

COUNTY REWARDS MAN FOR AID IN HIGHWAY CLEANUP

The county commission this morning voted a reward of $50 to Clarence O. Thorp, whose address was given as rural route No. 1, east of the city, as a result of his reporting to the sheriff that F. B. Peete had dumped rubbish along a county road.

The fact that Peete was fined only $10 in the district court last week brought up a discussion as to judicial support in the cleanup now being made along the highways.

The county already has expended $2000 to clean up the roads, and probably will spend $5000 more before the Rose festival and Shriners' convention, Chairman Hoyt said, and it was discouraging that violators of the statute forbidding defacement of the highways should be let off so lightly.

After the commission adjourned, Commissioner Holman wrote a letter to J. C. Brockway, Boy Scout executive, calling upon Scouts for cooperation in keeping the highways clean and reporting law violators.

RAILROAD CONTRACTORS ARE SUED FOR LARGE DAMAGES
To collect damages of $139,298.96 for delayed construction, due to negligence on the part of the defendants, Alexander Pearson instituted suit in the circuit court Tuesday against the O-W-R. & N. company and Twoby Bros., contractors.

Pearson was given contract by the city March 9, 1917, for construction of nine viaducts over the O-W-R. & N. company tracks. The railway company had employed Twoby Bros. to attend to the rereading, which was to have been done, the complaint alleges, following Pearson's work. Before the plaintiff had completed removal of the water main at East Sixteenth street, however, it is charged, Twoby Bros. began taking out earth and rock from the Columbia river bottoms on cars at a cost of 45 cents a cubic yard.

Delays of this sort brought about an extension of nearly nine months of time for completion of his contract by Pearson, and consequent additional expense. The cost of earth and gravel increased from 16 cents a cubic yard to 45 cents during that period, it is charged.

KING ESTATE VALUED AT $25,000; WIFE GETS HOME
Showing an estate valued at about $25,000, the will of S. W. King, pioneer Portland merchant, was admitted to probate Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Elizabeth King, widow, was given the home at 240 King street and $5000 cash in addition to $2000 insurance money. The balance of the estate, with a few small exceptions, was bequeathed to W. P.

The finest Hand-Workmanship Ever Put Into Ready-for-Service Clothes for Men

There is hand-workmanship and hand-workmanship, just as there are sign-painters and scene painters. The mere physical operation of doing a thing by hand means nothing—how it is done means everything.

We have ripped Hickey-Freeman clothes and other hand-tailored clothes apart for comparison—and there is none!

In our judgment there are no men's clothes in America today, in which the art of fine hand-tailoring reaches such a high pitch of excellence as it does in HICKEY-FREEMAN CLOTHES.

I urge you to see their Spring models—I will not urge you to buy them—I won't have to!

Sold in Portland only at my store

COUNCIL VOTES TO BUY PLAYGROUNDS SITE IN ST. JOHNS

Purchase of the 10 acre Cable tract along with three adjoining blocks as a future playground site for children of St. Johns, was authorized by unanimous vote of the city council this morning.

The property is in the heart of the business district. Close to 16 acres are involved. The assessed valuation approximates $23,600 as nearly as Commissioner Pier could determine.

If any part of the tract cannot be acquired by the council the entire purchase will be dropped, according to agreement reached between the council and residents of the vicinity, led by Dow V. Walker. Walker said that at a community meeting held Tuesday night over 250 residents approved of the acquisition of the Cable property.

Condemnation proceedings on the entire acreage will no doubt be instituted. Mrs. M. V. Gregory objected to condemnation proceedings against her home on part of the property. She stated she would not get her price for the home she had held for 20 years.

Second Attempt to Rob California Bank Is Foiled by Alarm

Los Angeles, April 7.—(U. P.)—The second attempt within six months to rob the First National bank of Hynes, near here, was frustrated early today after burglars had cut through a steel door with an acetylene torch. The heat from the torch set off a burglar alarm which aroused the entire population of the small town. The burglars made a hurried getaway in an automobile before police could reach the bank.

Four men are now serving terms in San Quentin for the first attempted robbery, which occurred last October.

REDUCTION OF PLANE PATROLS PROTESTED

As well, requesting them to make a special effort to save the report of Colonel Arnold accepted. The chamber is also sending a telegram to Senator McNary, calling his attention to the importance of the patrol.

