

HAWLEY FLEES HIS PETITION SEEKING RETURN TO OFFICE

Salem, March 26.—"No interests to serve but the public interests," is the slogan under which Congressman W. C. Hawley of Salem will make his bid for support for the Republican nomination for representative in congress, according to his petition filed with the secretary of state's office today.

Hawley's platform pledges continued support for rivers and harbors, good roads and other public improvements, development of national resources, budget system, extension of rural credits, development of foreign markets, adequate pensions, recognition of rights of ex-service men and women and better conditions for homesteaders.

Reports from Astoria are that State Senator A. W. Norblad is planning to enter the race against Hawley.

Other candidates filing today were: Charles W. Ellis, Burns, candidate for Republican nomination for state senator from the twenty-second senatorial district.

M. C. George, Portland, candidate for the Republican nomination for presidential elector from the state at large.

W. P. Lafferty, Corvallis, candidate for Republican nomination for representative from the tenth representative district.

Millard F. Hardesty, Seaside, candidate for Republican nomination for representative from the nineteenth representative district.

S. E. Holcomb, Portland, Democratic candidate for delegate to the national convention from the third congressional district.

with a monarchist government forever may be worth the price.

The actual financial cost of the disorders can be estimated only in millions of marks, experts agreed. American potash contracts, they said, have been delayed for weeks.

Despite dismissal of Gustav Noske, former minister of defense, hatred against him in labor circles continued intense. The laborites blamed Noske for the entire trouble.

Some Americans here today were embarrassed by the fact that their passports have expired and they were unable to have them renewed.

The American mission expressed willingness to issue temporary documents, but these were said to have no standing.

WORKERS IN BERLIN DECIDE TO RENEW GENERAL STRIKE

London, March 26.—(I. N. S.)—The workers of Berlin have decided to renew the general strike, according to the Berlin correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph today.

The German trade unionists are alleged to have taken the stand that numerous arrests of labor leaders by the government military forces breaks the strike settlement agreement.

The Exchange Telegraph states that "seventh hour" attempts may prevent the ratification of the new German cabinet.

(The new German ministry was to have been ratified in the German national assembly today.)

VILLAGES IN DISTRICT NEAR RUHR CAPTURED BY TROOPS

Berlin, March 26.—(I. N. S.)—(Night)—The capture of several villages in the Ruhr district from the Reds by government troops was announced in a war office communique tonight.

The Reds are accused by the war office of breaking the armistice in the Ruhr district by attacking government forces.

No official confirmation has been received by the office of the report that Wesel, an important industrial town in western Prussia, has been captured from the government troops by Reds. There has been heavy fighting around Wesel, with the city in a state of siege.

Soldiers have arrested a number of Red couriers who were carrying encouraging reports from the Ruhr district.

trict to cities in other parts of Germany. It is reported that trained Russian army officers, who were sent into Germany by Lenin, are helping the operations of the Spartacists in Prussia.

Violent fighting is reported from the neighborhood of Munster, capital of Westphalia. The communists in that district are threatening to destroy the factories if they are defeated by President Ebert's troops.

The Freiheit, a communist newspaper, accuses the government military forces at Halle of precipitating a reign of terror. According to this newspaper, after the capture of the city by the government troops, workmen were shot down or beaten.

WOOD IS ON MONEY ORGY, SAYS BORAH

spending money as lavishly as the Republican.

Borah's speech brought a vehement reply from Senator Moses, who said that every dollar spent for Wood was being spent properly and of necessity.

Moses asked whether Borah was making a charge of corruption, and Borah, declaring that he waived his senatorial privilege of immunity for utterances on the floor, charged that Wood's managers were deliberately trying to control the convention by the use of money.

Hurling his charge at the Wood men, Borah challenged them: "Now let them go to bat on that if they like."

BORAH WANTS PUBLICITY Borah's bill provides full publicity for campaign contributions and expenditures. Violators would be subject to a maximum penalty of $25,000 fine and two years imprisonment.

