

MAN IS SERIOUSLY INJURED IN CRASH; POLICE HUNT DRIVER

John W. Lynch Receives Fractured Skull When Thrown Through Windshield of Auto.

Police were searching for Ralph W. Carae of the Athens hotel, who they say figured in an auto accident at 5:30 Sunday afternoon near the corner of Fourth and Madison streets when John W. Lynch, 748 East Twenty-sixth street, received a fractured skull and other injuries which hospital attendants at St. Vincent's believe will cause his death.

Police MISINFORMED Carae, according to the police, immediately reported the accident, but describing it as being very trivial and asserting that no one was hurt. He immediately disappeared and at a late hour had not been apprehended.

Waller, the driver of the machine, was the only occupant seriously injured. Other occupants of the machine were: Mrs. Frank L. Waller, Mr. and Mrs. George Prigmore, Stelwyn apartments; C. A. Millman, 357 East Forty-eighth street, north A. C. Bailey, Portland; and George L. Sears, of Sears & Prigmore Drug company. They were all badly shaken up and shocked.

WALLER VERY ILL Hospital authorities reported Sunday night that Waller was suffering from several fractured bones and possibly from internal injuries.

Sudden disorder in the steering gear was given as the cause of the accident. Something gave way without any warning, making it impossible to guide the machine, according to Mrs. Waller.

Mrs. Waller stated that the machine was going about 25 miles an hour at the time of the accident. The party of motorists had been on a visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shorts in Vancouver.

Waller was crushed against the steering wheel by the impact of the tumbling machine, which turned over on one side. He was also cut by flying glass from the windshield.

Forsakes Art for Food Tilden Turns Machinist

Douglas Tilden, sculptor and creator of Portland's soldiers' monument in Plaza blocks and of notable San Francisco monuments, has gone to work as a machinist because he finds art does not yield a livelihood.

Creator of Portland's Soldiers' Monument in Plaza Blocks Finds New Occupation.

Tilden, who is a celebrated deaf mute, has forsaken, temporarily at least, the chisel and the mallet of his life work and has become a machinist.

Eight hours a day—sometimes longer when there is a great rush of work—he stands before a turning lathe in a shop at Third and Folsom streets, San Francisco, earning the steady wage he could not by the sale of his works of art.

According to Tilden, the war has caused a great public indifference to art. There has been no demand for sculpture for several years, he says, and he has been forced to accept steady employment that he may provide himself with the necessities of life.

Being a machinist is not distasteful to the famous sculptor. He says that in his youth he wished to be a machinist, but could not get employment because of his physical defect.

Some day he hopes art will have a revival and once more commissions will come to him.

Some of Tilden's more famous works, in addition to the Portland soldiers' monument include "The Mechanics," "Native Sons" and "Volunteers" monuments, all in Market street, San Francisco; "Achilles" on the campus at the University of California; "Junipero Serra" and the "Baseball Player," Golden Gate park, San Francisco.

Adams Is to Seek Legislative Post of David H. Graham

Eugene, Jan. 26.—Following the announcement of David H. Graham that he would not stand as a candidate again for representative from Lane county, E. J. Adams, former state highway commissioner and good roads booster, has entered the race for the place. Adams was a member of the Michigan legislature in 1897-99, serving as speaker of the house for the 1899 session.

German Who Sank Lusitania Goes Mad

Copenhagen, Jan. 26.—The commander of the U-boat U. 26, the Lusitania, has been sentenced to a mad house in Germany, according to two former U-boat officers, who are now working here as fishermen. They also say that it was the U-23, not the U-26, that torpedoed the big liner.

RECLAMATION BILL SHIES AT DIRECT APPROPRIATIONS

Sentiment at Washington Is Apparently Veering Around to Plans for Bonding Measure.

Washington, Jan. 26.—(WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL)—Because of the manifestly strong opposition to any plan of large direct appropriation for reclamation, the Western governors and others who came in force to plead the cause of irrigation, are expected in the end to divert their plans to a bond bill.

Some think that the ultimate plan will be along the line of the Chamberlain-Smith bill to put such guarantees behind the security issues of irrigation districts, organized under state law and approved by national authority, as will enable these districts to go ahead for themselves.

Such is the belief of Representative Addison T. Smith of Idaho, joint author of the Chamberlain-Smith bill, who has been following events closely, and believes the solution will come along these lines, under which the credit of the government will be extended, without additional advance of money. He believes there is a reasonable hope for legislation of this pattern.

Another advantage which this kind of a bill possesses is that it covers drainage projects as well as irrigation, and will apply anywhere that suitable projects may be found. A bill applying only to reclamation of arid and semi-arid lands, immediately falls under the critical eye of eastern members, who assert that the west has already been liberally dealt with.

