

LAND GRANT HOME SITES ARE LAUDED BY HOMESTEADER

That James Conville, either through ignorance or willfulness, made gross misstatements in his criticism of the government's offer of Oregon & California grant lands to ex-service men to the American Legion, is the assertion of Straud W. Long, who homesteaded for seven years and proved up on a farm 13 miles northeast of Eugene in 1907.

"I am thoroughly familiar with most of the land open for entry under the O. & C. land grants," said Long. "The soil is fertile and productivity of the finest kind of orchards and garden produce. There is not a ranch, part of which is not suited for farming. It is all excellent for grazing. I have been over eight of the counties in which the land is located."

MADE LIVING ON SIDE

"In the seven years I homesteaded I had not a cent of assistance. I made my living doing odd jobs, building roads, bridges, trails, helping farmers in the valley and building houses. The opportunities for doing extra work are much greater now than at that time. An ex-service man can get work picking apples and helping farmers. There is an abundant game, of which some species may be killed at every season of the year. He can raise his own vegetables. "Oh my homestead I built a house 18 by 20 feet of cedar logs. I split the logs myself and, with the assistance of my dog, dragged them to the cabin site and erected the house. I grubbed out trees and brush for a garden spot and at the time I proved up I had a good growing family orchard, loganberries, currants, gooseberries, strawberries and an abundance of vegetables. I did all this in spite of the fact that I was sick and settled in Oregon for my health. Camp Creek valley, at the head of which my ranch is located, has been compared by some to the Garden of Eden."

O. & C. LAND HOMESTEADER

"My homestead was no better in quality than the land being offered to the soldiers today. I filed on government land. This is O. & C. land. One consists of the odd numbered sections, the other of the even numbered. The general impression that all the good lands have been taken up in the past is entirely erroneous.

"Conville's statements are a great injustice to both Uncle Sam and to the boys. The soil on even the hilltops is the best ever for growing apples. I have grown Spitzenbergs on my homestead that nothing in the Hood River valley could excel.

"I have always been loyal to the government and I don't like to see it stung or the boys stung through statements made by an illy informed person."

Post at Klamath Would Keep Young Man From Asylum

Klamath Falls, March 12.—Action has been taken by the American Legion post here to prevent the county court from committing Robert Ryan, 26, a former soldier, to the state insane asylum without first having a careful medical examination in the belief that the young man should be taken to an army hospital for treatment.

Sophomore's $20 Bill Returns to Her in Darkness

A $20 bill that will attract its own eyes on a rainy night after lying in the mud for several hours, is the right sort. Velma White, a sophomore at Reed college, dropped a "twenty" Wednesday night on her way to the car, went to a show in town and, returning about 11 o'clock, spotted the greenback beside the road, muddy and soaked with rain. Since the experience, Miss White has become a firm believer in the magnetic power of money.

members of the city police force and fire department of Klamath Falls that they could not continue work at their present salary, and having received no encouragement from the council, T. M. Durham resigned as patrolman. He is the first to seek more pay elsewhere.

Attempt to Change Court Martial Lost

Washington, March 12.—(I. N. S.)—By a vote of 74 to 66 the house late this afternoon defeated an effort by Representative Johnson of South Dakota to change the court martial system of the army by new legislation on the army bill now pending in the house. It was held that this legislation was not germane to the army bill.

Jazz Strains Throw New Life Into Yank Soldiers in Siberia

New York, March 12.—Russian jazz music was introduced at the Knights of Columbus gymnasium at Vladivostok to stir up the interest of American doughboys in athletic contest, which had flagged under the depressing influence of a severe Siberian winter, according to a report received here today by overseas director, William P. Larkin from William F. Fox of Indianapolis, who solved the problem.

Here and there an explosive Bolshevik jazz train was thrown in for good measure during a boxing or wrestling bout in the gymnasium, the letter states, and the result was increased on the part of the athlete.
