

EASTER VACATION OF 4 DAYS GIVEN SCHOOL CHILDREN

School children will have four days' Easter vacation, the Monday following Easter being declared a holiday as well as the Friday previous, by the school directors Thursday night.

That unless the two millage tax is passed there can only be eight months of school next year was the declaration of Superintendent D. A. Grout who maintained that while $2,600,000 is necessary to run the schools, that only $2,000,000 is available under the present system. The deficiency was met this year by the special levy. The board went on record as unqualifiedly endorsing the tax.

TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Miss Esther W. Wuest, art supervisor, was granted permission to attend the Western Arts association convention in Detroit, May 4 to 6, when she will appear on the program, and to visit eastern art school work with all transportation expenses paid, providing she submit a report upon her return of ideas gained and suggestions which would be of benefit to Portland schools. This report will be required of all school officers attending conventions in the future.

Superintendent Grout recommended increasing the capacity of the high schools by lengthening the school day one hour. This would not lengthen the working day of the teacher, but would permit the employment of more teachers in the same building. Special programs would be allowed for students employed. The board decided not to take action until the return of the other two members, Directors Thomas and Plummer.

NUMBER OF CHAPERONS CUT

Number of chaperons at high school dances was reduced from 25 to 10 including the dean, upon request of Principal W. T. Fisher of James John high, who said it was difficult to secure the attendance of so many parents with the result that many pupils were patronizing the public dance halls. Resignations were accepted from Ella W. Acheson, an emergency teacher; C. L. Blakely at Benson; John I. Wisenbath, Benson; Arthur T. Carpenter, manual training department; W. W. Gerling, swimming instructor; Fred Wahlgren, Benson.

Centralia Bankers To Build Armory if Tank Corps Given

Centralia, Wash., March 26. — Assurance that construction of a $25,000 armory would be started in Centralia immediately following receipt of the war department's confirmation of Adjutant General Maurice Thompson's assignment of a National Guard tank corps to this city was given by the city's bankers to Captain David Livingstone, who will command the tank company.

George C. Ellsbury was elected president of the Centralia Republican club, organized Tuesday evening. Miss Eva Knight was elected vice president; John Camp, secretary, and A. S. Kresky, treasurer.

An advisory board to the Salvation Army was organized in Centralia, with Albert Smith as chairman; A. C. Gesler, vice chairman, and George Earner, secretary. Other members of the board are A. F. Cornier, John Larsen, C. H. Armstrong, J. H. Roberts, L. B. Woodard, Dr. David Livingstone, John Saunders, W. H. Hodge and Oscar Nelson.

Latah Republicans Plan to Put Idaho In Line for Wood

Moscow, Idaho, March 26.—William E. Borah, first choice; Leonard Wood, second choice, will be the policy of the Latah county delegation to the state Republican convention, to be held at Coeur d'Alene in April. If plans now being made are carried out in the convention, Latah county will have a strong delegation.

A resolution providing that the Latah county delegation favor and work for the passage of a resolution at Coeur d'Alene pledging the Idaho delegation to give its first vote in the Chicago convention to William E. Borah and to vote for Borah as long as there is any chance of nominating him, but to stand for Leonard Wood as long as he is a candidate, after being released by Borah, is being prepared by leading Republicans of the county. This plan is to prevent Borah from delivering the delegation from Idaho to Johnson.

Revenue Men Rushed In Where Bad Luck Feared to Put Its Foot

Artistry guided Mike Braich when he camouflaged two pints of moonshine away from prying eyes. But alas for Mike, inquiring revenue officers Wednesday night, visited his place, 232 1/2 North Sixteenth street, the old Omaha saloon. A woven basket in which reposed a corn-duck nestling in gay streamers and confetti proved to be only a covering for one pint of moonshine. On Mike's dresser sat a big family album. Innocent looking, the revenue men were ready to pass it by when they thought they had better take a look anyway. The leaves of the album had been cut in the center, making a hole large enough to hold a pint bottle. Only one or two pages were left uncut. On one was a woman's picture.

"Who is this?" the revenue men inquired. "Your wife."

"Nope. That's my mother-in-law. I kept her picture there because I thought she would frighten away bad luck," he said. Mike says he will plead guilty in federal court.

Aggressive Bank Advertising

LADD & TILTON BANK

First Bank in Oregon to Appear in National Publications

Truthful advertising of any section, making its resources and products household words, has proved its value in attracting settlers and capital.

Financial institutions, though naturally conservative, have fallen into line. All over the country banks are using attractive advertising matter, with well-written copy and effective art work.

In accord with this movement, the Ladd & Tilton Bank has for several months been running a series of industrial advertisements, designed to sell Portland and the Northwest anew to their residents.

But it has gone a step further. It is selling the Pacific Northwest to the Nation. It is indeed fitting that the Ladd & Tilton Bank, oldest in the Northwest, should be the first Oregon bank to advertise nationally.

The strength and facilities of the banks of our Oregon country should be known to prospective and potential settlers. Such captions as "Look to the Pacific Northwest," or "A New Era of Industry in the Pacific Northwest," attract favorable attention. The subject matter further emphasizes the sound industrial and financial growth of this section. Appearing in four national magazines of wide scope—World's Work, Review of Reviews, Scribner's and Leslie's—these advertisements of the Ladd & Tilton Bank will be contributing factors to community development.
