

$5 WOOL VALUE IN MAN'S $75 SUIT, DECLARES SPEAKER

Use of Shoddy Resorted to by Makers of Garments in Many Instances, Says Wool Expert.

Salt Lake City, Jan. 21.—A definite step to show where the blame lies for extremely high prices for clothing and possible profiteering was taken at Tuesday's session of the fifty-fifth annual convention of the National Woolgrowers' association, when it was voted unanimously by the body to wire a statement of its views to United States Senator Capper of Kansas, who is starting an investigation from Washington, D. C. And has wired the association for its stand on the question.

SAYS PUBLIC IS DUPED
L. F. Malony of Chicago, secretary of the national sheep and wool bureau, in a speech here last week before the Utah state association, contended that the public is paying from $50 to $75 for a suit of clothes containing not more than $5 or $6 worth of wool and that clothing fabrics are represented as all wool when manufactured from shoddy or wool that has been used one or more times.

Establishment in the principal centers by the wool growers of the nation of selling agencies to dispose of their production direct to the manufacturer, instead of the present system by which brokerage and commission merchants are placed in the position of the middleman, was advocated today by Dr. S. W. McClure, retiring secretary, in his address, "A Market for Our Wool."

SPECULATORS ARE BLAMED

McClure pointed out that the wool of the country is handled almost exclusively by speculators whose interest it is to buy the wool at the lowest price and sell it at the highest price, and, in addition to this, fix conditions under which the wool is sold. If the prospects are for better prices, the dealer buys the wool outright, but if the prospects point to lower wool, then the dealer takes it on commission, he explained. In the one case, where there is probability of a profit, the dealer reaps the reward, but on the other hand, where a loss is imminent, the grower is left holding the sack, he declared, pointing out that the establishment by the growers of their own selling agencies would make them both the producer and the middleman and allow them to reap the reward as well as bear the burden.

NEW SECRETARY CHOSEN

The new secretary of the National Woolgrowers' association, succeeding Dr. S. W. McClure, will be F. H. Marshall of Washington, D. C., first assistant in the United States bureau of animal husbandry. Marshall announced today he would accept the position of secretary, tendered him by the association in convention. Dr. McClure has resigned to associate himself with the Cunningham Sheep & Land company in Pendleton, Or. Marshall has been in the service of the government six years. He was for several years a teacher of agriculture at the State University of Ohio and the State Agricultural college of Iowa and later in the agricultural college of Texas.

Cattle Raisers in Central Oregon to Halt Stock Thefts

Bend, Jan. 21.—Steps will be taken early in February by representatives of various stock-raisers' associations to reduce the number of thefts of cattle on the Central Oregon range. It is estimated that more than 200 head of livestock have been misappropriated in the last year. An effort to effect stronger regulations will be taken when the livestock raisers meet with Supervisor No. 12, Jacobson of the Deschutes forest, early next month.

A large number of smallpox cases have broken out in Bend during the past few days, compelling city officials to take drastic action toward quarantines.

The pay roll of the Shevlin-Hixson company was 37 per cent greater in 1919 than it was the previous year, $1,375,505 being paid in wages and salaries. The 1918 payroll was $998,892.

Army Shoes to Restock Local Federal Store

New army shoes—about 250,000 pairs of them—are on their way to Portland today. They will be sold at the government retail store, Fifth and Pine streets. After the war the war department inventoried 1,900,000 pairs of surplus shoes for general sale.

Packers Urged to Use More Care in Siberian Shipments

Urging American shippers to use better packing on goods sent to Siberia, Boris Milovich, commercial attaché of the Siberian consulate office at San Francisco, has forwarded a letter from a large shipping firm in Vladivostok to the foreign trade department of the Chamber of Commerce.

The letter explains that American goods are given severe handling at the points of transfer—Kobe and Yokohama—and again in unloading at Vladivostok. "Rough handling is done purposely in many instances," says the letter, "so that the cases may be broken open and goods taken from them. Sometimes as much as 60 per cent of a shipment of goods is stolen en route from America to Vladivostok."

Hearing Is Set for Roseburg Rate Case

Roseburg, Jan. 21.—The city of Roseburg has been notified by the public service commission that the hearing of the Douglas County Light & Power company rate case will be held here January 28. The company seeks to have the rates on both light and water raised materially.

