

IDAHO'S MEXICAN PROBLEM FOUND TO BE VEXATIOUS

Peons Brought There for Short Beet Sugar Harvest Forced Into Competition With Whites.

LABORERS LODGE PROTEST

Johnson, Borah and Smoot, Who Imported Them, Are Requested to Ship Them Back to Mexico.

Pocatello, Idaho, Oct. 27.—Idaho and the federal department of immigration are in a position to sympathize with the man who needed help to let the bear go. They have between 2000 and 3000 Mexicans on their hands and do not know how to get rid of them. W. J. McConnell, Idaho's first United States senator, and subsequently governor for two terms, and now federal immigration inspector for Idaho, has been here for more than a week investigating conditions, and left for his home in Moscow, where he will prepare a report on the situation and submit it to the department. Asked what he thinks of the situation, the aged veteran of Idaho, who is nearly 80 years old, but who is strong, sprightly and takes a deep interest in governmental affairs, said:

"I'll be hanged if I know what to think of it, or what to do about it. We need these Mexican laborers at certain seasons of the year to do work that American laborers will not do. They are needed and needed badly to cultivate the beets and to harvest them. They were brought here under a special agreement with the labor department in 1918 to save the sugar beet crop. It was agreed that they were to have the same wages paid to other laborers, and this looked like to them. But their work

ADVERTISING CONCERN ACQUIRES NEW MEMBER

Arthur Booth

Carrying on a campaign to more energetically promote Pacific Northwest food products, David M. Botsford Saturday announced that Botsford, Constantine & Tyler, advertising, had obtained Arthur Booth as a new member. Booth formerly was advertising manager of the Beech Nut Packing company, and through unique advertising methods, built that concern's business up to a greater volume than ever before.

"Aggressive advertising and marketing by trained men is our aim," Botsford said. "Booth will push Oregon and Washington products until they are known everywhere for their quality."

They begin weeding beets in the latter part of May or June 1, and when beet harvest comes on they have worked up to about the middle of November. What are they to do between these periods? They cannot earn enough to live a year on these few weeks' work.

POINDEXTER THRUSTS HIS HAT IN RING FOR TRY AT PRESIDENCY

Washington Senator Announces His Candidacy for Republican Nomination to Head Ticket.

Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington today made formal announcement of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for president of the United States, both by issuing a public statement to that effect at Washington, D. C., and also by forwarding copies of his platform through the mails, under special delivery, to the papers of the various cities.

In concluding his platform the senator promises, or threatens, whichever viewpoint may be taken, to "make an active campaign in order to present these issues to the people and to attempt, if successful, to assist in reestablishing them in our domestic and foreign policy."

STATES HIS PLATFORM

The senator opens his platform with the contention that this government was founded on the principle that "no special class should control it." He also says that every man is entitled to the absolute security of his person and property. The general welfare of the people should be safeguarded, he says, by "keeping the government under their own control, both as against any special class at home and as against any foreign power or combination of powers." He demands protection of American rights and lives in Mexico and the enforcement of the Monroe doctrine there; that alien slackers who renounced their "first papers to escape military service should be deported; that revolutionary communism must be met and put down under whatever guise it appears. He contends that the nation cannot be ruled either by capital or labor, but that the government of the people must be supreme."

REVERSE PRESENT POLICY

"The process of internationalizing our fortunes must be reversed," Poindexter says, "and the separate interests of this nation, with due regard for the rights of others, must be cherished again." Direct taxes upon industry and consumption should be reduced and supplemented by increased duties upon imports. He advocates national roads, immediate peace with Germany and the immediate return of all soldiers from European and Asiatic service. He says that the Monroe doctrine should be reestablished in its full vigor, that we should cease "official meddling with other people's affairs" and the ancient doctrine of American neutrality toward all nations with which we are at peace should be revived and resumed.

Prineville, Oct. 27.—A meeting of the taxpayers and citizens of the Powell Butte vicinity took place Friday night. A large crowd gathered at Community hall and the question of voting a $250,000 bond issue for a permanent road program was thoroughly discussed. The sentiment all over the country seems to favor the issue. There is nearly $100,000 on deposit to the county's credit from the last bond sale, which, with the proposed issue would give the county nearly $250,000 for road building. This amount would place the roads of the county in excellent shape.

DISCOVERY OF RICH COPPER ORE BED IS ANNOUNCED AT BAKER

Copper Ridge Mine Claims Find Development Kept Secret Until Value Was Assured.

Baker, Oct. 27.—Development work on a newly found copper ore bed at the Copper Ridge mine in the Baker county copper belt has been going on quietly for several months, according to John Arthur, local mining man, who is managing the E. & H. properties near Sumpster. Indications are that the Copper ridge will become one of the most widely known copper producers in the Northwest. Arthur claims that the owners were unwilling to reveal their plans until assured that the mine would prove a success. The property is located on the same vein as the Hercules, but farther east, and is adjacent to the Copper Hill mine. Both the Copper Ridge and Copper Hill mines are being operated by Charles G. Flanagan of Seattle, who has a force of men now establishing living quarters and shops preparatory to cross cutting to the vein at the first named property. At the Copper Hill, Flanagan reports that a cross cut already started is expected to strike the vein at the 200 foot level before November 15.

