GEORGIA TECH. IS OUT FOR REVENGE OVER PITT SQUAD

"Golden Tornado" Eleven in Prime Condition for Struggle with Glenn Warner's Stars; Princeton to Battle Colgate; North and South Meet in Harvard Stadium; Michigan vs. Ohio State.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 25.—(I. N. S.)—It was Pittsburg against Georgia Tech this afternoon—and a bone-crushing combat between two mighty elevens was in prospect. The day was typically Pittsburg, sunless, with mists swirling through the air, and with the low-hanging clouds threatening rain. But it did not dampen the football enthusiasm ever rampant in Pittsburg, and a crowd of between 30,000 and 35,000 seemed a certainty.

The rivalry between the two colleges came into being only a year ago, but it is a rivalry that almost equals in intensity that between Yale and Harvard. The Panthers sent down the "Yellow Jackets" to inglorious defeat last year, just at a time when the Southerners were ready to claim the gridiron championship of the universe.

The humiliation still rankles—and Tech came here today resolved to engage in a "do or die" struggle. It was a different team that Tech sent into action this afternoon—an eleven at least 50 per cent stronger and far more experienced than that which Pitt steamrolled a year ago. It packed in its lineup many of the great stars of the past 1917 eleven, the best men of 1918 and a few "finds" of 1919.

PITT IS FAVORITE
The host of Tech rosters who came to town to whom it up for their favorites showed their confidence in the team by backing it to the limit with their bank rolls. Pitt supporters crowd 6 to 5 that the Panthers would dole out another beating to the men of Johnny Heisman, wagers that were accepted with extreme eagerness by the folks from below the Mason-Dixon line.

The defeat suffered by Pitt last week at the hands of Syracuse had no depressing effect upon Glenn Warner's gladiators. It seemed only to make them a bit more anxious, as far as this afternoon's game was concerned. Smarting under the Syracuse beating, the Panthers were determined today to get their revenge by crushing the "Golden Tornado" eleven.

Colgate Favorite Over Tigers
Princeton, N. J., Oct. 25.—(I. N. S.)—Bill Hoper's Princeton Tigers face their first big clash of the 1919 season at Palmer Memorial stadium when they meet Colgate's unbeaten eleven.

The New Yorkers came here confident of victory, but the Princeton rosters were far from dismayed. Hoper has surprises in store for the visitors.

Hundreds of Princeton supporters came from New York city today on special trains and the town for the first time in its history took on the football atmosphere of old.

Colgate's decisive victory over Cornell has made the New York team a favorite over Princeton in the betting. Today's game is expected to give an indication of where this year's football championship will rest. If the Tigers are able to defeat Colgate with the green and untried team that will take the field today they will be in line for premier honors.

Yale Is Not Worried
New Haven, Conn., Oct. 25.—(I. N. S.)—Supporters of Yale were not worried today over the chances of an upset such as occurred last week when the Blue was humbled by Boston college. Yale plays Tufts college this afternoon and an easy victory is expected by the New Haven eleven.

Dartmouth Meets Cornell
New York, Oct. 25.—(I. N. S.)—Two big football games are on the program here today. Dartmouth and Cornell meet at the Polo grounds and Amherst clash with Columbia at South field. A huge crowd is expected at the Dartmouth-Cornell game. Dartmouth unbeaten this year, is a favorite. Cornell's rosters came here by the hundreds, however, and are pulling for the Utica eleven to retrieve themselves for the beating they suffered at Colgate's hands.

Syracuse to Play W. and J.
Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 25.—(I. N. S.)—Syracuse football warriors are on edge for the game with W. & J. here this afternoon. The orange defeat of Pitt last week has been instrumental in putting a full measure of "pep" in Buck O'Neil's team. W. & J. are favored largely on "Chick" Harley, crack halfback, to turn the trick, while Michigan is certain that Harley will be stopped and the Buckeyes defeated.

