

WOMEN TO FORCE PRICE CUT, VIEW OF MRS. COSTIGAN

To Bring Political Pressure Against Profiteering One Purpose of League.

LEGISLATION IS DEMANDED

Cost of Living Lowered in Italy and Belgium, While Prices Remain High Here, It Is Stated.

That the women of the United States are skeptical as to many of the excuses for the rise in prices and intend to force action to lower the cost of living is shown by the movement of the League of Women Voters to build up a strong organization that will exercise political pressure to secure corrective legislation on this problem.

Mrs. Edward P. Costigan, who is visiting in Portland this week as representative of the league committee on food supply and demand, said that the women of the nation were aroused by the constant excuses offered to cover up the real reasons for advancing prices. She said statistics proved the advance began before the war and that it is unreasonable to chalk up the tremendous increase to war alone.

"Political economists formerly assured us that the people are protected by a law of supply and demand," she said; "that with ample supplies, public demand can either raise or lower prices freely by using or withholding purchasing power. We are learning, however, that a new era is upon us, and that, even when the individual citizen abstemiously shrugs his dinner or the corner grocery, the prices of the necessities of life continue their soaring and dizzy ascent. When we turn for relief through legislation to the halls of the nation's capitol in Washington we are met by the cynical boasts of profiteers that they wield a power greater than that of the government itself. Monopoly is throttling competition and dictating the price list. The consumer is being consumed."

MRS. CATT'S APPEAL IS GIVEN SUPPORT

gon's ratification of the suffrage amendment there was no division among the women present at the meeting. Mrs. Catt's explanation was too lucid when she had finished with her summary of the national situation in which she showed that it would require all of the suffrage state to insure the 36 necessary for ratification because of political conditions existing throughout the South, East and Middle West.

As a result of her exposition of these conditions, the motion to launch the full power of the women's organizations of the state back of the effort to secure the special session was carried, and, at the express suggestion of Mrs. Catt, it will that the women of the state are not proceeding in hostility to either the legislature or the governor, but rather in an effort to demonstrate the necessity of Oregon's action and to bring together the diverse opinions of the legislature and the executive so that the session may be made possible and at an early date.

The final services were in Lone Fir cemetery. During her later years Mrs. Collyer was cared for by the Rebekahs and the I. O. O. F. of this city, among whom she had many friends. A large attendance of members of Samaritan lodge, I. O. O. F., of which her husband was a member, attended the services.

FULL CONNECTION BY GERMAN SECTION OF CHURCH IS ADVOCATED

Committee of Portland Congregational Church Association Named for Purpose.

Oregon City, Nov. 7.—Full connection by the German Congregational pastors and churches with the English-speaking organizations was urged at a meeting of the Portland Association of Congregational Churches held in conjunction with the state Congregational church conference, Superintendent Arthur J. Sullens and George H. Himes were named a committee to visit the leaders in the German-speaking congregations for this purpose.

Rev. Edward Constant presided as moderator in place of Rev. W. H. Meyer, who is doing Y. M. C. A. work at Tacoma. Rev. Oliver Perry Avery of the Waverleigh Heights church was elected registrar.

Following up Rev. R. S. Gill of Portland, who charged the churches, in an address Wednesday before the state conference with failure to meet present-day industrial difficulties and in not taking the interest they should in such matters, Rev. E. E. Flint of Portland, speaking before the same gathering Thursday, complained that the ministers were not alive to the real message. He declared that the ministers must recognize the fundamental questions of not what the Bible is, but what it teaches, and expressed the opinion that there must be an adjustment of the use of the book to meet the demands of the day. In conclusion he urged the ministers, as they returned to their charges, to interpret their work in a bigger way, to fulfill their obligations as real religious workers.

Dr. William T. McElveen, who recently arrived from New York city as pastor of the First Congregational church, Portland, spoke on the Pilgrim memorial fund movement, which plans raising $5,000,000 in five years, the income from this fund, together with assessments upon the ministers and churches, to form annuities to be paid ministers when they reach the age of 65 years.

Armenian relief was urged by Rev. J. Handsaker of Portland, who gave a word picture of the suffering that prevails in that country and the need for immediate action by America. The present church life and activity, compared with that before the war, was discussed by Rev. Oliver P. Avery of Portland.

"Christian Americanization in Mid-Pacific" was the subject of a lecture by Rev. George W. Hinman of San Francisco, who visited the Hawaiian islands last summer.

Mrs. Eva Emery Dye of Oregon City gave an historical sketch of "The Beginnings of Congregationalism in the Northwest."

This Skin Peeler In Great Demand

Since the discovery that mercerized wax possesses remarkable absorbent powers when applied to the skin, the demand for it as a complexion renewer has been tremendous. Druggists in every section report sales as far exceeding those of anything similar they have ever had on their shelves.

Ordinary mercerized wax gently peels off the devitalized cuticle, in minute particles, so that the user gradually loses her old worn out complexion, the more youthful under-skin taking its place. Cutaneous eruptions, blotches, moth patches, liver spots and freckles are of course removed at the same time. As the wax is entirely harmless, and easy to use, women all over the country are purchasing it in original packages and using it to quickly rejuvenate their complexions. The wax is applied the same as cold cream, allowed to remain on over night, then washed off with warm water.—Adv.