BELIEVE VALUABLE FIND MADE

What is believed to be an important ore body has been revealed by an upraise at the Highland silver mine, 12 miles in general throughout the county. R. E. Boes, manager of the properties, which are owned by the National Mining company, also owner of the Hercules copper mine. The vein is 11 feet wide, Boes says, extends from the surface to a depth of several hundreds of feet, and promises result that will make the Highland one of Oregon's largest producers. The upraise is being stopped as it advances, and will be continued from the Bannockburn drift, the uppermost level to the surface. It will include two shafts, one of which will be used in lowering timbers to the Bannockburn tunnel, which also is being advanced. This will avoid the necessity of power to place the timbers at this level.

There are three other levels, in the lowest of which the Highland John Thomas, general superintendent for the company, reports finding indications of an ore body assaying between 88 and 222 a ton that has never been worked, but that is tributary to that tunnel. The discovery was made only this week.

SILVER PRICE IS HIGHER

Boes said that he has just received final settlement for a car containing less than 40 tons of crude ore on which he received an advance of $29,12 over the temporary settlement allowed when the car was shipped a month ago. The temporary settlement was based upon the average silver market, and the increase is attributed by Boes to the advance in the silver market during the previous 30 days. The Highland ore has been running at nine parts of silver to one of gold.

Mother's Life Is Saved

Baker, Oct. 27.—Six weeks ago at the suggestion of Mrs. Susan Herrman, local police matron, friends of Mrs. O. A. Nicholas contributed money to send her to Savannah, Ga., to be treated for cancer. Mrs. Herrman received a letter from Mrs. Nicholas saying that she has now been pronounced cured and will return to her home. Mrs. Nicholas is the mother of a family but due to strained circumstances faced certain death until her friends came to her aid.

Crops Reported Good

Baker, Oct. 27.—Potatoes are reported to be selling at 3 cents a pound near Richland, where the farmers are kept busy harvesting a crop that is reported in some localities better than usual, although in general throughout the county the yield this year was poor. Harvesting of fruit in Eagle valley continues, with apples most abundant. Lack of marketing facilities in Eagle valley are causing the waste of a large part of the valley's fruit products.

Tots Rescued From Blaze

Baker, Oct. 27.—Two children were rescued from the blaze that destroyed their home at Richland while the parents, Mr. and Mrs. George McTowell were absent, Wednesday afternoon, according to word received in Baker. Only a few household articles were saved and no insurance was carried. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Hor. Falls Through Bridge

Baker, Oct. 27.—Miss Nannie Duncan was brought to the Baker hospital suffering from a dislocated elbow and painful bruises which she sustained when the horse she was riding fell through a bridge. Miss Duncan teaches a school near Ironside in northern Malheur county.

Clerks Planning Union

Baker, Oct. 27.—Clerks in Baker's stores are discussing a plan to combine in a union whose primary purpose would be to enforce the closing of all stores in Baker at 6 o'clock on Saturday evenings.

Thomas Little Buried

Baker, Oct. 27.—The funeral of Thomas B. Little, Baker pioneer, who died Wednesday afternoon, was held from his home here Saturday under the auspices of the Masonic lodge.

Red Cross Drive Campaigners Will Meet This Evening

At a meeting to be held tonight in the green room of the Chamber of Commerce, Edward C. Sammons, general in charge of the annual roll campaign of the American Red Cross, will confer with the 24 colonels who will have charge of the various membership teams in the Portland drive. These 24 colonels are from the American Legion. Plans will be made at the meeting for a final organization.

Headquarters for the Red Cross drive were opened this morning in the Liberty Temple, where activities centering about the week of November 6 to 11 will be housed.

Bears Are Plentiful

White Salmon, Wash., Oct. 27.—Bears are plentiful in the valley this season, a large number having already been shot by local hunters.

Intoxicated Driver, Alleged Moonshiner, Has Skull Fractured

After a fight with his brother-in-law, an accident with his automobile, the loss of alleged whiskey making apparatus, and his arrest on charges of violating the prohibition law and driving while intoxicated, Joe Linn, 514 Fourth avenue, ended an eventful Sunday in a white enameled bed at St. Vincent's hospital, where it is reported he may have a fractured skull.

The trouble began on the porch of Antone Schlichter's home at 511 1/2 Fifth avenue, according to the story told by Motorcycle Officers Schad and Engle. Joe, who is Antone's brother-in-law, came up about 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon with a hammer and ulterior motives, Antone told the police. A fight followed, and Antone knocked Joe down and threw him from the porch. Joe climbed into his machine and drove away. At Twenty-sixth street and Francis avenue he ran the car into the curb. The accident was reported to the police and Motorcycle Officers Schad and Engle sent out to investigate. They found Joe in a serious condition. In his machine they found a copper kettle and a coil, supposed to be used in making whiskey.

In Antone's residence was 200 gallons of wine. Antone was brought to the police station on a charge of violating the prohibition law.
