

TEDDY JR. AND LEONARD WOOD TO COME TO OREGON

General's Campaign for Presidential Nomination Soon to Start in Earnest, Says Walker.

Theodore Roosevelt Jr., as an advance guard for General Leonard Wood, and General Wood himself, are scheduled to visit Oregon, Roosevelt during March and Wood during April, according to Dow Walker, state manager for the Wood campaign, who returned from Chicago Tuesday.

Roosevelt is starting out on an extended tour of the Northwest and Pacific coast states and will be in South Dakota during the present week, where he will make several speeches in the interest of the Wood candidacy. After that he will tour Montana, Wyoming and other states.

WOOD HERE IN APRIL

General Wood will reach the state during the second week in April, the exact date not having yet been determined. His first stop will be at Ontario. He will then visit Baker, La Grande and Pendleton, and from the latter place will go to Walla Walla, Spokane, Seattle, Tacoma, Chehalis, Centralia, and from there will come to Portland. From this city he will make a side trip back to the Dalles and Hood River, and, returning, will leave for California, stopping at Salem, Albany, Eugene, Roseburg and Medford.

While in Chicago Walker met with the members of the Wood national campaign committee, when at the various conferences the plans for the next convention campaign were fully mapped out. From this time on, Walker says, the campaign will be stepped into high gear, not to slow down in this state until after the primary election, or in general until after the Chicago convention in June.

REPORTS PLEASE WALKER

"Reports from all sections of the country are most encouraging," Walker says, "and it is my belief that General Wood has the edge on the field at this time. We are just starting out to fight and from now on there will be no let up until after the battle is over. Oregon conditions are pleasing to me and, all together, everything looks good." General Wood will not resign his commission in the army, and feels that Secretary of War Baker and the administration are "square sports" for having taken the position that men in the army should not be required to step out of that organization, should they desire to take part in public life.

Walker also says that it is the intention of General Wood to issue a general statement within a day or so clearly defining his position on the large public issues now confronting the people of the nation, in order that they will be able to judge his position as a candidate.

Former Pressman On Finnish Daily Is Denied Citizenship

Astoria, Feb. 11.—Andrew Nikula, an alien and former pressman on the Toveri, the Finnish daily, was denied admission to citizenship in circuit court Tuesday because Examiner Tomlinson told the court he believed the applicant was imbued with the "Red" idea. Nikula stated that W. N. Reivo and A. J. Partan, editor and manager of the Toveri, who were recently convicted of violating the espionage act, had done nothing wrong.

Robert J. Evans, the well known proprietor of Bob's pool room and restaurant, was stricken Monday night with internal hemorrhages, and his recovery is doubtful. The middleweight wrestling championship match which was to be staged here this evening by Evans has been postponed until Monday.

The port commission and the county court have decided to construct jointly the proposed road from the end of Eleventh street to Williamsport, along Youngs bay. The right of way is to be 80 feet wide, 50 feet for the highway and 30 feet for the belt line railway.

He Tried to Leap To Death; They Wouldn't Let Him

"I am tired of life. I am sorry you kept me from drowning myself." Thus lamented W. H. Kline, 67 years old, living at 1792 Haven street, when Harbor Patrolmen Vadenburg and Fresh found him just about to swing over the side of the damaged concrete ship Captain Boots, moored at Albers dock No. 1 Wednesday.

Vadenburg said Kline appeared depressed and was evidently ill. Twice during the ride to the municipal landing the man made an attempt to jump over to the police. Kline said he had left a note for his wife saying she would never see him again.
