SHIPPING BOARD SPLITS ON POLICY

Washington, Feb. 27 .- (U. P.)-A sharp difference of opinion has developed among shipping board officials over matters of policy, it was reported here today.

The trouble, which started over the sale of ex-German passenger ships. which was opposed by Commissioner R. B. Stevens, centers around the Rowe

This bill provides that "any Americans" may become seamen after nine months training or experience and after passing a competent examination. The present law requires three years' service on deck to classify for seamanship. STEVENS OPPOSES PLAN

Chairman Payne and Commissioners Scott and Donald favor the Rowe bill while Stevens opposes It. Stevens is supported in his stand by labor men who allege the bill discriminates in favor of the shipping board's trained recruits. The present man power of the American merchant marine is made up mostly of naturalized Americans who object to having to pass a competent examination.'

Labor leaders hold that the Rowe bill will allow American-born youths to be come officers before others would be able to classify as seamen.

AMERICAN YOUTHS TRAINED

American youths trained in government schools for merchant marine serv-ice since December, 1917, total more than 25,000. Most of these are now employed on American-owned and con-

ATTENDANCE TOTALS

day Thursday was slightly lighter than on the previous day, only approximately 5200 passing the gate. The crowds at the truck and accessory shows were about as heavy as ever, indicating that those who have appeared at the passenger car displays have later made their there at their leisure.

Total attendance up to the present time has been over 20,000, and with two good days to go officials figure that there will be a final count of at least 40,000. The gate showed a tally of 26,000 for the week last year. Friday and Saturday nights are looked forward to each year as the time of heaviest attendance, many visitors from out of town not being able to get on the ground before those two days. Many city people have signified their intention of making the show at the last, so it is quite possible that the official figures will run above the estimate, Some delayed exhibits have made their appearance, the new Briscoe coming in Thursday. Others will be on the floor today. All dealers report activity in the purchase of cars and trucks, as well as accessories.

COUNTY VALUATIONS SHOW LARGE GAINS IN TAX ASSESSMENT

Multnomah county will this year col-lect in taxes almost one half of what the total assessed valuation of property

During the coming year $12,007,732 will be collected from the taxpayers for the conduct of all county and city affairs. The sum to be collected is nearly one half of the $29.554.209 which in 1900 was rated as the total valuation of property.

The tremendous growth of Portland and Multnomah county in the past 20 years is seen in the comparison of the 1900 valuations with those of the present year—$312,671,785. The city of Portland this year will raise 95.97 per cent of all taxes levied in Multnomah county, while the county will pay in 1920, on the basis of the 1919 figures, slightly over 36 per cent of the taxes of the entire state. The first half of all taxes must be paid on or before April 5, according to binding tax laws, while the second half cash be paid on or before October After these dates the taxes become delinquent and are subject to increas-

Deputies Declare Barber Is Giving Moonshine Massage

The officers visited Meyer's shop Thursday night. Cleverly concealed in a secret tunnel underneath one of the chair seats, according to Christoffersen, were four pints of an alcoholic liquid which smelled and tasted more like moonshine than a face tonic.

Meyers is temporarily barbering the inmates of the county jail.
