

Christmas Story Is Prettily Shown At Art Museum

THE story of Christmas and all its significance is brought to visitors of the Portland Art Museum in a happy manner this year by the display in the "Christmas room." Christmas garlands of greens with seasonable fruits are arranged to frame the numbers of old pictures which hang in the galleries, bringing to us the story as it appeared to the old artists of Florence. A collection of Arundel prints is shown, and the Christmas creche, with figures built by students of the Art Museum, portraying the nativity, is among the interesting bits shown in the Christmas room.

Among the paintings are two lovely old Florentine studies loaned by Mrs. George T. Willett. A group of Lunni panels, among which is the Adoration of the Magi, are shown. Two old Flemish paintings loaned by A. Berg, showing the legend of St. Ursula (1489), showing the Madonna and child, and three portraits are among the pictures on display.

A fine old cardinal's cope in crimson velvet, loaned by Mrs. C. E. S. Wood, and a number of old Florentine brocades are on display. Icons in Russian enamel, an old icon with metal casing of quaint design and a chalice cover brought from Spain are on display. A notable Madonna in the room is one loaned by Colonel E. Hofer of Salem, and a number of pictures by Sassaferrato (1605-1885) are shown.

On the afternoon of December 29, Miss Henrietta H. Falling will speak to the children, telling them the Christmas story with pictures and slides. The hour is 2 o'clock. The Christmas room is open to all persons interested in the story of the season.

At an attractive wedding ceremony Miss Clara Eick became the bride of the Rev. H. G. Herrmann of Vader, Wash., on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, at the Clay Street Evangelical church. Miss Mary Ellen Mullan sang "My Heart Is Singing" before the ceremony, which was read by the Rev. Jacob Stocker, in the presence of a large congregation of friends and relatives. Miss Esther Schuknecht played the wedding march from Wagner. A delightful wedding supper was served after the ceremony in the dining room. The church was decorated with palms. The bride was gowned in heavy ivory satin, trimmed with rare lace. Her tulle veil was arranged in a cap effect with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The bride was attended by Miss Bernice Wickman, who wore white net over silver cloth. The Misses Esther Lindow and Katherine Perlic were bridesmaids. Miss Lindow wore pale green georgette trimmed in silver. Miss Perlic's gown was of pink georgette over net of similar style. The attendants wore tulle hats and carried arm bouquets of Ophelia roses. Six of the bride's intimate friends, gowned in pastel shades, acted as ribbon bearers. The bride was given in marriage by her father, E. E. Eick. Paul Bradford was best man and Will Geiger and Herbert Gunther were ushers. The bride has lived in Portland for many years and has a large circle of friends. She was active in church circles. Rev. H. G. Herrmann is a minister of the Evangelical association and was graduated from the Northwestern college of Illinois. He is pastor of the Vader church of this denomination. The young couple will make their home in Vader, Wash., where Mr. Herrmann will resume his pastorate.

George Monroe Olsen and Miss Florence Eva Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Davis of Mackinac Island, Mich., were married at the Hotel La Salle, Chicago, December 2 and arrived in Portland December 7, to make their home here. Mr. Olsen has been east the greater part of the past six years, but plans to remain in Portland, having become associated with his brother, Charles W. Olsen, in conducting the business of their father, C. M. Olsen.

George Wright Women's Relief corps will entertain its members and George Wright post, G. A. R., with a birthday dinner and Christmas tree at the court-house on Wednesday at 2 o'clock. Members of the corps are asked to donate toward the dinner. The children are invited to come and enjoy the tree.

The standing party for which the Oregon White Shrine of Christmas will host will be given on the evening of Thursday, January 8, at Christensen's hall. Mrs. George Mettler is general chairman of arrangements for the affair and is planning some special features for the evening.