"For years," said Borah, "the spending of money in campaigns has been increasing. Indications are that this year there will be a perfect saturnalia of corruption directly through the use of money in the campaign. Developments thus far in the campaign seem to me to make it necessary for congress to take some notice. There is no reason why this bill should not pass in time to be effective 30 days before the Chicago and San Francisco conventions."

Senator Kenyon at this point said that, in view of the slowness of congress to act on a bill, a resolution of investigation should be introduced and adopted.

ASHBURN WANTS NAMES "I'm in favor of such a resolution," said Borah, "but I think congress will hesitate before daring to sidetrack this bill."

Senator Ashburn of Arizona called on Borah to give names.

"I'll name them," said Borah. "You name the Democrats you know about."

"If I knew of any Democrats who were spending money improperly I'd name them," said Ashburn. "If I know of any Democrat who was trying to get a third term I'd be quick to tell the senate I am opposed to it."

The Freiheit, a communist newspaper, said he'd like to have the letter read to the senate.

Continuing, Borah said that "scandalous stories are being printed" about huge sums of money being spent. He read a published statement that workers for Leonard Wood were told to "get the nomination, no matter what it costs."

He said Governor Lowden's managers had spent their money with "more adroitness" than Wood's. He added that two of the Democratic candidates had been as lavish in their expenditures.

Ashburn demanded that Borah name the Democrats, promising if he did so "to see that they didn't get some of the delegates they might otherwise procure."

Borah said he'd give all the facts before he got through.

$900,000 FOR WOOD Borah then took up a recently published story naming a group of men said to have underwritten Wood's campaign for $900,000 or more.

Dan R. Hanna, Cleveland, Ohio, capitalist, was one of those named.

Eduard L. Delaney, an oil man and another of those named as an underwriter of the Wood campaign, Borah said, was a heavy contributor to the Democratic funds for years.

Borah declared that if the men named wished to deny they "could deny this charged in 48 hours."

"Any candidate for president who accepts such stupendous favors from any interests will, if elected, have to return those favors in some way," Borah said.

"Wood and Lowden and all the other candidates owe it to the American people to come out and tell the country where the money they are spending is coming from and how it is being spent."

Borah offered telegrams he received from South Dakota, referring to the use of money there by Wood and Lowden.

"Those telegrams told me that for every vote cast there an average of $10 was spent," Borah asserted.

JAY WALKING BLAMED FOR FATAL MISHAP

statement was corroborated by witnesses.

Mrs. Hartung said she was driving about eight miles an hour east on Alder and just before entering the intersection she saw a woman crossing in her path. An automobile bearing license 3544, owned by Miss Lulu M. Taylor, 645 East Ankeny street, was entering the intersection, proceeding south on Sixth street.

To avoid hitting this automobile or striking the woman, pedestrian, Mrs. Hartung swerved south on Sixth street, a few feet farther on knocking down Miss Powell.

S. Rosencrantz of the Broadway Auto Service company declared Mrs. Hartung was not to blame.

THIRD FOR MONTH Today was the third fatal traffic accident for March. March 13, Saturday night, Mrs. Amelia Newbury of Acosta, Wash. Avds fatally injured at Sixth and Flinders streets at 7:10 p. m. by a taxicab in charge of Charles Wheatley, 1224 Detroit street. She died three hours later at St. Vincent's hospital from a fractured skull without regaining consciousness. She was out hunting for $400 in travelers' checks which she had lost on the street while going to a restaurant from the Union station. Five children were made orphans.

Early the following morning Max H. Servis of Snohomish, Wash. was fatally injured at Ella and Washington streets by a taxicab in charge of F. C. Hall, 1065 East Seventeenth street. He died five hours later at St. Vincent's hospital. Servis was a dental student.

