Salaries Rise by Library Board Made Effective on Nov. 1

Salary increases for library workers, which were decided last month to be granted when the board passed on the budget, will be effective from November 1, 1919, according to action taken at the monthly meeting of the board last night.

INVESTIGATOR FREAR FEELS EMBARRASSED

Frear, jarred the committee earlier in the day. Addressing Chairman Frear and referring to a statement telegraphed by Frear and Magee to the secretary of the war while they were on the Pacific coast, Cowdin exclaimed, "I don't believe you meant the statement accusing the Spruce Production officials of incompetency, but if you did it was one of the rottenest statements ever made by a public official."

Disque announced he had affidavits concerning statements recently alleged to have been made by Pendleton, who was in charge of Canadian production, to the effect that if "we can bust this proposition," referring to spruce production property, "when the next administration comes in, we can get an interest in it."

Disque, responding to questions by Congressman Lee, Democrat, member of the sub-committee, entered denials of the various statements heard by the committee since Disque testified in Portland. He said he never was "called on the carpet" to Washington, but came always at his own volition.

duction stopped the day after the armistice, said Disque, but later approved the recommendation of Colonel Stearns to complete 14 miles of track, believing then and now that not to do so would be like building a house with the roof left off.

Until two weeks ago he did not know what lands the Milwaukee railroad owned in the Northwest, but he has since obtained a map and finds that fully 80 per cent are inaccessible to the spruce railroad built as an extension of the Milwaukee system.

Disque read a letter from C. A. Blaney, chairman of the Michigan state board of control, denouncing the charges against the spruce production officials.

"I Think that Crescent Baking Powder Is Fine"

Crescent produces light, sweet, wholesome, fluffy baking.

The above statement was made by a user of Crescent Baking Powder in a letter of request for our Cook Book:

"I always worried to get things into the oven," she writes, "as soon as possible before the raise of the powder was over. But with Crescent I find this is not necessary. Another good thing in favor of your Baking Powder is that I use only about half as much as other baking powders, and by buying the 5-pound tin for one dollar I save 25c on every dollar's worth I purchase, and I find it keeps as good as ever. I think that Crescent Baking Powder is fine!"

Your grocer can supply you.
