

BOY GIVEN FOUR YEARS IN PRISON; CRIMES ADMITTED

After a deliberation of 24 hours on the complicated problem surrounding the boy, Presiding Judge McCourt, Thursday, sentenced Edward Quinlan, 18 year old bandit, to serve four years in the penitentiary.

The decision came after the judge had considered every means to give the youthful criminal a new chance to "go straight." Quinlan has spent the majority of the last eight years in county jails and reform schools. He is a deserter from the navy and confessed to having committed eight crimes since November 15, most of them being highway robberies.

THREE ARE CONVICTED
Quinlan was the youth who, in an eleventh-hour attempt to save Herbert Merithew, Robert Burns and August Perry, entered the court room and under oath confessed to the crime for which they were being tried.

YOUTH GIVEN NEW CHANCE
Another chance to make good was given to Robert Oberer, also barely 18, who appeared before Judge McCourt at the same time.

Believed War Was on Again as He Awoke From Faint in Court
W. F. Bent, veteran of the Canadian and American armies and a wearer of the coveted Medal of Great Britain, is suffering from a recurrence of shell shock as the result of a blow on the head.

Bent was testifying Thursday in his own behalf in Circuit Judge Bingham's court, in his defense against Laura S. Bent's charge of non-support. He grew excited and fainted on the witness stand, falling and striking his head on the floor.

"Is there any blood on me? Where did the shell strike?" he asked as court attaches picked him up. Bent was wounded several times during his overseas career. Part of his face was blown off and he wears a remarkable artificial face made by surgeons in the war zone.

FAY KING DOLLS UP AND GETS GLAD GLANCE FROM OWN GANG

By Fay King
(Miss King is a fortune teller whose first newspaper work was published in The Journal several years ago. She now is located in New York.)

Getting into a New York newspaper office is as tough as getting back stage at a theatre. The stage door keeper has nothing on the guy in the reception room of the paper who hands you the little slip to address to the one you want to see and say what you want to see him about. The reporter is supposed to come out there and talk to you. I think the wives of the good-looking news hounds started the stunt, but it not only keeps the reporter safe from the wiles of wild women but bars out collectors and pests.

So it ain't often a swell-lookin' dame is breezin' loose around the office, and when one does it is only natural that she should get a lot of looking over. Occasionally some beautiful blonde that is lassoing some old bird for fifty thousand for breach of promise shows up, and every now and then some swaggar subretrie shows up, but it ain't often. Of all the walks in life there isn't any other where men and women mean less to each other as men and women than in the newspaper game. We're just all scoup scouts and—pals!