Harvard vs. West Virginia
Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 25.—(I. N. S.)—North and south met in the big concrete stadium here today, when Harvard opposed the University of Virginia. The light team from Dixie did not worry Bob Fisher, coach of the unbeaten Harvard football machine. Fisher sent in a new backfield. Eddie MacCallister, the darling halfback, and Ralph Green, the smashing fullback, were injured in the Brown game last week and were kept out of the line-up today. Humph-

QUAKERS HUMBLLED BY LINKS

Beck Scores Two Touchdowns, One After 60-Yard Dash; Final Score, 13 to 7.

By Earl R. Goodwin
FIGHTING for all they were worth to retain their early lead, the Lincoln high school football team managed to hand the Franklin high eleven a 13 to 7 defeat on Multnomah field Friday. It was a great game but was marred by injuries to both sides.

In the first three minutes of play, Morris Rogaway, who was ill before he went into the fracas, had to retire and in the second canto, Dave Wright received a blow on the head which rendered him unconscious and he was "out" for a couple of hours. No sooner had the third period been under way but the third Lincoln athlete was forced to leave the match and this time it was Captain Enkella who was broken. He played two of three minutes after it was snapped, but a representative of the National Hospital association who handles the Portland Interscholastic league game made him retire to have it put in splints.

BECK IS BIG STAR
"Wee Willie" Beck scored the two touchdowns credited to the Raisplitters, one of them after he had intercepted a forward pass and sprinted for 60 yards. After his first score Harrison made the goal kick but he failed on the second attempt. In the first period, a pass, Cole to Beck, for 35 yards, brought the first yardage, and it was a beautiful shot, for all Beck had to do was to throw himself over the Franklin goal line.

With the Quakers sending out a shower of forward passes in the second stanza, some of them for good gains while others were good for nothing, the ball was taken to Lincoln's 40 yard line. Another aerial shot was started, but it flew wide and went into Willie Beck's arms. He tore as hard as he could for the Franklin line and with three teammates as interference was not necessary for a yard or two on the way.

The nearest the Quakers came to scoring was in the second quarter, when King attempted a place kick, but it was not close. Coach Frederick Rehnlin was working in great fashion, but the backfield failed to do much through the fighting Raisplitters' defense.

POULSON MAKES SCORE
The lone touchdown counted by the East Siders was made on a forward pass, thrown by Poulson, good for 25 yards. Thomas kicked goal. The Quakers were dangerous throughout with their pass, but the Lincolinites did not allow them to get away with much, except the one that put Poulson across.

After Rogaway was taken out, the Lincoln backfield was unable to get the signals through each other's heads. Several times Referee Hartman warned them to quit stalling, but it could be seen that they were not doing it on purpose, as it was early in the match. Whispering conferences were the rule during the first 20 minutes of play by the west side representatives.

SCORE BY QUARTERS
Lincoln 13, Franklin 7.
First quarter: Poulson 25, Beck 35, Harrison 60, Beck 35.
Second quarter: Beck 35, Beck 35.
Third quarter: Beck 35.
Fourth quarter: Beck 35.
Total: Lincoln 13, Franklin 7.

Two New Members Chosen for Oregon Athletic Committee

The new members take the places of Dow Wilson and Henry "Hank" Foster, who were elected to the council last spring, but who have not returned to school this term. Dwight Wilson of Woodburn is the third member of the council.

Two Games Are Left
New York, Oct. 25.—(U. P.)—Two games will close the national 182 ball line billiard tournament, in which William F. Hoppe has clinched the championship. Ora Morningstar and Koji Yamada will meet this afternoon and the final match will be played between Hoppe and Jacob Schaefer.

Game Refuge Planned in Jackson Would Make Ideal Breeding Place

ESTABLISHMENT of a game refuge of at least 10,000 acres surrounding Mt. Pitt in Jackson county, with the ultimate view of creating a big game reservation over which the state fish and game commission by F. M. Brown, chief deputy state game warden, according to an announcement made by Brown following his return from an inspection trip in Southern Oregon Friday afternoon.

