Clubs, Society and Features

SOCIAL CALENDAR SATURDAY, JANUARY 10 Saturday's matinee at Little Theatre, 2:15 o'clock. Hard times party at East Side Business Men's club for Saturday evening. Program changes Monday afternoon. Tea given by Mrs. Lulu Dahl Miller for Mrs. Jane Burns Albert.

Success of Hard Times Social Promised

By Helen H. Hutchison EXTENSIVE plans have been made for the success of a hard times party to be given Saturday evening by the auxiliaries to Batteries A and B, Oregon field artillery, at the East Side Business Men's club. Mrs. H. F. Wheeler, who is president of the auxiliaries, has secured the aid of a large number of workers to assist with arrangements. Mrs. Maria Robinson will have charge of details for the affair.

Another event which is demanding much attention for Saturday is the children's matinee to be given at the Little Theatre at 2:15, under the auspices of the Drama League. The pupils of James John High school will present an operetta at this time under the direction of Miss Jean Woid. The affair is open to all juniors and their friends.

The Misses Belle and Ruth Shields left Thursday evening for Minnesota in answer to a wire announcing the serious illness of their mother.

The Utopia Juniors of Utopia Reg. bekah lodge held their last meeting at the home of Miss Bernice Wommelsdorf. Officers were nominated and resolutions made for the next meeting. This was to have been last Tuesday evening, but as many of the members were unable to be present it will be held on Tuesday evening, January 12. The meeting will be at the home of Miss Fawcett Treichel, 535 Mall street, in Sellwood.

Miss Ruth Gustafson became the bride of Albin Nelson, Tuesday evening, at the Swedish tabernacle. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson stopped at the Benson hotel while in town. They will make their home in Klickitat county.

A benefit tea will be given by the Ladies' Bkirk Cholin Aid society, January 13, at the Neighborhood house, Second and Woods streets.

Mrs. Minnie T. Horseman, past national senior vice president, installed officers of George Wright Relief corps No. 2 at a special meeting Wednesday night, as follows: President, Cora Ponnay; senior vice president, Anna Savage; junior vice president, Mary Dayton; secretary, Ella Gilmore; treasurer, Agnes Mastick; chaplain, Minnie Anthony; conductor, Margaret Storm; guard, Ella Frost; assistant conductor, Lillian Pointer; assistant guard, Ravena Spitzberger; patriotic instructor, Margaret Becker; press corps, president, Maud C. Gilman; musician, Lotta Murray; colorbearers, Emma Roberts, Isabel Stewart, Metta Koehler and Annie Kermod. Among the guests present were Past national President Cora M. Davis, Past National Senior Vice President Minnie T. Horseman, Past Senior Vice Commander in Chief J. G. Chambers, Past Department President Mary E. Chamberlain, Dept. Junior Vice President Lettie Capell and Commander Lamar of George Wright post No. 1, G. A. R.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Markham left Portland on Thursday evening for a vacation trip of 10 days' duration in the Mount Hood country. They hope to make a snow shoe trip during their journey and will return to the city the latter part of next week.

Kappa Kappa Gamma Alumnae will meet on Saturday afternoon at the home of Miss Mildred Broughton, 445 East Fifteenth street north. The hour is 2:30 o'clock. Miss Carin Degermark will tell of her work as reconstruction aide in physio-therapy in two army hospitals in New York city during the war period.

Alcazar Showing Matinee Daily

"Love is blind, but none so blind as those who will not see." In the mysterious play, "The Revelations of a Wife," which is the attraction looked at the Alcazar theatre daily, during the matinee showing. To describe that part of this play would perhaps take away the good that it teaches and would probably take away some of the mysterious atmosphere that surrounds it and spoil a real evening of mystery. There is a matinee daily for women only, at which a lecture on marriage and divorce is given. "The Revelations of a Wife" will play through Saturday night.

English Hall Copied A vast reception hall was constructed recently at the Vitagraph studio in Brooklyn at a cost of more than $12,000, to serve as a setting for a few scenes in "The Sporting Duchess," an Alcoa Joyce special production. The hall is of Tudor design and was copied from a famous English country home.

How good a cup of tea tastes after a fatiguing day of shopping or calling! How it drives away fatigue and gently stimulates your tired nerves! But it must be good tea with rich tea-flavor and free from the disagreeable taste and injurious effects of tannin. Schilling Tea is the fine practical tea of this country.

There are four flavors of Schilling Tea—Japan, Ceylon, India, Oolong, English Breakfast. All one quality. In parchment-lined moisture-proof packages. At grocery everywhere. A Schilling & Co. San Francisco

Devereaux Players Close Tomorrow

The Devereaux players entertained again last evening at the Auditorium with their delightful presentation of "The School for Scandal," which will be given for the last time tomorrow night. Tomorrow afternoon the company will present "She Stoops to Conquer." There will be no performance tonight.

Special Features For 'Cinema Murder'

Special exploitation is to be given the showing of "The Cinema Murder" at the Majestic during the forthcoming week. John D. Howard, representing Famous Players-Lasky as a "stunt man," will be in Portland to assist in putting it over. Marion Davies is the star of the production.

Living Costs Mount Steadily Food Shortage Predicted

The almost daily increase in the cost of foodstuffs, clothing, rental and other actual necessities makes the matter of meeting these abnormal conditions one of universal interest to women. One hears the high cost of living discussed over the back fence and in the drawing room, for the enormous increase prevails in regard to necessities even more than in the case of luxuries. Those who have the money are paying the prices asked; there are those who are contracting the bills, but not paying them, and there are others who admit that they are not buying as much milk or as many eggs as they know their children should have. Those who have the money are buying clothes; others are making over their old ones and still others who have been doing that for several years, have nothing left to make over.