Riley's Lecture Attracts Washington, March 26.—A large and enthusiastic audience heard Frank Branch Riley's lecture on the Pacific Northwest at the Women's City club last night. He was urged to make a return engagement. Tonight he gives a lecture in Easton, returning here tomorrow for a lecture before the University club.

POLICE CAPTURE BANDIT AND LOOT

San Francisco, March 26.—(I. N. S.)—Surprised in the act of burglarizing the store of M. Leptich her, three auto bandits early today fought a running duel with police. One man, Andrew Ashley, was captured and $2900 worth of loot recovered. Two other bandits escaped.

Police fired several shots but no one was injured.

Logging Operations In Coast Range Are Retarded by Snow

Heavy snow at Cochrane, Timber and other points in the Coast range has necessitated closing down logging operations at many important camps.

The Whitten & Bryant Logging company's plant and the C. H. Wheeler and Francis West camps are reported closed since Wednesday on account of snow averaging one foot in the woods.

Three inches of snow interfered with operations of the Wisconsin Logging & Timber company at Midway, Wash., and a foot of snow caused the temporary abandonment of logging by the Clarke County Logging company. The camp of the Oregon Timber & Logging company at Clifton, Clatsop county, was closed Wednesday by heavy snow.

The aggregate cut of the mills thrown out of commission by the weather conditions is estimated at 1,000,000 feet. Operations will be resumed Monday in the majority of the camps.

Charges Reflecting On Postmaster of St. Louis Are Filed

Washington, March 26.—(I. N. S.)—Charges that Postmaster Colin M. Selph of St. Louis, Mo., had copies of a speech made by Senator Reed against the League of Nations printed in the post-office printer's shop, paid for by the postoffice department, were filed today with President Wilson by Thomas F. Flaherty, secretary of the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks.

Flaherty submitted affidavits by Philip S. Siegel, a printer employed in the St. Louis postoffice. Siegel also alleges that Selph had business cards made in the postoffice printer for his father, C. McRae Selph, an attorney of New Orleans, La.

Salem, March 26.—John L. Rand of Baker will be named by Governor Olcott to a place on the state board of higher curriculum to succeed A. G. Egan of Tillamook who the latter's term expires Monday, according to announcement from the executive office this morning.

Rand is one of the best-known attorneys in Eastern Oregon. Other members of this board are Jonah E. Wise of Portland, Charles A. Brand of Roseburg, J. E. Hedges of Oregon City, and C. J. Smith of Portland.

Lower Highway to Be Closed for Day

Salem, March 26.—The lower Columbia river highway will be closed between Clatskanie and Astoria on Monday to permit the re-decking of a bridge at Buggy Loops, 15 miles west of Clatskanie, according to a statement given out by the state highway department here this morning. According to present plans it will be necessary to close the road for only the one day.

Mrs. Casserly Is In War Department

Washington, March 26.—(I. N. S.)—The war department announced today the appointment of Mrs. John B. Casserly of San Francisco as director of women's relations in the war department. She will have charge of employment of women in the army in welfare work and of those women employed in army establishments.

Highway to Close On Lower Columbia

Notice is given by the state highway department that beginning next Monday the lower Columbia highway will be closed temporarily between Clatskanie and Astoria while a new deck is being put on the bridge 15 miles below Clatskanie. During working hours, from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., no through traffic will be permitted. The road will be blocked for two days.

OREGON'S GASOLINE BILL IN YEAR RUNS TO NINE MILLIONS

It cost the people of Oregon who use gasoline and distillate the tidy total of $9,410,396.06 during the past year to operate their automobiles, trucks, tractors and other gasoline and distillate burning equipment.

During the year 1920-21, on the same basis of consumption and at the same prices quoted by the oil companies, the year's bill will be $11,156,327.19. These totals are exclusive of lubricating oils, being the bill for motor fuels only.