The inclusion of drainage districts for swamp and overflow lands adds interest for southern members and also some in eastern states. When it is remembered that there are 435 members of the house, that all the far western states have together only 23 members and that the state of New York by itself has 42, it becomes apparent that the west has need of outside assistance.

LAWYER FOR REDS HOPS ON NEWSPAPERS

point was surprising to counsel for the prosecution.

In his argument Vanderver branded as ridiculous the statement that prospective jurors had been recipients of threats against their lives, and challenged refusal.

During the arguments in the morning, hundreds of spectators were disappointed, the courtroom doors had been closed to all but attorneys, the defendants and press representatives.

The target for the principal attack in relation to the charges of prejudicial propaganda by Vanderver was the Centralia Chamber of Commerce for a leaflet sent out, he alleged, throughout Gray Harbor county by thousands.

SEVENTEEN HAD COPIES At a meeting of the Aberdeen Central council, which Vanderver attended last week, he asserted of the 25 men present, 17 had received copies of this publication, which included an editorial from a Centralia newspaper and additional content.

"These were sent out after January 7," the attorney said, "and were sent in a deliberate effort to intimidate jurors in this county after the venue had been changed from Lewis county."

Affidavits submitted by Vanderver also accused the Dalles Washingtonian of Hoquiam, the World of Aberdeen and the Vidette of Montesano of carrying on the alleged propaganda campaign.

"On mature consideration, I have come to the conclusion that the proper matter should be awarded the Vidette of Montesano for its villainous attack of January 2," Vanderver added.

LEGION ON HAND Scores of members of the American Legion are here, many of them in uniform. Headquarters of the Legion have been opened in the city hall and a large dormitory for Legionnaires has been opened at a local garage and this was filled Sunday night. The quarters are guarded by armed men in military uniform.

Vanderver submitted three affidavits in support of his contention for change of venue. Two of these were from residents of Gray Harbor county, Roy Lampitt of Hoquiam and Joseph H. Schroyer of Aberdeen, employed as investigators for the Defense Washingtonian and he was an overseas Legionnaire, having spent 15 months in France with the Fourth division. The affidavit stated that Lampitt had spent three weeks and had interviewed 200 people of the community about Montesano, finding them intensely partisan against the defendants. Schroyer had also been employed for the same purpose and his statement was much the same.

CALLED DRAFT DODGER The affidavits were served on attorneys for the prosecution Sunday and the latter immediately became busy with counter affidavits. At a late hour their contents had not been divulged, but it was said they impugned the character of the affidavits for the defense, especially accusing Lampitt of being a draft dodger.

The defense submitted a third general statement, signed by all the defendants.

Wool Men Adopt French Girls Pay for Orphans at College

Walla Walla, Wash., Jan. 26.—Mademoiselle Laquette Dausat and Suzanne Molnard, two French orphans now at the Washington State college, will be supported there during their entire college course by the Washington State Woolgrowers' association, as a result of action taken by the sheepmen at the close of their convention here.

The woolgrowers formally placed $1000 to the credit of the French girls, and directed Dr. E. O. Holland, president of the college, to tell them there was more available when this was exhausted. The message then stated: "Combined wealth of organization, $30,000,000."

The young women, who are beauties, judging from their photographs, shown at the convention, have been attending the college since last September, and A. D. Dunn of Yakima, prominent Shorthorn and sheep breeder, personally pledged their expenses, but he told

MANY LEAVE CENTRALIA FOR TRIALS AT MONTESANO

Centralia, Wash., Jan. 26.—A general exodus of citizens from Centralia occurred Sunday night and early today when several hundred citizens, either summoned as witnesses or going to see the trial of the I. W. trials, departed for Montesano. The general attitude of employers toward employees who have been summoned as witnesses is to continue to pay their wages during their absence, and in many instances these witnesses have stated that they will make no claim for their witness fees.

POLICEMAN FELLED BY PISTOL BULLET

Ernest Grenfell Rushed to Hospital, Where He May Die; His Friend Thought Gun Empty.

Patrolman Ernest Grenfell, 23, brother of Fire Marshal Grenfell, was shot just below the heart by a revolver in the hand of his friend, Jay Green, 22, in the former's room in the Collingie hotel, Fourth and Clay streets, at 5:15 Sunday afternoon. In what is thought by the police to be another instance of an "unloaded" revolver.

Grenfell was taken to St. Vincent's hospital where physicians were making a desperate effort today to save his life. Reports from the hospital stated that he was suffering from an internal hemorrhage.

Grenfell, who is a member of the flying squad under Captain Harris of the second night relief, was dressing to go to work when the accident happened. He and Green, an employee of the Columbia Optical company, now living at Union and Tillamook streets, were discussing the revolver, which Grenfell passed over to Green for inspection.