Business Halts for Funeral of Woman

The Dalles, Jan. 21.—All business was suspended Tuesday afternoon while funeral services were conducted for Mrs. Anna Marshall Williams, who came to this city in 1861 and was a prime mover in some of the city's largest mercantile businesses. She was born in London, England, in 1840 and crossed the plains to Oregon in 1852. She first settled in Oregon City, eight children survive.

Youthful Suspects in Idaho Rounded Up

Twin Falls, Idaho, Jan. 21.—Deputy Sheriff Bob Redmon gathered in four burglar suspects—John Flynn, Erland Flower, S. J. Muller and Haren Hansen—boys ranging in age from 17 to 20, who are in the county jail, accused of various local robberies, culminating in the robbery of the Sitka Lakes grocery Thursday evening. About $40 was taken from this store.

New Arrests Made

Following the return of Evelyn Mack, 14, and Mabel Schroeder, 17, from Kalamazoo, where they went after escaping from the woman's protective bureau, Lloyd Born, 22, was arrested by Inspectors Swines and McCulloch, Tuesday, on a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Morad, charging contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Much more serious charges have been made against other alleged companions of the two girls, who may be arrested in a few days.

Lumbago? Lessen the pain BAUME ANALGESIQUE BENGUÉ

will give you quick relief. Put it on your shopping list
Thea. Lanning & Co., N. E.

ARMENIAN YOUTH REACHES PORTLAND AFTER LONG TRIP

17-Year-Old Nephew of Cartozian Brothers Shows Himself to Be Master of Many Difficulties.

With a good sense of direction, but without knowledge of English or modern money values as conceived by American railroad companies, Nereese Cartozian, 17-year-old nephew of the Cartozian brothers of Portland, has arrived here to make his home after travels that brought him from Siberia, Turkey, to Oregon, alone.

Notwithstanding the hazards of such a journey without a companion, and even without acquaintances speaking his own tongue, the Armenian youngster can account for every cent of money he had when he started.

PARENTS WARN HIM

When the lad left the parental roof to cast his lot with his uncles and cousins in Portland he was repeatedly admonished that his way was beset by many trials—most of them in the form of gentlemen who traffic in the innocence of young immigrants and under pretext of friendship fleece them of their meagre funds. Nereese was successfully admonished and he testified that throughout the trip he carefully avoided untoward acquaintances.

With the aid of American missionaries in Turkey the boy got a government pass to go to Constantinople "for military training," since, had his real intention been known to the authorities, he would have been restrained from leaving his home city. At Constantinople other church folk aided the traveler in getting his passports.

FIRST CLASPS MONEY

Arrived at New York after some narrow escapes in Paris and other French cities where he kept his fist tightly closed about his purse, the only knowledge the boy had of Portland and Oregon was that "they were a long way off." But he didn't know how much money would be demanded to bring him here.

He hauled out an envelope bearing his uncles' business address and wrote upon its face "$20," with a question mark. The agent indicated that such a price would be too small. The lad wrote various sums, each with a question mark, until he gave up the effort to guess the fare and had the agent write it. The figure went above $100 and the lad employed his best talents in jockeying for the difference. Eventually the agent succumbed and sold the ticket for the $100 and paid the difference himself. Meanwhile the Portland uncles were

ARMENIAN YOUTH REACHES PORTLAND AFTER LONG TRIP

17-Year-Old Nephew of Cartozian Brothers Shows Himself to Be Master of Many Difficulties.

With a good sense of direction, but without knowledge of English or modern money values as conceived by American railroad companies, Nereese Cartozian, 17-year-old nephew of the Cartozian brothers of Portland, has arrived here to make his home after travels that brought him from Siberia, Turkey, to Oregon, alone.

Notwithstanding the hazards of such a journey without a companion, and even without acquaintances speaking his own tongue, the Armenian youngster can account for every cent of money he had when he started.

PARENTS WARN HIM

When the lad left the parental roof to cast his lot with his uncles and cousins in Portland he was repeatedly admonished that his way was beset by many trials—most of them in the form of gentlemen who traffic in the innocence of young immigrants and under pretext of friendship fleece them of their meagre funds. Nereese was successfully admonished and he testified that throughout the trip he carefully avoided untoward acquaintances.

