana.

This year's conference has been unusual in that in the records of members enrolled, money subscribed, missionaries supported and missionary magazine subscriptions show that in each case the goal set five years ago has been attained. On Friday an appropriation of $50,000 for activities of the society was pledged.

WORKERS IN CONFERENCE

Saturday morning's program was ushered in by a conference of workers at 9 o'clock, followed by a memorial service conducted by Mrs. William Park. Speakers during the day's session included Mrs. F. E. Dodds, Mrs. John West, Mrs. G. E. James, Mrs. E. L. Upton, Miss Nettie M. Whitney. Prayers during the conference were given by Rev. Francis Burkette Short and Rev. J. C. Hollins. Rev. Joshua Stansfield, pastor of First Methodist church, will preach a sermon at 10:30 a. m. Sunday morning to the delegates at the church. Sunday afternoon will be given over to the children's rally and addresses by missionaries. Sunday evening will be taken up with a service of commission for Miss Etta L. Emmel, missionary under appointment to South India. Mrs. Hughes will preside.

Who Sounded Alarm? 'I Did,' Said Victor; 'To See Engines Run'

When the second false fire alarm in four hours came in from the same section of the city Friday night, Assistant Fire Marshal Day started a little investigation.

After scouring the neighborhood and talking to children he discovered that 7-year-old Victor Cappirralo, 541 East Fifteenth street, pulled one of the boxes. The lad confessed, Captain Day said.

"I wanted to see the fire wagon go," Victor muttered when asked why he did it. Captain Day orders the father to bring his son before Fire Marshal Grenfell Monday morning.

One alarm was given from box 253, East Eighth and Brooklyn streets, at 2:48 o'clock in the afternoon. The other was from box 294 at Mary and Gideon streets, at 6:30 o'clock. Victor is said to have admitted pulling the latter box, but denies the first job.

The fire department was called to the St. Johns Lumber company Friday night to extinguish a fire in the sawdust carrier. A spark from the rubbish pile ignited the carrier. Damage was nominal.

Ham Kautzman, Aged Editor, Declines Proffered Pardon

Although further incarceration in the Multnomah county jail, it is said, may result in his death, Ham Kautzman, former editor of the Columbia Herald, aged 72 years, refused to accept a conditional liberty offered him Friday by Governor Olcott.

When told that his release from the remainder of his sentence hinged upon his leaving the state and refraining from newspaper work, the aged prisoner declined to accept it, stating that his only chance of making a livelihood was in the profession to which his life had been devoted. He said he would remain in jail rather than become a public charge in some other state.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe. Unlike calomel, without irritating the bowels, Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are ever cured with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 10c and 25c.
