

PROMINENT among social events of the week was the wedding of Miss Mabel O'Brien, who became the bride of Herbert F. Thomas on Tuesday morning at St. Agathas church. The bride was attended by her two sisters. Reading from left to right, they are Miss Vera O'Brien, maid of honor; Mrs. Herbert F. Thomas (Mabel O'Brien), and Miss Frances O'Brien, bridesmaid.

Pastor and His Wife Greeted On Anniversary

REV. R. H. SAWYER, pastor of the East Side Christian church, and Mrs. Sawyer, celebrated the thirtieth anniversary of their marriage Thursday afternoon at the home of the bride. The occasion was marked by a reception to which members and friends had been bidden by the committee in charge, which was headed by Mrs. Sawyer. The affair was a surprise to Mr. Sawyer, who was purposely detained in his study by one of the members while the company gathered in the auditorium of the church. The first notes of the wedding music from "Lohengrin," played by Miss Margaret Notz, was the signal for entrance, and as Mr. Sawyer and A. H. Guy entered by one door, Mrs. Sawyer, wearing her bridal gown of white silk with a long veil and carrying a shower bouquet of white carnations, came in by another. She was attended by Mrs. McNeal. H. L. Gano performed a ceremony which, though not exactly according to ritual, was filled with good humor and good wishes, closing with the reading of an original poem dedicated to the bride and groom. Congratulations and good wishes then were extended. Among the gifts received was a set of gold band cups and saucers and a set of pearl handled knives and forks.

The serving of refreshments closed the evening, the wedding cake being cut by the bride. The committee in charge of this very happy affair included Mrs. Robert E. McNeal, Mrs. H. G. Anderson, Mrs. Sue A. Jones, Mrs. George G. Martin, Mrs. H. Guy, Mrs. Kate Harvey, Mrs. George McKay, Mrs. J. A. Matthews, Mrs. H. M. Bunnell, Misses Helen Price, Lucille McNeal, Sadie Jones, J. B. Protzman and George G. Martin.

A pretty double wedding ceremony was an event of the eve of St. Valentine's day at Orenco, when Alda Ruth Rich and Carl F. Eggmann, and Eleanor May and Theophil J. Rich were united in marriage at Bethany Baptist church, Portland. The service was read by the Rev. Mr. Graf in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives. The church was beautifully decorated with ferns and flowers. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Schroeder sang a bridal hymn. Miss Rich was attended by her cousin, Miss Luella Barnett of Salem, as maid of honor, and her cousin, Miss Christa Schultz, also of Salem, as bridesmaid. Miss Eggmann's attendants were Miss Lilly Schunke, maid of honor, and Miss Selma Schultz, bridesmaid. Theophil Rich had as his attendants his brothers, Mark and David, both attending Carl Eggmann being Ben Cronel and Otto Schultz. The bride party entered to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march. Both brides were gowned in white charmeuse, wearing veils and carrying bouquets of white carnations and lilies of the valley. Miss Rich's attendants were in pink crepe meteor, with bouquets of pink carnations, while those attending Miss Eggmann wore blue crepe meteor and carried yellow spring flowers. Theophil and Alda Rich are children of Mr. and Mrs. C. Rich of Orenco, and Carl and Eleanor Eggmann of Bethany. After the ceremony the bride couples received in a quaint little green parlor, which was constructed of fir and cedar boughs. It was from this pretty little bower that the brides, later in the evening, served the wedding cake. After an extended honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Eggmann and Mr. and Mrs. Rich will be at home to their friends in Bethany.

Social Quietude Is Increased by Lenten Season

THE beginning of the Lenten period and its attendant sackcloth and ashes only adds to the lack of inspiration for pretentious social festivities, which are, of course, taboo for the next few weeks. The last function before the beginning of Lent was the dinner dance at the University club Tuesday evening, which was attended by more than 150 members of the club and their friends. The evening of Ash Wednesday, curiously enough, was chosen by the members of Al Kader temple for one of the largest dancing parties of the season, which was given at the Auditorium and was attended by more than 1500 persons. On Thursday evening the Little theatre was the center of social interest, when Miss Gladys Bowen directed the presentation of three one act plays under the auspices of the Drama league. Friday evening was given over to numerous dinner parties and small suppers attended upon the lecture of Lieutenant Coningsby Dawson at the Masonic temple, which brought forth a fashionable audience of interested folk of the city who filled the auditorium, incidentally in the cause of the women's building fund of the University of Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Judd of Pendleton, who have been touring in Southern California by motor with Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Jackson of this city, have returned to their home and will arrive in Portland about March 1 to make their home here. They will occupy the W. H. Nunn home at 196 Twenty-first street. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson will remain another month in the South at El Encanto, Santa Barbara.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. Warren and Mrs. Josephine Smith Andrews left city on Wednesday for California. They will go to San Francisco for a short time and then to Del Monte, where they will be joined by Mr. Warren, who will accompany them to Arizona, where they will spend some weeks. Mrs. Andrews has been a much feted visitor in Portland during her stay in the city as the guest of her mother and sister, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Warren.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Davis left Portland for the South on Thursday evening. Their children and maid left earlier in the week and the family will remain for the rest of the season in Pasadena.

Mrs. Jerome J. Day of Moscow, Idaho, who is spending several weeks at the Hotel Portland, was a dinner hostess Friday evening. Covers were placed for eight close friends.

The younger cadets of Hill Military academy were entertained on Tuesday
