Ashland, Medford, Marshfield and Newport Companies Will Form Battalion Under Vance.

Orders have been issued by the adjutant general of the National Guard of Oregon for the transferring of the military companies of the Third Oregon in Ashland, Marshfield and Medford to the coast artillery corps, which with a new company to be formed in Newport, will constitute a battalion under command of Major J. Vance, with headquarters at Medford.

Company B, at Ashland, will be known as the First company of the C. A. C. It is commanded by Captain Millard W. Grubb, First Lieutenant William M. Briggs and Second Lieutenant Lynn D. Mowat.

The Second company is at Medford, and was Company D of the Third Oregon. It is commanded by Captain M. C. Wright and Second Lieutenant V. B. Marshall.

The Third company, C. A. C., of Marshfield was formerly Company A, new Third Oregon. It is commanded by Captain Ben S. Fisher, First Lieutenant George C. Higgins and Second Lieutenant C. J. Larson. The Fourth company will be organized by Captain William Matthews at Newport.

The different companies of the new Coast Artillery corps are thus designated as they were before the war. The Third Oregon will also have its old designations restored. Company A is to be at McMinnville under Captain James C. Shirley and some experienced overseas veterans.

Company I is to be at Silverton, where many of the old Company I came from. It will be commanded by Captain G. Todd, First Lieutenant A. H. Young, Second Lieutenant A. I. Dahl. Company L is to have its old stand at Dallas under Captain Robert Kreson.

Company H is to have its old position and quarters in the Armory in Portland, under its former captain, F. M. West. Company I of this city, under Captain C. E. F. Russ, is to be designated as Company D. His lieutenants are V. D. Hall and H. G. Hansen.

Colonel D. C. Dentler, instructor-in-charge of the National Guard for Oregon, representing the U. S. A., is enthusiastic in praise of the quality of citizenship that is entering the new formations.

Mr. and Mrs. Resing Visit Hero Son Who Served in Siberia

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Resing, 51 East Twenty-sixth street, returned Monday from San Francisco, where they spent five weeks with their son, Lieutenant J. Walter Resing. He returned recently after 18 months' service in Siberia.

Lieutenant Resing, a Portland bank clerk, led a spectacular attack against a small Cossack force while in Siberia. A Cossack lieutenant, jealous of "Our Marie," a Russian peasant who mothered Resing's detachment, murdered her one night. Resing with 30 picked men stalked the murderer for a week, finding him. Twenty-nine of the Russian soldiers—all but two who escaped in the darkness—were killed by the Americans in the fight that followed.

Resing is at the Presidio, awaiting discharge, which he hopes to get within a month. He will return to Portland. Occasionally the short club knocks the persimmons before the long pole can get within reach.

Traffic Violators Pay Penalties in Municipal Court

"I never exceeded the speed limit since I started to drive an automobile in 1912," H. J. Scholz of 1837 Pennsylvania avenue told Judge Rossmann Tuesday when arraigned by motorcycle policeman Skoglund on a charge of driving 40 miles an hour.

Delayed by fog for more than 36 hours, the steamer Rose City reached Astoria with dock about 10 o'clock this morning with passengers and general freight, including a large consignment of cane sugar transhipped from Honolulu. The Rose City left Astoria Monday night.

Greenlaw of Camas was in too big a hurry Monday morning to get out of Portland. Motorcycle Policeman Wiles caught him on Union avenue traveling miles over the speed limit. He was fined $15. Other traffic fines imposed this morning are Peter Elmer, $2.00; W. R. Mainwaring, $5; R. Clark, $2; W. Johnson, $2; R. L. Ringler, $10, and J. I. Clawson, $15.