Brown spent 10 days traveling over the country adjacent to Mt. Pitt and has made previous visits there. He reports this section, particularly the lower country, to be an ideal breeding place for deer.

BOXING NINE GAME SERIES IS DEAD BIRD

Garry Herrmann, Owner of Reds, Who Conceived Plan, Now Favors Short Series.

By Henry L. Farrell
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Shot full of holes, condemned by magnates and fans alike, the nine game world's series is a "dead bird."

Tried as an experiment, the elongated series proved almost a disaster and it is a foregone conclusion that the old seven game plan will be good enough for the future.

Even Garry Herrmann, boss of the Reds, who conceived and pushed through the innovation, will hardly approve of it as a fixture as it nearly knocked his club out of the world's championship.

After winning four games, which would have given them the championship with a brilliant record in a short series, the Reds cracked badly and weathered the late rush of the Sox only by a hair's margin. In addition, Cincinnati shattered any dreams that Herrmann might have entertained of a financial cleanup in extra games by turning out about 15,000 fans for the seventh game—an indication of a surprising reversal of feeling in the rapid baseball world.

President Heydler of the National league is opposed to any more experimenting with the post-season battles. "As a seven game series, the games this year would have been everything that the fans could have desired and there would have been no grounds for talk," he said after the series.

Though rather painful in its results, the nine game series nevertheless proved of some benefit in settling an old argument of long standing. It has been contended that an inferior team, benefited by the "breaks," has the advantage in a short series over a superior team that may be in a slump and that the better team does not always win. But it was proved this year that superior playing tells the tale in a series of any length.

The Reds would have won the short series. The Sox gained a little prestige by their fight in the late games and won a little more credit that would have come in a longer series of the early games. But they were unable to win even after they got some breaks and had come out of a batting slump that has plagued their feeble work in the first games.

SWIMMING Oregon Eleven May Play Olympic Club

University of Oregon, Eugene, Oct. 25.—Marion McClain, graduate manager of the University, is trying to secure a game for Oregon with the Olympic Athletic club team of San Francisco. The game would be played in San Francisco late in November. The date is the only thing that is hanging fire now. When the most logical time for the game, Saturday, November 22, is impossible, as California and Stanford clash on that date, it is possible that the contest will be scheduled for Friday, November 21, according to Mr. McClain.

Had Posthumous Rank of Marquis
Tokio, Oct. 21.—(Delayed)—(U. P.)—Masakata Teruchi, former premier and field marshal, who died yesterday, was posthumously given the rank of marquis.

The Bondsman pacer, Captain Mack, 2:05, is now in Murphy's stable. He is one of the handsomest horses that was ever seen on a race track.

THE pick of the golfers of the Seattle Country club will tee-off against the best team Captain C. Harry Davis of the Waverley Country club could assemble today in the first half of the home-trophy, which is in the possession of the Puget Sound, who defeated the local players in 1917.

BASEBALL
"RED" KILLFEE, who piloted the Los Angeles club, runners-up in Coast league pennant during the 1919 season, is a free agent. His contract with Jimmy Powers, the Angels' manager, expired at the close of the season and no hint was made about renewing the "polpers." Should Killfeer assume the management of the Angels next year, he will plan a general house cleaning by disposing of some of the players to the majors and securing new faces in return.

Firstbaseman Fred Luderus of the Philadelphia National league club, who during last season established a world's record for consecutive games played, may be sold or traded this winter, according to reports from the East. Gene Pauleite is slated to play first base for the Phillies.

"Cozy" Dolan, former infielder of the Phillies, may land a berth as manager here for the national league in 1920. Dolan piloted the St. Joseph club to the championship of the Western league last season.

"Curly" Brown, the Los Angeles southpaw may not be with the Angels next season. Brown, though a crackjack of a hurler, is said to be a little bit fussy about taking orders from his manager. He always wants to follow a right-hander when he is in pitching form.

