WILSON AND HOOVER

President an independent. So are Colby and Crane. All this helps Hoover. Wilson is never dull, anyway.

By David Lawrence Copyright, 1920

Washington, Feb. 27.—President Wilson does not intend to eke out the remaining 12 months of his term in monotonous reverence for party tradition or in the comforts of private quarters and controversies with his political opponents who control congress.

Appointment of Bainbridge Colby as secretary of state has started a flow of gossip and cloakroom threats that may define more clearly than ever before whether or not the senate has any real control over the kind of cabinet officers a president may select to manage the big departments of government.

DEMOCRATS FROWN TOO Plainly, there were Democrats as well as Republicans in the senate who do not like the nomination of Colby, but if anything aggressive is done it will naturally be by the Republicans.

But the ground on which to base objections to Colby's confirmation is difficult to find this political year. Were senate Republicans to say Colby had been too anti-British, they would find their newly acquired Irish supporters looking askance at them. Were senate Republicans to argue that Colby is inexperienced for the post, they would find themselves open to attack by Democrats who might say the Republican conservatives are so conservative that they would not even vote for the confirmation of a progressive Republican.

SOME FAVOR INQUIRY In the end Colby would be confirmed, but it would not be surprising to find a resolution adopted expressing the senate's opinion of the choice.

There are senators on the other hand, who think it is about time to stop confirming cabinet officers as a matter of courtesy and to make inquiry into their qualifications. They contend that cabinet responsibility will never be emphasized until congress establishes a precedent that will make the president give as much regard to the advice of the senate on cabinet appointments as on any other selection that requires confirmation by the senate. Wilson, on more than one occasion, has done this.

AID REQUESTED TO ENFORCE DRY LAW

Astoria, Feb. 27.—Alexander United States Marshal Blander, for the district of Oregon, has been suddenly called to Los Angeles on duties connected with his office. District Attorney J. J. Barrett has appealed to the office of the United States district attorney in Portland for action in regard to the enforcement of the prohibition law in Astoria and Clatsop county.

In his letter to the United States district attorney, Barrett says in part: "The Clatsop county grand jury for the February term arbitrarily refused to indict about 30 vendors of apple cider and other fruit juices and concoctions, who had unquestionably violated both the state and federal prohibition laws, by having in their possession concoctions which A. S. Wells, state food chemist, found to contain all the way from 1 per cent to 10 per cent alcohol by volume."

Barrett asserts that prior to the action of the grand jury several vendors of these concoctions were tried in the municipal court before juries and were found guilty. Building of a pier, building a bulkhead along the boardwalk, improving Roosevelt drive, and $10,000 for an electric fire alarm system. The former election was declared invalid owing to the fact that the city made a special item on the ballot for the fire alarm system and it should have been included in one item.

Seaside Votes on Improvement Bonds

Seaside, Feb. 27.—On Monday another election will be held to bond the city for $263,000 for the following improvements: Building of a pier, building a bulkhead along the boardwalk, improving Roosevelt drive, and $10,000 for an electric fire alarm system. The former election was declared invalid owing to the fact that the city made a special item on the ballot for the fire alarm system and it should have been included in one item.

Washington, Feb. 27.—(U. P.)—A joint resolution providing for recognition of soviet Russia was offered in the senate today by Senator France, Maryland, Republican. It was referred to the senate foreign relations committee.

A peace proposal from soviet Russia has been received at the state department, it was announced today. This proposal is presumably the same one reported to have gone forward to this country, Japan and Rumania.

Burglars Stock Up for Rainy Day Of High Cost of Wearing Apparel

Mr. and Mrs. Burglar spent a profitable night, thank you. Loot running the gamut from ladies' wearing apparel to silver tableware has been reported as missing to police by victims.

Evidently, believe the police, Mrs. Burglar, perhaps assisted by her husband, took a gold watch, a silver tea set with satin finish, a sealskin coat, a two-piece suit, a tea gown with V back, a black velvet waist and other apparel.

E. E. Woodward, same address, provided clothes for Mr. Burglar. He donated a suit, a pair of trousers, a shirt and two suitcases.

DIVIDED SESSION URGED BY PIERCE

Walter M. Pierce, state senator from Union county, told the members and guests of the Portland Press club luncheon Thursday about the advantages of a divided session of the legislature.

According to his suggestion, Senator Pierce would have the state constitution amended to provide for split sessions of the legislature. He would have a first session at which all bills would be introduced, sent to committee and returned to the house of their origin.

When the second or adjourned session convened the work of the session would be confined to the discussion and voting upon the measures which had been under legislative study and public scrutiny. No amendment would be permitted at the adjourned session unless by unanimous consent or by a vote of three-fourths of the members of either house.

