Talk of Sending Supplies From Portland to Salt Lake Considered a Trick; Fat Cheaper There.

Talk of the sale and shipment of a heavy supply of butter from Portland to Salt Lake is considered an extremely good joke among the trade generally and there are none that will believe that such a sale is legitimate. The fact that Salt Lake butter and butterfat prices are lower than those at Portland places a strong doubt against such a report.

Seattle, Monday 17
Year ago . 33

Year ago . 33 First of all, if Salt Lake really needed butter, could purchase it in the Central West at a wer rate than at Portland and, as freight tes are much the same, the stock could be landed in the Mormon city cheaper than similar goods from the coast. As buttermen are not in the charity game, the trade does not conr that a firm will pay more for butter at point than another, quality considered.

A special wire from Salt Lake reports but-ter selling at 67 cents there with a discount of % cent a pound for case lots and a further discount of 1 per cent for weekly settlement, some of which discounts is considered in the Portland price of 67 cents a pound, with one salt Lake concern's branch here quoting was sents a pound. An unwillingness even to discuss these matters produces only dissatisfaction and gives comfort to the extreme elements in our country which endeavor to stir up disturbances in order to provoke governments to embark upon a course of retaliation and repression. The seed of revolution is repression. The remedy for these things must not be negative in character. It must be constructive. It must comprehend the gen-Extras, 68c.
