

IRISH POET AND WIT IS SPEAKER AT DRAMA LEAGUE

William Butler Yeats addressed Portland folk at the Masonic Temple on Friday evening under the auspices of the Drama League of Portland. The Irish theatre movement was the original subject in hand, but the story told by Yeats, brimful of Irish wit, proved more than entertaining.

With Lady Gregory and John Synge, a score of years ago, Yeats worked for the success of the first Little theatre in Ireland. It was housed in a small building hidden in a dim street in Dublin. With players selected from their own number the productions were offered, but received scanty support; in fact, for one year the money subscribed for the little theatre was so meagre that the little house and it was only through the kindness of an interested friend that an old factory building was obtained, remodeled and offered to the Little theatre players for use. In a year the Little theatre was on its own feet financially and has since met with unusual success.

Irish poetry, the comedies and realistic plays of the day and folk lore of Ireland were discussed by Yeats, with interesting first-hand glimpses of the works and characters of his two colleagues, Lady Gregory and John Synge. The fact that Lady Gregory's first play, written after she was 50 years of age, was not accepted because of the lines in which a policeman made a patriotic speech, was humorously commented upon by Yeats, who said that to allow a policeman in Ireland to make a patriotic speech is to permit an unpatriotic act.

THE OREGON THEATRE

CAFE MERIA TAKES 11-YEAR LEASE IN MCGINN BUILDING

Arthur H. Johnston, president of the Coffee Cup Cafeteria company, has leased the ground floor and basement of the McGinn building, occupying the quarter block at the southeast corner of Broadway and Washington streets, and will make alterations which will fit the premises for restaurant purposes. The lease runs for a period of 11 years and the aggregate rental is approximately $500,000.

The entire ground floor and basement of the building will be used by the cafeteria company, with the exception of the corner room held by the Gunst Cigar Store company. The building was leased 14 years ago from the McGinn estate by J. J. Jennings for a 25-year period. Present tenants are the Sunset Theatre, the Dutch jewelry store, the Harlow, Sandus, Cramer shop, the Lewis & Stone Cutlery shop, a fruit store and bootblack stand. Leases of these tenants have two years to run, according to Johnston.

The Coffee Cup Cafeteria company was recently organized with a capital of $75,000. It is a cooperative concern, each of the 125 employees holding stock. Plans for the renovation of the McGinn building call for the expenditure of over $40,000. Two eating places will be established, one on the ground floor and one in the basement. The company now occupies a portion of the basement of the building just leased and also operates a restaurant in the basement of the Cornelius hotel. The restaurant will be altered immediately to accommodate an increasing patronage. The company's payroll amounts to more than $100,000 annually and during the past year its restaurant purchased approximately $250,000 worth of provisions in Portland, the butcher's bill alone amounting to over $50,000.

John D. Is True to Blood $160,000,000 Is Easy to Hold

Washington, March 19.—Little John D. Rockefeller III, accompanied by his father, John D. Rockefeller Jr., has made an exhaustive examination of the United States treasury. He incidentally has shown he possesses that kinship with money that so long has characterized the other members of his family. Rockefeller, father and son, met John Burke, the treasurer, on their arrival in the huge gray building that houses Uncle Sam's treasure.

"I came to see how much you have in the treasury," Mr. Treasurer," said Mr. Rockefeller, smiling. "That's easily ascertained," replied Mr. Burke, "but it would be infinitely more interesting to know how much money you have."

With Frank A. Thiel, assistant treasurer, as a guide, the Rockefellers were piloted through the building and little dismissed. One man was not apprehended and another was too ill to stand trial.

The investigation and trial cost the government and defendants a huge sum, estimated by court attaché at approximately $1,500,000. The defense alone cost nearly $1,000,000, they estimated.

NEWBERRY MAKES STATEMENT

Senator Truman H. Newberry issued the following statement on his conviction: "There is nothing in the jury's verdict that will cause me to hang my head. Until my conscience and the supreme court decide that I have wronged the people of Michigan, I will retain my seat in the United States senate."

"Father will not resign from the United States senate," Phelps Newberry, son of Senator Newberry, said. The senator said he would have a formal statement later in the day.

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL

Immediately after sentence was passed a motion was made for a new trial. The jury's first ballot was on the question of whether there was a conspiracy. It stood eight in favor to four against. Within a few minutes the vote was unanimous, according to juror reports.

Senator Newberry sat as if in a daze when his name, the first to be read, was followed by the word "guilty." Mrs. Newberry, sitting at his side, patted his hand. His son put his arm around his father's shoulders and blinked to keep back the tears.

CONVICTION WILL NOT HALT INVESTIGATION BY SENATE

Washington, March 20.—(U. P.)—The conviction of Senator Newberry by the federal court in Michigan will have no effect on the senate investigation of the Ford-Newberry case, according to Senator Dillingham, chairman of the senate investigating committee. The committee will hear Newberry's complaint as soon as he can come to Washington.

In the event of the resignation of the Michigan senator from the senate, the Republican majority would be reduced by one. "The senate will begin on Tuesday the count of the ballots of the Newberry election," Senator Watson, Republican of Indiana, declared in the Dillingham sub-committee conducting the investigation, said. "The senate cannot take any action on the case until after the appeal has been filed, he decided."

This count will determine, so far as the senate is concerned, whether Newberry or Ford is elected.

DEFEAT OF TREATY IS CRIME AGAINST NATION DECLARES W. J. BRYAN

New Haven, Conn., March 20.—(U. P.)—"The defeat of the treaty is a colossal crime against our own country and the world," William J. Bryan declared in an interview here today.

"If we allow a minority of the senate to dictate the policy of the senate on this momentous question, we betray democracy and turn our faces back to ward arbitrary power, and arbitrary power as exercised by a few is scarcely less hateful than arbitrary power as exercised by one."

"The action of the senate is the more disgraceful because the rejection was brought about by a union between a group of Democrats and the irreconcilable foes of the treaty, whom the Democrats have been denouncing for eight months. If the action of the senate is permitted to stand, it will invite confusion at home and chaos abroad."

"But the action of the senate should not be allowed to stand as the verdict of the nation. The majority of the senate should assert itself at once, first by declaring the war at an end; second, by declaring in favor of the nation's participation in the League of Nations on such terms as the majority shall agree upon; third, by proposing an amendment to the constitution permitting a majority of the senate and house to ratify a treaty by joint resolution, and in the same way define the nation's foreign policy, thus making it as easy to end a war as to begin it."

"In the meantime the people should wire and write to senators and the president urging ratification. A change of four votes will be sufficient."

Bryan, who was on his way from New York to Boston, declared the situation is so full of possibilities that it must be brought to the people in every possible way.

IN these days of perfected banking organization, there is to speak frankly, little difference in the amount of service that the large, well-organized bank can give. The difference lies in the willingness of each bank to offer its service.

ALTHOUGH in the past this institution, owing to its great resources, has been called upon to assist in financing enterprises of the largest magnitude, we have always adhered to the policy of considering the smallest wish of the most modest depositor.

WE welcome the small, conscientious saver and handle his affairs with the same scrupulous attention given to the largest commercial transaction.