The engagement of Miss Katherine McMahon and Orville V. Gamble was announced Saturday evening last week at an informal party, for which Miss McMahon was hostess, at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Charles C. Bechtold, Laurelhurst avenue. Miss McMahon, who has been the center of many pleasant parties since the announcement of her engagement, is a Portland girl, having received her earlier education here, and during the war gave much of her time and energy to war camp activities. Mr. Gamble is the son of Mrs. J. M. Letter, also of Portland. Gamble is well known by the lumbermen of the coast and maintains a central office in Portland for his mills and camps throughout Oregon. The wedding is to be on Christmas day and is to be held in the manse of the First Presbyterian church, where a very few friends will gather for a simple ceremony. A wedding dinner will be served immediately following the service, at the residence of the bride's sister.

Miss Hulda Eichenberger became the bride of Roy Lollick on the evening of November 28 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Eichenberger, 447 Union avenue north. The service was read by the Rev. F. A. Schumann of the German Methodist church, in the presence of a number of friends and relatives of the bridal couple. Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served. The bridal attendants were Mrs. Arthur Kilgus-Smith and Frank Lollick. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Lollick of this city, and is at present a member of the Portland fire department.

The Multnomah Hotel Employees Social club took part in a costume ball which was held Wednesday evening in the main ballroom of the hotel. There were many attractive costumes well carried out. The judges awarded three prizes for the most effective costuming. Harry Holise winning the prize for the best man in a Spanish garb. Mrs. Anna Busch being chosen for the first women's prize in a St. Hopkins make-up, and the special prize, a large cake, going to Mrs. Russell Forrester on December 17, at the First Congregational church. The bride was attired in a

Tea in Honor of Ohio Guest Is Event Tuesday

ONE of the interesting events of the past week was the tea given at the Benson hotel on Tuesday by the Portland local chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma in honor of Mrs. Park R. Kolbe of Akron, Ohio, who was a visitor in the city for the day. Mrs. Kolbe's husband just returned from a three months sojourn in the Hawaiian Islands, where Mr. Kolbe was sent on an investigation of educational conditions by the government. Guests at the tea on Tuesday included Mrs. Kolbe, Mrs. Robert Donald, Mrs. George T. Gerlinger, Mrs. Everett Cobb, Miss Marian Weed, Miss Marie Williams, Miss Louise Allen, Mrs. Robert Graham Fithian, Miss Eurnside, Mrs. George Rosman, Mrs. Ted Williams, Miss Mildred Broughton and Mrs. Robert Tucker.

Mrs. D. W. Ross is a visitor in San Francisco at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James T. Schuyler (Gladys Ross), whose marriage to Major Schuyler was an event of last year in Washington, D. C. Major Ross has been in Portland during the past week and has been a guest at the Ross home in Talbot road, returning to San Francisco on Saturday. Mrs. Ross will remain in San Francisco until after the holidays, when she will visit in Southern California for a few weeks.

Miss Lou Gilbert of Chicago became the bride of Russell Forrester on December 17, at the First Congregational church. The bride was attired in a brown beaver trimmed broadcloth suit with a small hat of brown velvet to match. Her flowers were pink roses. Miss Emma Millicent Brook and Grant Reddick were their attendants. Miss Brook wore a blue tailored suit with large black picture hat. The ceremony was followed by a wedding supper at the Hotel Portland. Mr. Forrester attended school at the University of Illinois, where he was known among fraternal and athletic organizations. After being discharged from the army about eight months ago, he left his home in Chicago to take up work with the engineering department of the Portland Gas & Coke company. Miss Gilbert is also well known in social circles of Chicago and arrived in this city a few days ago. Mr. and Mrs. Forrester will be at home in Laurelhurst after January 1.

One of the delightful dancing parties of the season is that to be given by the Portland Association of Dancing Masters, with the assistance of Christiflora club, at Christensen's hall, December 29. The affair will be a benefit dance given for the purpose of providing funds to bring the post-convention of the American National Association of Dancing Masters to Portland in 1920.

Mr. and Mrs. Linus Vere Windnagle of Baker are in the city for the holidays, the guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred T. Warren. Mrs. Windnagle is a former Portland musician.

Miss Marie Brady will be hostess for an informal dancing party at her home on East Thirty-first street on New Year's eve.
