Easter Ball Is Brilliant Affair

By Helen Hutchison
THE Easter ball of Washington com-mandery, Knights Templar, at the Multnomah hotel last Saturday evening, was one of the brilliant affairs given by the Masonic order during the season.
Many beautiful costumes were in evidence and the grand march, led by Right Eminent Grand Commander Frank B. Ballew and staff with all the officers in full Templar uniform, gave a semi-military effect which was highly commended.
Among those participating were: Mayor George L. Baker, Mrs. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Tipton, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. J. Francis Drake, Mr. and Mrs. George P. MADAME PETROVA, noted actress, who has established success on the speaking stage and on the silver screen, and who is offering the headline act on this week's program at the Orpheum theatre.

Madame Petrova, who is scoring a hit at the Orpheum this week, laughs at an incident that occurred during her recent engagement in Winnipeg. The Manitoba community at that time was visited by the worst snow storm of the winter. Despite the weather conditions, the long line at the box office for the Petrova engagement extended around the lobby and thence into the street. All morning long, in zero weather and deep snow, men and women patiently awaited their turn to secure prized tickets. One hat frozen, elderly man near the end of the line and weary of waiting, stamped his chilled feet in the ubiquitous Canadian overshoes, cast a disgusted glance at his companions in line in front and behind, then snarled scornfully but fervently, "Well, thank the Lord I am not the only fool in the world."

Lightfully entertained April 8 by Mrs. I. T. Mason, 798 Kerby street. Luncheon served at 1 o'clock, followed by business and social sessions, were en-joyed by Mrs. L. M. Davis, Mrs. W. S. Cutler, Mrs. C. W. Miller, Mrs. Mary Martin, Mrs. Paul W. Kreyer, Mrs. F. A. Van Kirk, Mrs. A. H. Trego, Mrs. A. A. Graham, Mrs. O. S. Cutler, Mrs. F. M. Brooks, Mrs. G. E. Hamaker, Mrs. T. A. Crawford and the hostess. The next meeting will be May 13 at the home of Mrs. Walter N. Everett at the American apartments.

The Travelers' Protective association auxiliary will be hostesses at a card party tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Laurel-hurst club house. Tables will be placed for both bridge and 500 and several prizes have been provided for the high-scoring made each. Reservations may be made by telephoning Mrs. Ros. Socum, Woodlawn 2807, or Mrs. W. M. Price, East 7878, or may be received at the club house.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Dickey have returned from a two months' sojourn in California. Cards have been received in Portland announcing the approaching marriage of Marian Dwyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael John Carrigan, to John Mungo Dand, the ceremony to take place Tuesday evening, April 20, at 424 Seventeenth avenue northeast, Seattle. The bridegroom formerly attended Hill Military academy. The bride is an attractive and popular girl of Seattle.

Mrs. J. M. Russell, who for many years has been residing in Burford, Ontario, since 1914, has returned to Portland and will make her home with her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Russell, in Hewett boulevard.

Girls Have Fine Drive and Hike Over Trail

By Vella Wisner
SUNDAY was a gala day for members of the athletic department of the Community Service Girls' club, when 196 of them were given a drive up the highway through the courtesy of a number of public spirited citizens, and who went for a three-mile hike over Larch mountain trail down to Waukena falls, where lunch was served, this having been generously provided by J. H. Joyce of the Hazelwood restaurant. Captain D. J. Hall, instructor of the classes in military drill and physical training of the Girls' club, was master of ceremonies and spoke informally at the conclusion of the luncheon. Others speaking were Mr. Joyce and W. F. Woodward, president of Community service. Walter Jenkins led in the singing of old songs. Other groups of girls who make it a habit of plans already being made for taking the girls employed at the Portland Woolen mills on a similar trip.

