PORTLAND'S NEW SHIPPING OUTLOOK ENCOURAGING

Confidence was being expressed this morning by members of the Oregon delegation at the national capital and W. D. B. Dodson, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, that the full shipping program desired by Portland will be realized, according to messages received today by the chamber.

Dodson, members of the Oregon delegation and officers of the shipping board, including Admiral Benson, the new chairman of the board, were in conference Wednesday evening at Washington. No indication has been made of how many ships will be assigned or how soon the different services desired will be recognized, but the delegation is confident that results will be ob-

Several requests for steamer alloca tions have been granted by the shipping board, mainly through the activity of the local owned and operated Columbia Pacific Shipping company. Other lines have been proposed by this and other companies and only await ship allocation to begin their activities.

Dodson has been in Washington nearly two months. It was originally intended that he should be there but a short time, but soon after his arrival, the drop in the foreign exchange and other developments caused a sudden shift of the trade center to the Pacific The decision of the shipping board to shift a large amount nage to the west coast resulted in local companies becoming active in allocation demands. Dodson has been working on these demands and will likely be kept in the East several more weeks.

THIRTEEN SAILINGS PLACED BY LOCAL SHIPPING FIRM

Thirteen sailings with Portland as terminus or port of call were announced Wednesday by the newly reorganized Columbia-Pacific Shipping company. Seven of these are regular sailings reaching Japan, North China, the United Kingdom. Continental Europe, Scandinavia and New York. The other six are special service sailings with ports of call named to include North China, Antofogasta, Alexandria and Havana.

Regular sallings from the Columbia to Japan and North China are The Angeles, April 7; West Navaria, May 7, and West Keats, May 24. The Cansamset, March 26, and the West Katan, early May.