The Oregon Aero club sent a telegram to Senator McNary, stating that there are in Oregon a sufficient number of fliers who have seen air service in France to completely man every plane provided for Oregon in the event of a "Colonel Arnold" Washington and California can say as much for themselves.

SERVICE IS NEEDED
The Oregon Forest Fire association is sending telegrams to every congressman in the Northwest to stir them up to action, said Secretary C. S. Chapman. The messages point to the emergency of the situation and the fact that the service is needed over the entire Northwest. Furthermore, many cities, such as La Grande and Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, have gone to great expense to get landing fields, anticipating that the patrol would be established.

ONE NOT SUFFICIENT
That the one squadron patrol would leave Oregon practically without any protection was the opinion of District Forester Cecil, who said it would mean that California would get about all of them.

E. T. Allen, secretary of the Western Forestry and Conservation association, who was in close touch with the fight for the patrol in Washington while he was stationed there during the winter, said the whole question has nothing whatever to do with the needs of the Northwest, but whether the air service shall be retained as a part of the war department or a separate department created for it.

Until the status of the air service is finally fixed, thinks Allen, the Northwest cannot depend on air patrol, although some planes will undoubtedly be provided. The war department, based on old traditions, is jealous of its rights and is not altogether favorable to the utilization of its officers and equipment for civilian uses, thinks Allen.

"For two or three years," said Allen, "we shall not know whether we will have a patrol or not. There will be decisions and reversals of decisions. Nothing stays fixed in Washington. If we have only the one squadron," said Allen, "I do not believe it will be limited to California. Not only Oregon have part of it, but I believe it will be spread over the entire area covered in the original program. Other states will not stand by and see California get the planes. But we should know whether we are to have the patrol or not. There are so many things to prepare—the purchasing and training of fliers, the establishment of landing fields, rounding up of all the important details incident to the carrying out of the program, whatever it may be. The matter should not be left until the beginning of the fire season."

Accusing Dr. Jack M. Yates, a dentist of being responsible for her condition, Miss B. C. Borland, formerly a department store model, is plaintiff in a suit to recover damages which is being tried before Judge George Tazewell today. Details of a highly sensational nature were presented, including charges that the defendant had given the young woman liquor on several occasions. The case is proceeding this afternoon.

Idaho Pays Debts by Warrants; Cash Gone

Boise, Idaho, April 7.—Unable to meet its obligations with actual cash, the state of Idaho is paying by warrant. State officials explained that the state has been on a credit instead of a cash basis since a former administration used up in its business not only the surplus left it by its predecessor but also the surplus which it should have handed down to its successors.

Pittsburg Paper Tightens on Space

Pittsburg, Pa., April 7.—(U. P.)—No advertisements, commercial, legal, death notices and amusements, will be carried today by the Chronicle-Telegraph, on account of the newspaper paper shortage, the publishers have announced. This same conservation measure will be taken by the Gazette-Times.

25 Per Cent Rise In Freight Looms

Chicago, April 7.—(U. P.)—The duty of the interstate commerce commission has been to help the public, but now it must help the railroads, probably to the extent of a 25 per cent increase in freight rates, it was declared today by Judge Frost, head of the commission's valuation committee, in a hearing today at a luncheon attended by 25 railroad presidents.

HURT IN FIRE CLARENCE W. TEBAULT, former member of Journal staff, and later associated with Emergency Fleet corporation before entering military service. Extent of injuries in Seattle fire is not explained.

FOUR DIE IN HOTEL FIRE IN SEATTLE

Used by firemen with ropes and scaling ladders. Frederick R. Hamilton and his daughter, Gray of Berkeley, leaped from the fifth floor of the burning building. Hamilton died instantly, while his daughter died shortly after being taken to the hospital.

At 2:30 the west wall of the hotel fell, pinning beneath it Fireman Charles F. LaFosse, who sustained a dislocated hip, broken ribs and collarbone.

At 7:30 the fire had been brought under control. The building is a total loss. Firemen, at the peril of their lives, late this morning were searching the still flaming ruins of the hotel for the bodies of six more victims believed to have been trapped in the fire that thus far has accounted for the death of two persons and the injury of 19 others.