To AVOID FINAL BUSH This plan, the senator contended, would do away with the midnight session and the wild orgy of legislative confusion which has always marked the closing days and nights of past sessions, and which will always be inclined to recur in future sessions under the present legislative plan.

The senator paid his respects to the recent special session of the legislature and said that he had attended four regular and two special sessions of the Oregon legislature as a member and "had never witnessed a wilder afternoon or a wilder night than marked the close of the last special session."

The bills came to the senate "in mass formation," Pierce related, and "it was a disgrace to the state of Oregon and many of the citizens walked out of the chamber in disgust."

Discuss City Waterfront Plans Plans for improvement of the waterfront between Jefferson and Gilman on the Oregon coast, were discussed at a regular luncheon of the members' forum of the Chamber of Commerce, O. Laurgaard, city engineer, Walter P. LaRoche, city attorney, and some of the city commissioners will be speakers.

SMYRNA AND ADRIANOPLE GIVEN GREECE

Territory Awarded for Economic Exploitation; Premier George Is Bitterly Opposed to Effort to Drive Turks From Europe.

By Ed L. Keen London, Feb. 27.—(U. P.)—The council of premiers has decided definitely to award the Smyrna and Adrianople district of Turkey to Greece for economic exploitation. It was understood today.

The council also decided, it was understood, that Turkish finances will be placed under international control.

Bitter debates on the Turkish question featured yesterday's session in the house of commons. Premier Lloyd George, answering arguments put forward by Lord Robert Cecil, who declared the allies should seize this opportunity to expel the Turk from Europe, pointed out that pressure from India had been largely responsible for Great Britain's decision to allow the sublime porte to remain in Constantinople.

INDIA FAVORS TURK He said the Indian population of Mohammedans would consider it a gross breach of promise if Britain consented to expulsion of the Turk, and India, he added, was largely responsible for the allied victories in the Near East.

The premier did not believe the plan for international control of Constantinople would be satisfactory. Expulsion of the Turk, he continued, would not secure the safety of the new Armenian nation or other non-Turkish populations in Turkey.

The allies have decided, however, the premier said, that the Turk shall not be again the gatekeeper of the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus. These strategic waterways, he added, will be under control of allied garrisons and naval forces.

Paris, France, Feb. 27.—The decision of the supreme council in London that the allied forces will retain control of the city of Constantinople, has been met with satisfaction by the Mohammedans.

When the second or adjourned session convened the work of the session would be confined to the discussion and voting upon the measures which had been under legislative study and public scrutiny. No amendment would be permitted at the adjourned session unless by unanimous consent or by a vote of three-fourths of the members of either house.

San Francisco, Feb. 27.—(U. P.)—Jack Dempsey was indicted by the federal grand jury here today on the charge of conspiring to defeat the operation of the draft law and on the charge of evading the draft.

Jack Kearns, the heavyweight champion's manager, was indicted with Dempsey on the conspiracy charge.

Two true bills were returned. The grand jury reported and then was discharged.

Dempsey and Kearns are reported en route here from Los Angeles. If they do not come of their own accord, telegraphic warrants will be issued and served here.

The conspiracy charge allows a prison sentence of two years and a fine of $3000. It is a felony charge. The draft evasion charge is a misdemeanor and allows a jail sentence of one year.

COUNTY BACKS CITY IN PLAN FOR HOSPITAL

City to Build Smallpox Hospital at Kelly Butte as Planned; Later County Will Erect Big Structure on Marquam Hill.

Multnomah county will underwrite the city of Portland to the extent of $25,000 in case the city needs that sum for the erection of a contagious disease hospital at Kelly Butte.

The county officials will gradually take over charge of contagious diseases and epidemics, and will eventually build a large, permanent contagious disease hospital adjacent to the university of Oregon medical school and the new county hospital on Marquam hill.

MERGER NOT CONSIDERED No definite steps toward the consolidation of county and city health bureaus has been taken, and some looms imminent.

The above is the gist of a conference held this morning at the courthouse between the board of county commissioners, the city commissioners, Dr. George Parrish, city health officer; Dr. Harry Cliff, county health officer; Dr. R. A. J. Mackenzie, dean of the University of Oregon medical school, District Attorney Walter Evans and other city and county officials.

Although it was generally supposed that the conference was called in an effort to eliminate duplication in the two health boards, no steps in that direction were taken. After an hour's discussion as to the relative values of Marquam hill and Kelly Butte sites for the proposed hospital, County Commissioner Holman got the meeting down to a working basis.