With the aid of American missionaries in Turkey the boy got a government pass to go to Constantinople "for military training," since, had his real intention been known to the authorities, he would have been restrained from leaving his home city. At Constantinople other church folk aided the traveler in getting his passports.

FIRST CLASPS MONEY

Arrived at New York after some narrow escapes in Paris and other French cities where he kept his fist tightly closed about his purse, the only knowledge the boy had of Portland and Oregon was that "they were a long way off." But he didn't know how much money would be demanded to bring him here.

He hauled out an envelope bearing his uncles' business address and wrote upon its face "$20," with a question mark. The agent indicated that such a price would be too small. The lad wrote various sums, each with a question mark, until he gave up the effort to guess the fare and had the agent write it. The figure went above $100 and the lad employed his best talents in jockeying for the difference. Eventually the agent succumbed and sold the ticket for the $100 and paid the difference himself. Meanwhile the Portland uncles were

ARMENIAN YOUTH REACHES PORTLAND AFTER LONG TRIP

17-Year-Old Nephew of Cartozian Brothers Shows Himself to Be Master of Many Difficulties.

With a good sense of direction, but without knowledge of English or modern money values as conceived by American railroad companies, Nereese Cartozian, 17-year-old nephew of the Cartozian brothers of Portland, has arrived here to make his home after travels that brought him from Siberia, Turkey, to Oregon, alone.

Notwithstanding the hazards of such a journey without a companion, and even without acquaintances speaking his own tongue, the Armenian youngster can account for every cent of money he had when he started.

PARENTS WARN HIM

When the lad left the parental roof to cast his lot with his uncles and cousins in Portland he was repeatedly admonished that his way was beset by many trials—most of them in the form of gentlemen who traffic in the innocence of young immigrants and under pretext of friendship fleece them of their meagre funds. Nereese was successfully admonished and he testified that throughout the trip he carefully avoided untoward acquaintances.

With the aid of American missionaries in Turkey the boy got a government pass to go to Constantinople "for military training," since, had his real intention been known to the authorities, he would have been restrained from leaving his home city. At Constantinople other church folk aided the traveler in getting his passports.

FIRST CLASPS MONEY

Arrived at New York after some narrow escapes in Paris and other French cities where he kept his fist tightly closed about his purse, the only knowledge the boy had of Portland and Oregon was that "they were a long way off." But he didn't know how much money would be demanded to bring him here.

He hauled out an envelope bearing his uncles' business address and wrote upon its face "$20," with a question mark. The agent indicated that such a price would be too small. The lad wrote various sums, each with a question mark, until he gave up the effort to guess the fare and had the agent write it. The figure went above $100 and the lad employed his best talents in jockeying for the difference. Eventually the agent succumbed and sold the ticket for the $100 and paid the difference himself. Meanwhile the Portland uncles were

ARMENIAN YOUTH REACHES PORTLAND AFTER LONG TRIP

17-Year-Old Nephew of Cartozian Brothers Shows Himself to Be Master of Many Difficulties.

With a good sense of direction, but without knowledge of English or modern money values as conceived by American railroad companies, Nereese Cartozian, 17-year-old nephew of the Cartozian brothers of Portland, has arrived here to make his home after travels that brought him from Siberia, Turkey, to Oregon, alone.

Notwithstanding the hazards of such a journey without a companion, and even without acquaintances speaking his own tongue, the Armenian youngster can account for every cent of money he had when he started.

PARENTS WARN HIM

When the lad left the parental roof to cast his lot with his uncles and cousins in Portland he was repeatedly admonished that his way was beset by many trials—most of them in the form of gentlemen who traffic in the innocence of young immigrants and under pretext of friendship fleece them of their meagre funds. Nereese was successfully admonished and he testified that throughout the trip he carefully avoided untoward acquaintances.

With the aid of American missionaries in Turkey the boy got a government pass to go to Constantinople "for military training," since, had his real intention been known to the authorities, he would have been restrained from leaving his home city. At Constantinople other church folk aided the traveler in getting his passports.

FIRST CLASPS MONEY

Arrived at New York after some narrow escapes in Paris and other French cities where he kept his fist tightly closed about his purse, the only knowledge the boy had of Portland and Oregon was that "they were a long way off." But he didn't know how much money would be demanded to bring him here.