High above the searchers tottered the three remaining walls. Stubborn points of flame and a pall of smoke signified that the fire was still burning at 9 o'clock, resisting the steady play of a dozen hose lines.

Starting in the laundry in the hotel basement at 1 o'clock this morning, the fire quickly reached the elevator chute and roaring upward spread to all the seven floors, where scores of transient and resident guests were sleeping.

At a window on the fourth floor, a man cried out for help. He crawled out onto the ledge, where he stood poised for a moment, then leaped. His life was crushed out on the pavement below.

A moment later, at the same window, the frightened face of a girl appeared. With an agonized scream she threw herself out and her body fell beside that of the man. They were identified later as Hamilton, aged 45, and his daughter, Grace Gray, aged 22.

TEBAULT FORMERLY WITH JOURNAL; SHIPPING BOARD
Clarence W. Tebaut, injured in fighting the fire which swept the Lincoln hotel at Seattle, was formerly a member of The Journal staff, serving the paper as marine reporter before he transferred to the United States shipping board offices here as district chief of the national service section.

After some months with the shipping board Tebaut was inducted into the army, Captain Lewis, Wash., following which he returned to Portland and became manager of the Portland Press club. He went to Seattle in the spring of last year to accept a reportorial position on the Seattle Times and only recently dropped newspaper work to enter the automobile business.

The extent of the young man's injuries have not been ascertained by Portland friends. Tebaut is a son-in-law of Senator B. L. Eddy of Roseburg, Or.

HAMILTON WAS MEMBER OF PIONEER CALIFORNIA FAMILY
Seattle, April 7.—(U. P.)—Frederick R. Hamilton and his young daughter, Grace, who leaped to their deaths in the Lincoln hotel fire here early today, were residents of Berkeley, Cal., and members of one of California's oldest pioneer families.

Mount Hamilton, on which Lick observatory stands, was named after Hamilton's father, one of California's early day ministers, according to Frederick H. Criss, with whom Hamilton was associated here in the ownership of the "Puss'n Boots" confectionery.

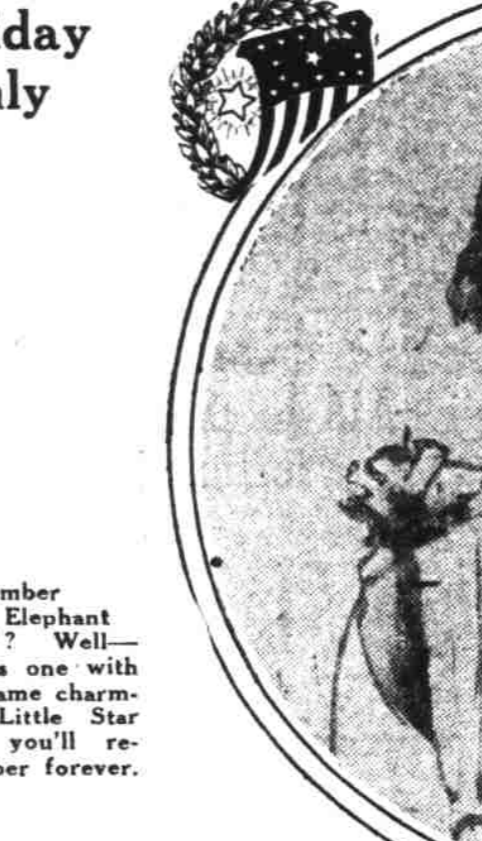

He came here with Criss in 1915 and established the confectionery with two other partners who later withdrew. Mrs. Lorain Beaver Hamilton, his widow, and Claribel, a daughter, live in Berkeley with Lieutenant L. Seaver Hamilton, the son, who recently returned from France. A brother, Edward Hamilton, is a San Francisco newspaper man.

PORTLAND WOMAN ESCAPES BUT LOSES HER EFFECTS
Miss Martha Randall, employed in the woman's protective division of the police department, has telephoned from Seattle that she escaped uninjured, but lost all of her effects, in the fire which destroyed the Lincoln hotel Tuesday night. Miss Randall, who served 18 months overseas with base hospital 46, has, since her return, been employed in Mrs. G. J. Frankel's department. Recently she was given a three months' leave of absence to take a special course under government supervision.
