Washington, Feb. 11 .- (I. N. S.)-Government forces were being mobilized today to prevent a nationwide strike on the railroads.

Director General Hines was to give his answer to the ultimatum of the railroad workers, presented yesterday, demanding increased wages The director general was also to meet with a committee of ten of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way employes to discuss the strike of that organization which has been set for February 17.

MAY SEEK INJUNCTION Attorney General Palmer was preparing to act under the Lever law to preven strikes by injunction if necessary President Wilson will not act until after Director General Hines has closed the conferences with the railroad men, t was stated at the White House today. Hines will render a report to the president when he has made his final answer to the employes and the president will then take any action necessary. The president has given Director Hines no hatructions, it was said. WORKERS GIVE VIEWS

The railroad workers feel they will secure no wage increases from Hines, but are not prepared to hold the threat of a nationwide strike over his head. However, they do state that if wage demands are rejected there will be numerous unauthorized strikes which may easily develop into a keneral strike.

PORTLAND WELL STOCKED

IN CASE OF RAIL STRIKE Portland will not suffer much inconvenience if the threat of the railroad men to stake is carried into effect. This city is well fortified to stand long siege as regards food supplies and wholesalers and retailers alike say that the public need not fear any shortage in the principal lines of products.

There are huge stocks of all sorts of canned goods held in the city wholesale Storage houses are well supplied with both butter and eggs, but these lines would suffer little from a halt of rail traffic because of Portland's that he is far from healthy. He is only 20 years of age. "Was there any suggestion that he was crazy?" asked Attorney W. H Abel, special prosecutor.

"I paid no attention," responded

"No one else has suggested yet that he is nuts." interjected Vanderveer.

Abel then asked that the statement be dmitted in evidence. Before passing upon the question, the court said that it would hear from the attorneys on points of law involving the mental responsibility of the defendant.

Vanderveer opened. His arguments were based on the two questions: First-Whether or not the court would eceive collateral evidence to show the mental condition of the defendant when the statement was made, and Second-Whether, having such evidence, the question was to be decided by the court as a legal ques-