Manager Cravath of the Philadelphia Nationals is said to be dickering for the services of Pitcher Pertica of the Angels.

Sport Writer Tops List to Take Baum's Place as President

San Francisco, Oct. 25.—(U. P.)—Choice of the successor to A. T. Baum as president of the Pacific Coast league would probably be the discussion of the meeting of league directors here today. Baum's resignation was accepted late yesterday.

Harry Williams, Los Angeles sport writer, tops the list of possible candidates for the position.

The league's yesterday's meeting went on record as opposed to gambling on baseball games. It also adopted the 18 player limit for the 1920 season, an increase of two men over the season just closed.

EVERYONE READY TO SEE STANFORD AND AGGIES MIX

Three Regulars of Corvallis Team May Not Get in Game, but Coach Hargiss Is Confident of Winning; Special Trains Will Take Fans From All Parts of the State.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Oct. 25.—Despite the fact that three regular members of the Oregon Aggies' gridiron squad—"Butts" Reardon, captain and quarterback; Lodell, halfback and punter, and Stewart, center, will not start the game against the Leland Stanford university, Coach Hargiss is enthusiastic over the chances of his squad being returned victor.

"I predict victory," said Hargiss, "but it will be hard earned. Stanford is slightly inexperienced, but the fact that members of its team were picked on the All-American service eleven last year speaks strength. It is hard to make predictions because the Cardinals lost to the Olympic club after they had put in their subs. Our men are in good shape and ready for a hard game.

Coach Evans, who led his players into town this morning, said his players were in tip-top shape for a hard struggle and would fight to the last minute. He would not make any predictions as to the probable outcome of the contest.

Special trains carrying former students of both institutions came pouring into Corvallis today and James J. Richardson, manager of all student activities, was confident that a record attendance would see the athletes wend their way through one hour of grueling competition on the local gridiron. Coach Evans arrived with his squad from Albany this morning after having spent the night at the Albany hotel.

Twenty-one members of Stanford university were in the party, including three Portland boys, Lamson Bonney, Preston Light and Paul Campbell. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Holt came down late last night to spend today with their son and watch him direct the action of the Californians.

A special section of the grandstand was set aside for Stanford rooters and Chester G. Murphy, one of the greatest quarterbacks ever developed at Stanford, was scheduled to be the yell leader of the Cardinal William H. Masters, also of Portland, appointed Murphy a couple of days ago and an old-fashioned rally was held coming down on one of the special trains. The Washington high school band accompanied the delegation.

Washington and Whitman Ready
Seattle, Wash., Oct. 25.—Seattle followers of intercollegiate football are awaiting the whistle that will start the game between Coach "Jump" Hunt's University of Washington football eleven and "Nig" Borleske's Whitman Missionaries this afternoon. Indications point to Washington being returned the winners by a small margin.

In weight, Washington will have a decided advantage. In speed the two teams are about evenly matched. Since the game with the U. S. S. New York Hunt has been driving his charges at top speed, trying to get them in shape for today's contest.

Bill Grimm, one of Gil Dobie's best boys in 1918, is set to star at tackle. Aleng side of him will be stationed Ted Faulk, another member of the 1918 squad. "Sandy" Wick at center is another letter man under Dobie. Captain Erve Dailey, Washington's high point winner in track for 1918, will hold down one of the backfield berths. The rest of the lineup will not be announced until the game.

Whitman on the other hand is saying little. The Missionaries' supporters are confident that their eleven will be able to hold its own. As proof of this fact they point out that Whitman has scored more points against Washington than any other college on the coast in the last two decades.

Andy Smith Confident
Berkeley, Cal., Oct. 25.—(I. N. S.)—Washington State college, the Cougars, meets the University of California today here in what local supporters declare will be a tough battle for California.

It's the well known acid test for the Bears, and Coach Andy Smith admitted before the game that his backfield might be in better shape. Sprott, a "sav" performer" is out of the game with a broken arm. George Varnell of Spokane will referee.