"I thought the gun was unloaded," Grenfell said. "I did not see him pull the trigger. Thinking the gun was still unloaded, I pulled the trigger and it went off. He fell to the floor."

Floyd Gaines, a fireman with engine company 4, 27 Fourth street, was sitting on the bed in the room when the shooting occurred.

"I saw both of them looking at the gun," said Gaines. "I don't know which one had it when the shot was fired. I wasn't looking, and when I heard the discharge and jumped up, the gun was lying on the floor and Grenfell had fallen to the floor. I got him to the bed and I phoned for an ambulance at once."

Grenfell and Green had attended a theatre earlier in the afternoon. They have been friends for many years, according to Green.

Both Green and Gaines were taken to the inspectors' office by Inspectors Malte, Tichenor, Morak and Schulpis and Patrolmen Nelson, Foster and Huntington.

THE HESS "The Furnace With a Reputation"

Without shavings, paper or kindling, from the time you enter the cellar door.

This is accomplished with the HESS furnaces by means of the HESS GAS KINDLER.

You simply turn on the gas, touch a match and throw in the wood. The whole house is then quickly heated. The HESS users tell us they can heat their house in from 10 to 15 minutes.

What is the cost of the gas used for the marvelous "HESS" kindler to start a fire? About 1-3 of a penny.

The HESS GAS KINDLER cannot get out of order. It will last a lifetime, besides being absolutely safe.

With a "HESS" you can forget about ashes for three months to a year at a time. Besides, don't forget that the "HESS" uses from 1-3 to 2-3 less fuel than the average furnace.

Wool Men Adopt French Girls Pay for Orphans at College

Walla Walla, Wash., Jan. 26.—The woolgrowers that he believed; might proudly assume the obligation.

Other sheepmen present, who are shorter breeders, decided that unless the sheepmen assumed the entire obligation they would, and there would be no division of the "honors."

When the wool men unanimously assumed the obligation, the Shorthorn men present authorized Duane to direct Dr. Holland to open negotiations with the British government with a view of formally adopting two Scotch laesties to be educated at Washington State college.

An address by Will Barnes, assistant district forester at Washington, E. C., on the subject of raising and the decision of the sheepmen to hold their 1921 meeting in Spokane, were other features of the convention.

Resolutions covering in the main those adopted by the National Growers' associations at Salt Lake City were endorsed, principal among these being the "eat more lamb" slogan. A protest to the railroad administration against the extra charge made for sounding cars and weights in excess of 24,000 pounds was also made.

TWO DEATHS FROM FLU ARE REPORTED

ing to the office of the state health board.

Six mild cases of influenza were reported from Forest Grove this morning. Additional cases at St. Helens and Hood River are likewise reported as being of a light nature. Influenza is prevalent in nine counties over the state at present, including Umatilla, Harney, Union, Hood River, Wasco, Polk, Columbia, Multnomah, Douglas and Washington counties.

Full cooperation was promised state health officers in combating the disease by F. P. Polsoe of the American Red Cross, who was in conference this morning with Dr. Robert Foisie stated that the Red Cross office as well as the 25 Red Cross chapters in Oregon can be depended on whenever needed to combat any appearance of influenza.

Men sprang to their feet and waved their arms.

CITY MORALLY OWES BONDSMEN SAYS LAROCHE

Contends, However, There is No Legal Ground for Paying Pederson's Losses on Auditorium.

"The city has no legal responsibility for reimbursing the bondsmen of Contractor Hans Pederson to the extent of $75,000 in their losses sustained in constructing the Auditorium, but there is a slight moral responsibility," asserted City Attorney LaRoche on Saturday in discussing a question that has been hanging fire for months. The matter will be reopened in formal discussion before the city council next Wednesday morning, according to Mayor Baker.

LaRoche believes the city had a moral responsibility to refund Pederson's bondsmen for losses involved in cutting stone at the Auditorium when contract provisions provided for cutting stone at the quarry.

Mayor Baker is uncertain what course should be taken in the matter. He feels that there is a slight moral responsibility, although it would be setting a dangerous precedent to pay the claimants.

"Nothing under the blue sky will ever cast my vote toward allowing the bondsmen a single cent," is the manner in which Commissioner Bigelow characterizes the matter. "We could pay out thousands if we recognized every loss that contractors have suffered through their own negligence. I'm absolutely opposed to the payment of the money."

Commissioner Prier is studying the whole matter carefully with the idea of gaining every fact before committing himself. He may favor submitting the matter to a board of arbitration, he stated on Saturday.

Commissioner Mann states that he has not had an opportunity to study all factors involved in the claim, but will immediately investigate.