He hauled out an envelope bearing his uncles' business address and wrote upon its face "$20," with a question mark. The agent indicated that such a price would be too small. The lad wrote various sums, each with a question mark, until he gave up the effort to guess the fare and had the agent write it. The figure went above $100 and the lad employed his best talents in jockeying for the difference. Eventually the agent succumbed and sold the ticket for the $100 and paid the difference himself. Meanwhile the Portland uncles were

ARMENIAN YOUTH REACHES PORTLAND AFTER LONG TRIP

17-Year-Old Nephew of Cartozian Brothers Shows Himself to Be Master of Many Difficulties.

With a good sense of direction, but without knowledge of English or modern money values as conceived by American railroad companies, Nereese Cartozian, 17-year-old nephew of the Cartozian brothers of Portland, has arrived here to make his home after travels that brought him from Siberia, Turkey, to Oregon, alone.

Notwithstanding the hazards of such a journey without a companion, and even without acquaintances speaking his own tongue, the Armenian youngster can account for every cent of money he had when he started.

PARENTS WARN HIM

When the lad left the parental roof to cast his lot with his uncles and cousins in Portland he was repeatedly admonished that his way was beset by many trials—most of them in the form of gentlemen who traffic in the innocence of young immigrants and under pretext of friendship fleece them of their meagre funds. Nereese was successfully admonished and he testified that throughout the trip he carefully avoided untoward acquaintances.

With the aid of American missionaries in Turkey the boy got a government pass to go to Constantinople "for military training," since, had his real intention been known to the authorities, he would have been restrained from leaving his home city. At Constantinople other church folk aided the traveler in getting his passports.

FIRST CLASPS MONEY

Arrived at New York after some narrow escapes in Paris and other French cities where he kept his fist tightly closed about his purse, the only knowledge the boy had of Portland and Oregon was that "they were a long way off." But he didn't know how much money would be demanded to bring him here.

He hauled out an envelope bearing his uncles' business address and wrote upon its face "$20," with a question mark. The agent indicated that such a price would be too small. The lad wrote various sums, each with a question mark, until he gave up the effort to guess the fare and had the agent write it. The figure went above $100 and the lad employed his best talents in jockeying for the difference. Eventually the agent succumbed and sold the ticket for the $100 and paid the difference himself. Meanwhile the Portland uncles were

ARMENIAN YOUTH REACHES PORTLAND AFTER LONG TRIP

17-Year-Old Nephew of Cartozian Brothers Shows Himself to Be Master of Many Difficulties.

With a good sense of direction, but without knowledge of English or modern money values as conceived by American railroad companies, Nereese Cartozian, 17-year-old nephew of the Cartozian brothers of Portland, has arrived here to make his home after travels that brought him from Siberia, Turkey, to Oregon, alone.

Notwithstanding the hazards of such a journey without a companion, and even without acquaintances speaking his own tongue, the Armenian youngster can account for every cent of money he had when he started.

PARENTS WARN HIM

When the lad left the parental roof to cast his lot with his uncles and cousins in Portland he was repeatedly admonished that his way was beset by many trials—most of them in the form of gentlemen who traffic in the innocence of young immigrants and under pretext of friendship fleece them of their meagre funds. Nereese was successfully admonished and he testified that throughout the trip he carefully avoided untoward acquaintances.

With the aid of American missionaries in Turkey the boy got a government pass to go to Constantinople "for military training," since, had his real intention been known to the authorities, he would have been restrained from leaving his home city. At Constantinople other church folk aided the traveler in getting his passports.

FIRST CLASPS MONEY

Arrived at New York after some narrow escapes in Paris and other French cities where he kept his fist tightly closed about his purse, the only knowledge the boy had of Portland and Oregon was that "they were a long way off." But he didn't know how much money would be demanded to bring him here.

