CRIMSON READY TO PLAY YALE

Harvard Is Slight Favorite Over Rivals in Eastern Gridiron Classic.

By George R. Holmes
NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—(I. N. S.)—The dying football season offers its annual plum tomorrow in the Yale-Harvard game at Cambridge. Otherwise the schedule is rather barren and without a single clash of more than local importance in the east.

Every football eye in the east will be turned toward Boston tomorrow, despite the fact that the outcome of the battle in the stadium can have little or no bearing on championship matters. The championship of the east is so heavily fuddled and wound round with contradictions and contradictions of contradictions that no one contest could possibly straighten it out. But a Yale-Harvard game holds the center of the spotlight regardless.

Yale goes to Cambridge in a fighting mood and the battle on Saturday should be a rip snorter. Not in eight years have the Elis been beaten by Princeton, and thus the Elis consider the year a bad one. A victory over the Crimson would go far toward assuaging the Blue chagrin.

To be beaten by both the Tigers and Crimson in a single season would be a failure and disappointment unthinkable to the Bull Dog.

Harvard is slightly favored in the betting, 5 to 4, but the game is generally considered by neutrals as an even money bet. The teams are evenly matched as to weight and speed.

Syracuse, one of the strongest claimants to eastern honors, journeys out to Bloomington to meet Indiana university in the only inter-sectional battle on the card. The Orange should have little difficulty in coming home with the Hoosiers' scalp.

The army gets a final workout tomorrow for the navy game a week hence by taking on the heavy Springfield eleven. Lehigh and Lafayette and Brown and New Hampshire close the slate in the east.

Seattle Directors May Name Leader At Meeting Today

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 21.—(U. P.)—Seattle's new set of baseball directors will hold their first session today to discuss the selection of a manager for the local Coast league team for next season. In spite of the fact that word has been received from Charles Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox that there is "nothing doing" on the Chick Gandil deal, whereby the Sox first baseman would pilot the Rainiers, the directors still entertained hopes today of getting Gandil.

Mike Kelley of St. Paul is also out of the running, as Mike wants to buy a half interest in the club and there isn't any stock for sale.

The race has narrowed down to four, Eddie Herr, formerly of Salt Lake; Charlie Mullen, who finished the season here; Clyde Wares, local second baseman; and Bill Rodgers of Sacramento are still being considered for the job.

Here's a Bit of Cheery News for You, Perle Casey

San Francisco, Nov. 21.—(I. N. S.)—The umpires in the Pacific Coast league are about to get a raise in salary, according to William H. McCarthy, president of the Coast League. McCarthy stated that the present salary of $250 per month is not sufficient as the umpires have to defray their own expenses while traveling around the circuit. McCarthy plans to increase the salary to $300, he said.

GIBBONS FAVORITE OVER MIKE O'DOWD IN TITLE CONTEST

St. Paul Phantom Appears to Be in Wonderful Shape for Bout With One-Time Pupil.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 21.—(I. N. S.)—Eyes of the fistie world will be focused on St. Paul tonight when Mike O'Dowd, middleweight champion, will defend his title in a 10 round bout with Mike Gibbons, "the St. Paul Phantom."

Unless there is an eleventh hour switch in the betting odds, Gibbons, despite the fact that O'Dowd is the champion, will enter the ring as a 7 to 5 favorite. The showing made by Gibbons in his training performances has convinced the wagering population that he has better than an even chance to lift the laurels from the brow of his slugging rival.

Although never a title holder, Gibbons for years has been regarded as the master boxer of the middleweights. His marvelous cleverness in the ring is not gained, with his cleverness he also packs a punch if he cares to uncock it.

Baker High Starts Basketball Work

Baker, Nov. 21.—Pre-season interclass basketball at the Haines high school it is believed will develop a team that will be heard from in Eastern Oregon. Two teams, each composed of members of the upper and lower classes, have been playing for more than a month with the result that the players have that much advantage over their rival with the season still distant. It is expected that the season will be finished by Haines in the new high school gymnasium, now in process of construction. The Haines Parent-Teachers' association is preparing a home talent play that is to be given on the evening of Friday, November 21.

San Francisco, Nov. 21.—(U. P.)—Harry Walls gently dropped his right arm knockout Kruvosky in the second minute of their first round last night and "Kruvo" dropped. He might have been able to continue, but Referee Hanlon stopped the fight. The fans were convinced that the negro heavyweight had lost none of his effectiveness.

ALTHOUGH in a crippled condition as the result of the hard schedule played this season, the Washington State college squad will go into the annual clash with the Oregon Agricultural college Saturday afternoon on Multnomah field with a determination to annex a victory in its last conference game of the year.

Headed by Coach Gus Welch and Athletic Director Bohler, the Cougar aggregation arrived this morning and immediately went through a light signal practice on Multnomah field.

The Cougars expect a hard game from the Corvallis squad. In seasons past, the Aggies have been a stumbling block to the Pullmanites and some of the wise ones are predicting that O. A. C. will upset the dope again.

To meet the Aggie offensive, Coach Welch has made a shift in his lineup, which will greatly strengthen his first line of defense. Bert Brooks, who has been playing left end, has been placed at his regular position, tackle, and Hamilton has been shifted to guard in place of Carl King. Harold Hanley, brother of Dick and LeRoy, will play left end.

BACKFIELD WEAK
The Cougar backfield is in a weakened condition as the result of the loss of Eldon Jenne, the speedy right half-back. Dick Hanley may be unable to get into the fray as the result of a broken nose sustained in the contest against the university of Washington.

Durrwachter has been substituted for Jenne, but there may be a change in Welch's plans before the kickoff. Dick Hanley may be sent to that position and McIvor to pivot position.

Coach Hargiss of the Oregon Aggie squad is looking forward to a hard tussle. The reported shift in the Aggie backfield gives the Aggies an edge over the Cougars on the offensive. Carl Lodell will play quarterback. "Duke" Hodler will play right half. Hodler has been out of the game for two weeks on account of illness.

Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 21.—(I. N. S.)—Captain Bob Roper had an easy time winning from Frank Moran in their 10-round bout here last night. Moran showed well in only one round, the eighth, when he jarred Roper considerably with two lefts to the ribs. Roper had all the other rounds by a wide margin.