ARE FIGURES AVAILABLE? Have you any facts or figures on your expenses four years ago and now that might be helpful to other perplexed housewives in solving their problems? We tell them to the household editor of The Journal, either by mail or on the telephone, Main 7173. "TINKER BOB" STORIES BY CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMB

The Punishment of Mr. Weasel TINKER BOB felt in his own heart that the birds of the forest were doing a dangerous thing to punish Mr. Weasel the Great by dropping him in the big hole at the top of the great oak tree. But if he should tell them they were wrong, they might feel that he favored Mr. Weasel. So he allowed the birds to have their way in this matter. "Now," said King Tinker Bob, "who shall take Mr. Weasel the Great to the big hole in the top of the great oak tree?" "The Great Horned Owl," said the King Sparrow, "because Mr. Owl is strong and Mr. Weasel cannot get away from him." "Why do you oppose Mr. Horned Owl's carrying the Weasel to the hole?" asked Tinker Bob. "I've been thinking," said Jerry. "And I believe it will not be 10 minutes after he is put in the big hole till he'll be out again and up to the same tricks." "Traitor! Traitor!" cried the birds on every side, thinking Jerry was trying to save Mr. Weasel. "Call me what you will," said Jerry, "but you will see who is right." "How shall he be carried?" asked Tinker Bob. "By the head, the back or the tail?" Tinker Bob knew it was dangerous for a bird to carry a Weasel with his head up, being an eagle while it was carrying him far in the sky. "By the tail," cried the Great Horned

"Tish" Makes a Fellow Laugh All Over

By S. R. Jr.

SIMPLY delightful and delightfully simple seems to sum up May Robson and "Tish," the Mary Roberts Rinehart story play in which Miss Robson opened an engagement at the Heilig last night. More rollicking in fun than "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary," and "A Little Bit Old Fashioned," which still stir happy memories in Miss Robson, "Tish" is really a side-splitter, with its melodramatic moments funnier than all the rest because one knows all the time that nothing very serious is going to happen while the irrepressible "Lettia Carberry" is on the job.

Of course there might have been serious complications in this particular "Tish" story had not Miss Carberry taken refuge for herself among "Lizzie" and "Aegle" in a vacant house, which, it so happens has been chosen as a rendezvous for a bunch of conspirators who purpose to bring a perfectly proper, intended young man and so ruin his love affair and his young life. How "Tish" comes into possession of the bribe money, and her efforts to get rid of it again, are corkingly funny.

Miss Robson's supporting cast is splendid, the work of Lillian Harmer as "Aegle," who is especially good when she loses her teeth, and of Lotta Blake, as "Lizzie," standing out particularly. "Tish" goes tonight, tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night. The cast includes: Mrs. Edleston-Hunt, Boss Dunlop; Annie Leighton, Lillian Harmer; Lizzie, Lotta Blake; James Robertson, J. J. Farrell; Charlie Sands, Fred Trowbridge; Pat Molloy, Martin X. Melvin; George Andrews, C. A. Winter; Aggie, Lillian Harmer; Edward Lewis, Wilbur Braun; Tish, May Robson; Luther Hardwell, Theodore Babcock.

Vocal entertainment and games will be enjoyed this evening at the Thompson school at 7:45. All people of the neighborhood are invited.

MAY ROBSON, who is at the Heilig this week in her new melodramatic farce, "Tish."

THE Stroller notices

THAT the reason some men walk to work rather than ride the streetcars is not that they want the exercise, but because they think they can't get along without smoking.

That sewer gas was leaking this morning somewhere in the neighborhood of Sixth and Yamhill streets.

That our nose knows.

That today's first page news gets but brief mention on an inside page tomorrow.

That news is just about as perishable a commodity as is.

That when some shoppers feel that they need a rest they go to a furniture store and try out some of the easy chairs.

That they may also have the latest phonograph records played for their entertainment.

That there's another house for rent on Sandy.

That from the heights, with the fog lying low and lights twinkling through here and there, Portland looks like a dream city.

That the city or someone responsible should take the fir trees off the streets.

That they have served their purpose.

That some of them have fallen from their suits and are sprawled all over the sidewalk.

That the result is that some peace-of-mind citizen pedestrians likewise go sprawling.

That we really need an automobile.

That a small one will do.

That if only those without sin were to cast the first stones, no one would have to dodge.

Wedding Illustrates History Is Repeater

Chehalis, Wash., Jan. 9.—C. R. Mitchell, an employee of the Coffman-Dobson Bank & Trust company of Chehalis, while on a New Year's visit with relatives in McMinnville, Or., was quietly married at Silverton, Or., New Year's day, to Miss Maude Putnam, former Chehalis high school teacher. The wedding occurred on the forty-second anniversary of Mrs. Mitchell's parents' marriage, in the same room and by the same minister, Rev. Bruce Warburton. Mitchell saw overseas service.

Board Indorses Smith-Towner Measure

By Vella Winner

MRS. SUE FRATIS of the National Education association spoke before the executive board of the Oregon Parent-Teacher association in behalf of the Smith-Towner bill that is now before congress and which provides for a secretary of education. It was voted to indorse the measure and to so inform Oregon senators and congressmen.

The legislative committee presented resolutions from the Grade Teachers' association asking that the board indorse necessary legislation to correct defects in present law establishing a court of domestic relations; also a resolution from the child caring institutions asking for a large appropriation for the wards of the state. Both resolutions were unanimously approved.