He hauled out an envelope bearing his uncles' business address and wrote upon its face "$20," with a question mark. The agent indicated that such a price would be too small. The lad wrote various sums, each with a question mark, until he gave up the effort to guess the fare and had the agent write it. The figure went above $100 and the lad employed his best talents in jockeying for the difference. Eventually the agent succumbed and sold the ticket for the $100 and paid the difference himself. Meanwhile the Portland uncles were

WALLY REID

IN PETER B. KYNE'S

"THE VALLEY OF THE GIANTS"

Now Until Friday Night

Mack Sennett Comedy, "The Little Widow"

The Big Surprise "FEB. 7"

"The Show For You" SUNSET To Take Her to"

Take Downtown Luncheon in the Tea Room, 4th Floor—a Pleasant Place to Meet Your Friends—Service Daily 11 to 2:30—Light Luncheon Service, Basement
Portland Agency for Gossard, Nemo and Bien Jolie Corsets—Richardson's Quality Linen—Carter's Knit Underwear—Hoover and Sweeper-Vac Elec. Cleaners

Nestle Hair Waving

—Work done by experts who know how to do it properly.
—Beauty Shop, on Second floor.

LADIES' HOME JOURNAL PATTERNS GIVE BEST RESULTS —TRY THEM AND BE CONVINCED!

Olds, Wortman & King

The Standard Store of the Northwest
Reliable Merchandise—Reliable Methods

TRUNKS SUITCASES AND BAGS —RELIABLE MAKES AT REASONABLE PRICES THIRD FLOOR

Mail Orders Filled

by experienced shoppers and forwarded the same day as received. Make use of this special service.

Annual Inventory Sales All Over the Store

Double Trading Stamps With Charge or Cash Purchases

Girls' Wash Dresses

Second Floor—Special lines of Girls' Wash Dresses have been greatly reduced in price for the Inventory Sale. Now is a good time to buy the children's school dresses at a specially good saving. —Sizes 8 to intermediate, but not all sizes in each style. Made up in plaid ginghams, fancy percales and also plain chambrays. —LOT 1—Girls' Wash $2.98 Dresses, special now at $4.98 —LOT 2—Girls' Wash $4.98 Dresses special now at $6.98 —LOT 3—Girls' Wash Dresses special now at $6.98

Basement Sales

Basement—WOMEN'S DRESSES of wool serge and wool Jersey. Inventory sale $12.95 —WOMEN'S DRESSES of wool Jersey, poplin and serge. Inventory Sale $16.95 —GIRLS' wool Dresses in many smart styles, Sale $5.95, $10.50 —WOMEN'S WAISTS, odd lines in Georgette Crepe and Crepe de Chine, special $2.48 —MUSLIN UNDERWEAR, Night Gowns, Envelope Chemise 95c and Skirts, special at only

Plush Coats

—Tomorrow morning the Garment Store will feature a special sale of Women's and Misses' high class Plush Coats. The sale prices are much below regular. Very latest midwinter styles. Best quality of material.

Women's Plush Coats At $29.95

Second Floor—Women's Plush Coats in many attractive styles, with full loose back, belted front, with convertible collars and deep pockets. Full lined. Excellent range $29.95 of sizes. Inventory Sale price $29.95

Women's Plush Coats At $39.98

Second Floor—These Coats are made up in extra good quality Plush and are very dressy. Loose effects, also the popular belted styles, trimmed with buttons. Full lined. Exceptional Coats at $39.98

Georgette Crepe Waists $6.48

Second Floor—A group of high class Waists from our regular stock, priced for immediate cleanup. Of Georgette Crepe and Crepe de Chine, in all the season's most favored shades. Embroidered and beaded effects in many beautiful patterns. These come in a good range of $6.48 sizes and are priced specially in the Inventory Sale at only

OWK Coffee 43c lb.

Fourth Floor—No deliveries except with other Grocery purchases and we reserve the right to limit quantity to the customer. OWK Coffee special at, the pound 43c

60c Teas 49c

Fourth Floor—No deliveries except with other purchases made in the Grocery department. English Breakfast, Uncolored Japan, 49c Ceylon Teas, special, pound

Boys' Suits At $5.95

Main Floor—Broken assortment of sizes from 7 to 18. Good, serviceable suits, made up in tweeds and novelty mixtures. Special price in the Inventory Sale $5.95

Boys' Pants 98c

—Boys' Pants in fancy mixtures in a broken range of sizes. Special, pair

Women's $13 Boots At $6.50 Pair

—GREAT HALF PRICE SALE of 300 pairs Women's Laced Boots. A two-day event that should crowd the shoe section from opening to closing time. This is footwear from our regular stock, priced ONE-HALF

