

MISS MARGARET HEWETT, daughter of the late Henry Hewett and Mrs. Hewett, whose engagement to Guy Richards was announced at a smart tea at the home of Mrs. Irving Webster last week. Miss Kathryn Hoyt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Hoyt, who left with her mother recently to spend some weeks in the South.

Teas for Brides Soon to Be Are Principal Events

By Helen H. Hutchison

HOSPITALITY offered to small gatherings in an informal manner during the past week and benefit functions still reminding us that the recent war is still making its demands have been the general program for the past week in social circles. The engagement of another of Portland's charming maids was made known on Monday at a smart tea at the home of Mrs. Irving Webster, who invited her guests ostensibly to honor Miss Esther Tucker, whose engagement to Robert Livingstone Jr. was announced only a few days ago. The last name to be placed on the list of brides-elect is that of Miss Margaret Hewett, who will become the bride of Guy Richards sometime during the summer months.

Teas, luncheons and dinners for the pleasure of Miss Tucker and Miss Hewett, who are cousins, and for Miss Helen Honeyman and Miss Antoinette Mears have offered diversion for a large number of the members of the social contingent and will fill the coming week.

The visit of Hugh Walpole, the English novelist, who came to Portland to lecture under the auspices of the Drama League, was the occasion of a delightful gathering at the University club on Thursday evening when the Drama League members entertained for him at dinner. A representative audience of discriminating folk greeted the speaker at the Masonic temple at the lecture hour.

Plans for the coming Mardi Gras fete to be given on Tuesday, February 17, at the University club, just before the Lenten period puts a ban upon social gallies, offer an absorbing topic for the next few weeks.

Announcement was made Tuesday of the engagement of Miss Margaret Hewett to Guy Richards of this city. The news was told at a tea for which Mrs. Irving L. Webster was hostess at her home in Kearney street. Miss Hewett is the daughter of the late Henry Hewett and Mrs. Hewett and makes her home with her mother on Mount Zion road, Hillsdale. Miss Hewett is a sister of Mrs. William H. Warren and of Mrs. Lewis McArthur. Mr. Richards is engaged in business in the city and during the recent war served with the British army.

The tea was an unusually interesting function and was given in honor of Miss Esther Tucker, whose engagement to Robert Livingstone Jr. was recently announced. Presiding at the tea table for the occasion were Mrs. Ernest F. Tucker and Mrs. Walter J. Burns.

Miss Margaret Hewett and Miss Esther Tucker, who is to be the bride of Robert Livingstone Jr. in the near future, will share honors this week at a number of functions given for their pleasure. This afternoon Mrs. MacCormac Snow will be hostess for a smart tea at her home in East Fifteenth street. Presiding at the tea table for the occasion will be Mrs. Lewis McArthur, Mrs. G. F. Engleby of San Francisco, who is a sister of Mrs. Snow; Mrs. Irving Webster and Mrs. Mortimer Hall Hartwell. On Tuesday Mrs. Elliott Corbett will be a luncheon hostess in honor of the two brides-elect and on Wednesday Mrs. Erskine Wood will entertain for them at a similar function. On Saturday evening Mrs. Henry Ladd Corbett will preside over a dinner party for Mrs. Wallace McCannant has invited a few friends in for the tea hours, honoring Miss Tucker, on Monday.

Dr. and Mrs. Roy McDaniels and Miss Dorothy Hunsaker have given up their apartments in the Multnomah hotel and have taken a house at North Twenty-fourth and Overton streets.

Buffet Supper And Dance Is Hunt Club Plan

A BUFFET supper and dance will be an event of Saturday evening at the clubhouse of the Portland Hunt club at Garden Home. The hours are from 7 until 12 o'clock midnight. Only a limited number of reservations may be made for the affair because of the lack of space in the clubhouse for an event of this character. The affair will be informal.

James A. Beckett is chairman of the house committee and of arrangements for the event, other members of the committee include: Miss Carrie W. Flinders, Mrs. C. Edward Grelle, Mrs. Ralph W. Wilbur, Mrs. James Nicol and A. M. Cronin.

For the coming month Natt McDougall announces a number of interesting events. On February 7 a ladies' open paper chase will be held, starting from the Hunt club at 3 o'clock. Fred Martin and James Lemon are the hosts for this event. The trophy will be a silver cup. On February 13 a night masquerade ride will be held at the Portland Riding academy at 8 o'clock. Unusually interesting features are planned to make this occasion a delightful one. On the following Sunday morning members of the club will start from the Portland Riding academy at 9 o'clock and will enjoy a cross country ride with breakfast at the Hunt club. A point to point race will be held from the club on Saturday afternoon, February 21, at 3 o'clock, for the men of the club. A closed paper chase follows on February 28, starting from the Barnes road line one mile west of Calvary cemetery at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Ralph W. Wilbur and Mrs. James Nicol will be the hosts.

New Year's Hop Event Saturday At Hill Academy

LARGE American flags covering many square yards of wall space and garlands of greenery with fragrant fir boughs were used last night in decorating the armory at Hill Military academy, where about 55 attractive young girls, all dressed in the daintiest and smartest of party frocks were entertained as the guests of the faculty, officers and cadets of Hill Military academy. The occasion was the formal New Year's hop of the academy. Patronesses for the evening were Mrs. Cyrus A. Dolph, Mrs. William MacMaster, Mrs. J. B. Montgomery, Mrs. A. E. Rocky, Mrs. R. C. Miss Helen Honeyman, whose marriage to Arthur Trumbull Brown will be an event of February 4, has been the inspiration for much informal entertaining since the announcement of her engagement recently. On Friday afternoon Miss Mary Bacon was hostess for a tea in honor of the bride-elect and this afternoon Miss Lettie Mears will entertain at a smart tea honoring Miss Honeyman and her fiancé. On Saturday Miss Gladys Dunne was hostess for an informal luncheon and theatre party for Miss Honeyman.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Noyes were dinner hosts at a smartly appointed party Wednesday evening at the Hotel Portland, given in honor of Mrs. Orlino Donatello Ronchi of San Francisco. The table was centered with carvations and ferns and covers were placed for 12. Following dinner the party occupied boxes at the Alcazar. Those present were Mrs. Ronchi, Mr. and Mrs. James McCracken, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Mack, Mrs. Robert C. Crouch, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morris, Jordan Zan and the hosts.

The marriage of Miss Elsie Wilson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Wilson, and J. B. Way was an event of New Year's evening at Salem. The bride is a Portland girl and has many friends in the city, who attended the ceremony in the capitol city, where her parents now make their home. Mr. and Mrs. Way will reside in Salem.

A valentine party will be an event of the near future at the Portland Heights club, given by the Misses Martha Shull, Eloise Huggins, Ninon Trenkman and Mable McKibben. Guests for the occasion will include the members of the younger set, and the affair will be of unusual interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Malarkey left Portland on Monday evening for San Francisco, where they will sail January 23 for the Orient on the S. S. Sanyo Maru. They expect to visit the Philippine islands and Japan and China, returning to Portland about April 1.
