Federal Steamboat Inspectors of Oregon District to Examine Witnesses in San Francisco.

United States steamboat inspectors of the Oregon district will probably be called upon to fix responsibility for the wrecking of the Assoclated Oil tanker Chanslor last Thursday night near Cape Blanco, wherein 37 lives were lost.

The examination of witnesses will probably take place in San Francisco, as Captain Sawyer and members of the

After the evidence has been taken, however, the transcripts will be submitted to the Portland inspectors, Captains Edwards and Wynn, for decision as the case of the wreck lies within their district.

The steamer City of Topeka, which arrived in Portland Sunday night from San Francisco, was off Cape Blanco early Friday morning, but saw nothing of any of the wreckage of the Chanslor. The wreck had not yet been reported when the Topeka left Coos bay.

A few persons do no doubt record osses in the market but most of this recent selling has been done because the people who had the stocks had lost faith in them. Even the man who might want to record losses for tax purposes would not sell unless he believed he could get his securities back lower for he knows taxes for 1920 will be just as neavy as for 1919. There is no hope of any reduction of income taxes for sev-

It does seem to be a fact, however, that most of the bad news affecting the market is fully discounted in prices. Everybody understands now that fully 2.000,000 inhabitants of Europe will die of starvation this winter. That is no fault of America, but simply so much more to be charged to the account of William the murderer. It is too late low to save these people.

American business men are beginning to realize that Europe is really bankrupt and we are not displaying the proper sporting spirit-for a sporting spirit is eeded now to do business with Europe in addition to business enterprise. Europe cannot pay and Americans who sell goods abroad must take the gambling chance of being reimbursed only

Northwestern Bank Presents Employes Christmas Bonuses

The Northwestern National bank, in keeping with its policy for several years, again has remembered the services of its employes by making them a Christmas present of a substantial percentage of their year's salaries. Those who have been in the employ of the bank for over a year received a bonus of a full month's pay; those who have served the bank less than a year and more than six months, were given one half a month's ployed for less than six months received a benus of $25. In addition to the Christmas bonus given to the employes each year, the bank also gives at the end of each quarter during the year in the form of additional compensation, one tenth of a year's salary.