The girls are especially grateful to members of the Rotary club, who so generously donated, and to the officers of the Portland and the commissioners devoting the day to giving the girls an outing. Those donating cars for the trip were: Mrs. Lloyd Leslie, Walter Jenkins, J. W. Weatherly, F. E. O'Neil, A. M. Prentiss, Dr. A. C. North, D. C. Wax, Bob Stuart, F. M. Simonton, Woodard & Clarke, C. J. Magee, city of Portland, Max Hoffman, J. P. Jaeger, O. H. Shahrman, G. L. Shearer, A. M. Prentiss, Dr. A. C. Spencer, Vehr, J. H. Joyce, United States army recruiting service, E. E. Miller, H. A. Cushing, M. P. Reed, George C. Mason, F. B. Orchard, "Sally," Homeless Housing, Clarence Bolman, W. Roope, Edwin Weidmeier, Wilmot Weidmeier.

The Portland branch of the National Federation of College Women will be entertained at the home of the president, Mrs. C. E. Dentler, 1544 East Yam-hill street, Saturday, from 3 to 5 o'clock. There will be a musical program. Presi-dent W. J. Kerr of the Oregon Agricul-tural college will speak on the millage tax and other subjects of interest will be considered. Take Mt. Tabor car to Fifty-seventh street.

The Women's psychic club will meet Wednesday, April 14, at 2:30 p. m. at the church parlors, East Seventh and Hassalo streets. After the business meeting there will be one hour of psychic development. Mrs. Etta S. Bled-sole will give messages to all.

The W. C. T. U. county institute will meet at the Portland Settlement center, First and Caruthers streets, Thursday, 10:30 to 12 o'clock a mothers' meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Sarah Kerr. From 1:30 to 4 o'clock p. m. there will be discussion of candidates and messages in charge of the legisla-tive superintendent, Mrs. Mary Mallett.

The business women's art class will meet Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Art museum to discuss two great artists and mural decorators Miss Isabel Gibaugh will speak on "Edwin H. Blashfield" and Miss Bessie Minsky on "Violet Greenleaf." Many specim-ens of their beautiful work will be shown.

Mrs. Bertha Taylor Voorhorst will be pleasantly remembered by many of her club members who are in Portland, who will be glad to learn of her activities. She is now at 418 Union Trust building, Washington, D. C. Mrs. Voorhorst was a member of the State Women's Press club. "One of my articles will appear in the April number of the Ladies' Home Journal, entitled 'Improving Idle Time and Idle Acres' which gives the story of my dollar a year work for the government as chairman of the District of Columbia division of the women's land army."

Crater Lake chapter, Daughters of American Revolution, of Medford met Saturday with Mrs. E. N. Vihn. Mrs. J. H. Cochran read a paper on "Indian Legends of Oregon." Mrs. Casbeer, an Oregon pioneer, was a guest and gave some interesting reminiscences.

By Thornton W. Burgess
No greater blessings come to you than friends you've never tried and true.

WHEN Jimmy Skunk met Farmer Brown's boy in the Long Lane that day he was surprised to receive one of the greatest surprises of his life. Yes, sir, he did. It was the first time in his life Jimmy had met any one who wouldn't step aside for him. Even great Big Buster Bear always stepped out of Jimmy's way when they hap-pened to meet, and was most polite about it. Jimmy couldn't think of a single person in the Green Forest or on the Green Meadows who didn't politely step out of his way and treat him with the greatest respect.

So when Jimmy saw Farmer Brown's boy ahead of him in the Long Lane he paid no particular attention to him. He expected to see him get out of the way. He had met such two-legged creatures before and never once had they failed to get out of the way and do it in a hurry. So when Farmer Brown's boy stood still right in his way Jimmy was so surprised he didn't know just what to do.

He stamped his feet angrily, and Farmer Brown's boy merely smiled. He followed after a little. He found Farmer Brown's boy digging in the warm, brown earth. Jimmy's body knew that this was the Farmer's danger signal. Farmer Brown's boy merely smiled more broadly than before. Then Jimmy was tempted to shoot that little scent gun he carries and which every one in the forest knows he would teach Farmer Brown's boy a lesson.