WORLD AID CITY "I don't know what the city commissioners are here for," he stated. "If it is funds you want," he continued, addressing Mayor Baker, "I am willing to go to the limit through the budget. The county has troubles enough of its own, but this is serious and we are willing to help the city in the emergency. If the city will state definitely what it wants, we may be able to get down to business."

Mayor Baker spoke up for the city. "Can the county take over the various functions of the health bureaus and build a contagious disease hospital and a tuberculosis hospital?"

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 27.—(U. N. S.)—His unhappy married life in America, his going to France as a Y. M. C. A. war worker, and his subsequent friendship with pretty Madeline Babin, the pretty French girl that he grew to love were described by Lee Shippey, one of the chief figures in the latest international "triangle," in a statement issued by him today.

The statement follows: "In the spring of 1918 I applied for service in the Y. M. C. A. for the reason that my wife and I could not live in peace, and I felt separation was best both for us and our son. Before I had tried to enlist in the army, and she had left me several times, because she said life with me was unendurable.

MET IN CEMETERY "November 1, 1918, I met Madeline Babin with her mother and sister, placing flowers on the graves in the American cemetery in Suresnes." For 10 months our friendship grew. I came to love the whole family. May 1, 1919, when I was notified that my hotel was to be closed, I went to their home to board and there was taken into the most beautiful family life I have ever seen.

ADVISED DUTY FIRST "Madeline never tried to break up my home. Her efforts always were in the other direction. At that time she told me that whatever became of me I must do my full duty to my legal wife and child. I returned to America for that purpose.

"Mrs. Shippey met me in New York, and immediately the unhappy spirit which which they met misfortunes and their sweetness to each other made their home so pleasant that the months I spent there were the happiest of my life.

"It was not until I was ordered home that Madeline and I realized how much we loved each other.

LIKE BIG BROTHER "Before that I had been 'big brother' in the family. Our relations were so innocent that I had written back to the Kansas City Star an account of the life in the French home in which I lived. From that article Mrs. Shippey guessed the truth long before I dreamed of it. Just a few days before leaving Paris I received from her a letter saying 'I had lost my heart in France. It would be all right and she would be a 'sport' about it, but I owed it to her to come home and straighten things out."

Washington, Feb. 27.—(U. P.)—Captain Edward Charette of Stockton, Cal., a Red Cross worker, has arrived at Irkutsk with news of six other Americans who are held by the Bolsheviks, according to dispatches to the Red Cross headquarters here today.

Charette was one of the men captured by the Reds, but they permitted him to go through the lines with word that his companions were being well treated.

He traveled 800 miles by sled, as the railroad was tied up. Upon arriving at Red Cross headquarters at Irkutsk he gave the following list of Americans held by the Reds: Otto W. Lowe, New York; Joseph R. Medill, Jaroso, Colo.; Harry J. Donnelly, Philadelphia; William H. Ford, Kingston, Okla.; H. N. Bonzo, next of kin to Pedro Bonzo; G. Martin, Manila.

Donnelly was suffering from a broken leg, and Tweedy was slightly ill with typhus.

The Americans were being permitted to remain in Krasnoyarsk, where they were captured, Charette reported. At first the Bolsheviks were determined to carry them to Moscow, but later the orders were changed.

MONTESANO IS ALARMED BY SALE OF ARMS

Many Rifles of High Power Are Bought in Nearby Region; Information Reveals Necessity for Presence of U. S. Troops.

By Fred H. McNeil Over The Journal's Special Local Wire. Montesano, Wash., Feb. 27.—Sensations followed one another rapidly in the trial of the Centralia murder cases today.

Judge Wilson ushered in the first surprise when he denied the request of Vandever for the removal of the United States soldiers from Montesano. The court contended that the prosecution possessed secret information which revealed reasonable grounds for the presence of the troops.

The defense itself started the courtroom when first some of those indicted for the Armstrong murders, admitted he had suggested that men might be stationed in a building opposite the I. W. W. hall for purposes of self-defense or protection in case of an attack on the hall.

Great importance was attached to this admission. It was the first time the defense had indicated or even intimated that the accused had prepared themselves for a possible raid.

The third and most alarming sensation came to light in reports that part of the secret information which pointed to the necessity of having regular troops at Montesano included well-founded knowledge that hundreds of high-powered rifles had been sold in the near-by district in the last few weeks. The call for these arms is said to have been several hundred per cent above normal demand.

"I made the remark to fellow worker Roberts (meaning Loren Roberts) that if there were some fellows in those buildings across the street, they (the mob) would be in a bad place," Smith responded to one of the questions of Prosecutor Abel.
