One Million for New Theatre in New York

Marcus Loew Plans Sixteen-Story Structure to Be Last Word in Playhouses.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7. — One million dollars is the estimate of the cost of the new theatre which the Marcus Loew Realty corporation will erect at the northeast corner of Broadway and Forty-fifth street.

The building will be modern, fireproof and lavishly fitted out. The structure is to have 16 stories. In addition to the playhouse there will be a roof garden. On the first and second floors will be stores and from the third floor to the sixteenth, inclusive, offices will be fitted out.

The front of the building is to extend for 150 feet with a depth of 186 feet. The architect of the structure is Thomas W. Lamb.

Hippodrome Has an Interesting Program For End of the Week

Little Violet Stroud, who dances daintily and who jazzes as well, is one of the features of the end of the week bill at the Hippodrome.

Jack Polk, comedian, is the big laugh on the program. His monologue on the small town, his makeup and general demerol make him at once popular with Hipp audiences.

A bear and his wrestling partners furnish much fun, and the three Shirleys are welcomed heartily in their harmony number.

Beaulieu Love in "Over the Garden Wall" is featured in the photoplay end of the program, which is entertaining and interesting in keeping with the rest of the bill.