THE Stroller notices

THAT coming down the path through the wildwood to the car this morning our ear was arrested by an old familiar "ding-dong, ding-dong."

That it wasn't a school bell. That it sounded too soft and sweet for that.

That it carried us back in memory years and years to the days when the old scissors-grinding man used to plod up our street back home with his grinding machine strapped over his shoulders.

That he used to ring a bell that sounded just like the one we heard this morning.

That in the old days his coming would be the signal for us to run into the house to see if mother had any knives or scissors to be sharp-ened.

That if she had, we'd take them out and watch wondrously and marvel at the sparks that sputtered from the grinder's wheel.

That as we mused on those old days brought back by the tinkling of the bell we could almost believe that we were really living in the past.

That we wished for a moment that it might be so.

That as we emerged from the woods our first thought was to locate the source of the tin-tin-ulation.

That rounding a corner two blocks away came an old man with a grindstone on his back.

That his actual presence there seemed almost as real as our memories had seemed real.

That to make this experience end as all good stories do, he should have turned out to be the same old man who used to entertain us in our childhood.

That he may have been at that.

That we didn't ask him.

That we could never again be the same to each other, anyway.

Well, here's the letter to the "L. W." "Member the other day when the letter came addressed to the "L. W." of "The Stroller" I was promised to tell you about it, and it's so inter-esting that we're going to publish it. Here it is:

To the L. W. of "The Stroller": I wonder if you have ever realized how much pleasure your "Stroller" has given to others less fortunate than yourselves.

Of course, "The Stroller" is deserving much credit for the inter-esting manner in which he "gets up" his column. But to you there is a great deal of credit due: for you are the artist and the artist One of the inspirations for the most interesting part of the column. For instance, Easter Sunday was a lonely day for me, and as I sat musing by the window many "happy families" walked by, and my thoughts went out to "The Stroller's" family, and as a ray of sunshine came the thought that tomorrow will be the "Journal" with an account of a happy day for them, and this thought robbed my own longing and loneliness of much of its sadness and I tried to forget the seeming unkind fate which has robbed me of the pleas-ure which you enjoy.

These words burst of sentiment, but as long as the column continues—and I hope it will be a long time—I assure you it will be enjoyed by AN OLD MAID.

Oh Dear, Oh Dear! Another "Romance" Shattered

Portland, April 12.

Dear Stroller: You mistook us in our letter a few days ago for a boy and a girl, and you drew a picture to that effect. Now, don't faint when you find your "Signs of Spring" were misleading. We are not a boy and a girl, but two boys. We held the news off until now so as not to break it so sudden, but we know you'll forgive us for writing a mis-leading letter, and we forgive you for mistaking us.

We would like to know if you noticed that out Newberg was a lot of people who had just glanced at the paper and read about a paved road to McMinnville and had not, by reading it through, found out that it WOULD be paved, were hunting everywhere for that road? Yours, J. H. and E. B.

To Wm. Buehler Jr.

We haven't overlooked that little play of yours—a good one, too, but we're going to wait for a spell of fine weather before we spring it. How's that?

Monday's mail wasn't as heavy as usual. Of course, there was a reason. Sunday's sunshine. Who would stay indoors on a day like Sunday and write letters? Not us, and we wouldn't expect anyone else to do so. But even so, we're still behind on our correspondence, and we'll be with you again tomorrow.

Fraternal Notes

The Knights of Columbus employment bureau at 205 Beck building has placed 1656 ex-service men in positions, mostly of a permanent character, since the armistice.

Laurelhurst lodge of the Fraternal Brotherhood gave a largely attended initiation meeting Saturday night and served refreshments at its social hour following. The lodge will receive Presi-dent H. V. Davis of Los Angeles next Saturday night at Orient hall, East Sixth and East Alder, and will have a basket social immediately following, with dancing for the closing.

Sunnyside lodge, A. F. and A. M., Wednesday evening, will receive the officers and members of Washington lodge, and the guests will put on the Master Mason degree.