$13 Laced Boots At $6.50

Main Floor—Women's smart dressy Boots of fieldmouse kid. Laced pattern with cloth toes, welt soles, medium heel and toe. These sell the regular way at $13.00 the pair. All sizes and widths $6.50 as special Inventory Sale price

$13 Gray Kid Boots at $6.50

All Sizes and Widths in This Lot
Main Floor—Women's Laced Boots of splendid quality, gray kid. Ideal for street wear. Shown in laced patterns with cloth tops, welt soles, medium heel and neat pointed toe. Regular $13 Boots, special $6.50

Cedar Chests—New Lot Just In

Third Floor—The next time you are in the store take a few moments' time and see this wonderful display of Cedar Chests. Dozens of different styles and sizes, with or without trays. Prices are from $19.90 up to $65.00

Jewel "New Way" Combination Range

—It Bakes Better!

Here is a Combination Range built in the "New Way" that eliminates all the trouble-making features of ranges that burn gas, coal or wood. Made in beautiful blue or gray porcelain enamel finish with large baking oven, combination grate, large warming oven and many other features. If you are thinking of buying a Combination Range, call and let us explain the "New Way" plan of construction. You will realize at once that the New Way Detroit Jewel is the simplest, easiest operated and wonderful improvement over other Combination Ranges. Ask about our Easy Payment Plan.—Dept., Third Floor.

One-Minute Electric Washers

—The drudgery of Wash Day is a thing of the past in the home equipped with One Minute Washer. One of these machines will do the family washing in a surprisingly short time and at cost of about 3c per hour. $2 down, $2 a week.—Dept., 3d Floor.

Inventory Sale of Plain White China

—Department, 3d Floor
—We have decided to close out several special lines of Plain White China, such as Sugars, Creamers, Vases, Bon Bon Dishes and other articles suitable for hand decorating. Sale starts tomorrow morning.

Note These Extremely Low Prices

- Plain White China Cold Cream Boxes, special 35c
- Covered Bon Bon Dishes, specially priced, 30c
- Large Oval Trays, two handles, sale at $3.30
- Large size Vases, in the special sale, only $2.15
- Tea Strainers, 40c; Cracker and Cheese Dishes, 35c; Tea Pots, Chocolate Pots, Sugars, Creamers, etc., all are marked at correspondingly low prices.

Fire Place Fixtures

—Inventory Sale!
Third Floor—Black Andirons in many different styles and sizes. Special $9.60-$10.80-$12-$14
—Black Spark Guards, any size, $3.58, $3.98, $5.18
—Black Andirons, special at $20, $23.20, $26.80
—Black Fire Sets priced at $5.18, $5.98, $9.98

Electric Appliances For the Home

Third Floor—Electric Toasters $3.48; Electric Stoves $3.75; Electric Percolators $11.00 to $22.50; Electric Irons at $6.75; Electric Egg Boilers $6.25 to $7.00; Electric Warming Pads priced at $6.75

Upholstered Furniture At Reduced Prices

Fourth Floor—Choose any piece of Overstuffed and Upholstered Furniture this week at a special low price. Davenport, Chairs and Rockers in many styles. Double Trading Stamps given with Purchases.

Davenports	Chairs
—$150 Denim Upholst'd Davenport $119.00	—$56.75 Tapestry Upholstered Chair $48.75
—$190 Velour Upholst'd Davenport $167.50	—$125.00 Tapestry Upholstered Chair $99.50
—$200 Tapestry Upholst'd Davenport $175.00	Rockers
—$225 Velour Upholst'd Davenport $198.00	—$57.75 Tapestry Upholstered Rocker $49.50
—$90 Chaise Lounge, $77.50	—$115.00 Tapestry Upholstered Rocker $95.00

Priced very special

Sale of Rag Rugs 59c to $2.97

—3d Floor
—Rag Rugs in hit-and-miss patterns—also a few in good plain colors.
—18x36 inch Rugs, special at 59c
—25x50 inch Rag Rugs, special 98c
—30x60 inch Rag Rugs, special $1.98
—36x72 inch Rag Rugs, special $2.97
—PRO-LINOLEUM RUGS for bath-rooms and kitchen. Size 3 ft. by 4 ft. 6 inches, at $1.57
—LINOLEUM RUGS, size 4, 4x6 feet, priced special at $4.98