Figures compiled by the automobile department of the secretary of state's office in the administration of the 1919 automobile and distillate tax act show that during the past year the amount of gasoline consumed in the state amounted to 26,456,431.25 gallons, while during the same time 5,265,565.75 gallons of distillate were consumed.

During that period, according to the statement of the Standard Oil company of office, the prevailing average price of gasoline was 23 1/2 cents, and of distillate 16 cents, which quotations include the 1 cent state gasoline and the 1/2 cent state distillate taxes.

According to these figures, the oil companies received $5,202,697.03 for the gasoline they sold during the year, exclusive of the state tax. The state received the sum of $36,564.31 in gasoline taxes—a total cost to the public of $5,239,261.34 for gasoline, a total of $10,765,432.95, exclusive of the state tax, for the distillate tax. The state will receive $390,913.24 in tax.

These 1920-21 totals will be greatly increased, both as to the companies and to the state, if there should be the same increase in the number of gasoline and distillate driven engines in use during the coming 12 months as during the 12-month period just closed.

McCourt's Petition Filed for Judgeship In Portland Court

Salem, March 26.—The nominating petition of Judge John McCourt of Portland, candidate for the Republican nomination as circuit judge of department No. 6 of the Multnomah county circuit court, was filed with the secretary of state's office here Thursday.

Other candidates filing Thursday were: E. J. Carmer, Spray, Republican, candidate for nomination for joint representative from the Twenty-eighth representative district.

E. N. Hurd, Seaside, Republican, candidate for nomination and reelection as representative from Clatsop county.

In distillate taxes—a total to the public for distillate of $848,132.72.

The summary shows that the companies received a total of $9,019,482.83 as their share of the year's business in both gasoline and distillate, while the state received $390,913.24 in taxes on both classes of motor fuel.

On the same basis of consumption, both as to gasoline and distillate, the prevailing price of 27 cents the gallon for gasoline and 18 cents for distillate will boost the total motor fuel bill for the coming year well above the $11,000,000 mark.

COMPANIES GET $9,440,236 On that basis the oil companies will receive $9,440,236.44 for gasoline and $922,177.51 for distillate, a total of $10,362,413.95, exclusive of the state tax. The state will receive $390,913.24 in tax.

These 1920-21 totals will be greatly increased, both as to the companies and to the state, if there should be the same increase in the number of gasoline and distillate driven engines in use during the coming 12 months as during the 12-month period just closed.

NAVY WAS POORLY MANNED DURING WAR, SENATE TOLD

Washington, March 26.—(I. N. S.)—The United States navy operated throughout the war with an inadequately trained personnel because of the failure of the navy department to act upon recommendations made prior to the war by the general board, the commander of the Atlantic fleet and other authorities, Captain J. Taussig today declared before the senate sub-committee investigating the conduct of the navy during the war.

"The personnel of the navy was entirely inadequate for peace purposes when the world war started in 1914," Taussig said.

"As a result of this departmental policy of unpreparedness the larger part of the ships of the navy operated throughout the war with inadequately trained personnel and in consequence they were not as efficient as they should have been."

"The Germans stood the British on their heads at the battle of Jutland," Admiral Plunkett declared. He attributed this to gunnery skill.

"I argued with Secretary Daniels for two years to provide sufficient personnel, but made no impression on him," Plunkett said.

"I told him we could not have adequate navy gunnery without men. My arguments were of no avail. "In 1915 we woke up to the fact that we had ships and no way to fight them. The navy control board was named. It was then we found what was needed to properly man the guns. The report almost upset the navy."

Confesses Robbery Of O. A. C. Student

Salem, March 26.—Jasper Hill, 28, arrested here Thursday night charged with enticing R. Gresson, O. A. C. student, into a local rooming house Monday night and robbing him of a watch and money, has confessed, according to Sheriff Needham. Hill is said to have pawned the watch in Portland for $15. Hill was arrested in Portland several months ago on a similar charge, sentenced to serve 120 days in the county jail and conditionally pardoned.
