

OLD MAN DIES, RESULT OF BEING STRUCK BY SKIDDING AUTOMOBILE

Rear of Machine Smashes Against Thomas Oliver of Woodland as It Swerves Aside.

Vancouver, Wash., Nov. 21.—Thomas Oliver of Woodland, 78 years old, died Thursday from the effects of injuries caused when he was struck by an automobile driven by Dr. R. N. Gordon of Vancouver, Route 3, a retired physician, who formerly practiced in Seattle. The accident occurred at the Oregon end of the Interstate bridge.

According to Dr. Gordon, he was driving to the Livestock show with Mrs. Gordon when they came up behind Oliver. He said he sounded his horn but that Oliver failed to take notice and he applied his brakes. The machine skidded into the fence, he said, and the rear end swung around, knocking him to the pavement. The machine was badly damaged.

S. A. Bundschuh took Oliver to St. Joseph's hospital here where he died two hours later. Oliver was a native of Canada. He leaves five children, Mrs. Fred Harned of Port Townsend, Wash.; J. D. Oliver of Woodland, and Lewis, Walter and Perley Oliver of Seattle. Chief Deputy Coroner Leo Gotsch, who investigated the circumstances of the accident, stated Thursday night that he did not think it necessary to hold an inquest.

Editor of Omaha Bee Fined $1000 In Contempt Case

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 21.—(U. N. S.)—Victor Rosewater, editor of the Omaha Bee, found guilty of contempt of court, was fined $1000 and costs by Judge Redick in the United States district court here today. Rosewater was charged with contempt following publication in the Bee of a story of an alleged "frame up" in connection with the arrest of Harry Moore, reporter, accused of participating in the lynching of Will Brown and the burning of the Douglas county courthouse on September 28. The Bee Publishing company was fined $1000 on a similar charge. Judge Redick in his decision declared that a newspaper has no right to publish anything that might tend to discredit witnesses for the state, regardless of whether the article is based on fact or not.

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible several or eight inches away from their ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmit (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. Parmit is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretion in the ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective. Every person who has catarrh in any form, or distressing rumbling, hissing sounds in their ears, should give this recipe a trial.—Adv.
