

JAPANESE BATTLE ARMED WORKMEN

London, April 15.—(L. N. S.)—Japanese troops have occupied many points on the Chinese Eastern railroad, said a news agency dispatch from Peking today.

The occupation was accompanied by numerous clashes between the Japanese and armed workmen. Czech troops joined the workmen. One battle lasted three hours.

JAPANESE PRESS OUTSPOKEN AGAINST SIBERIAN POLICY
By Henry W. Knaey

Tokio, April 10.—(Delayed.)—(U. P.)—Outspoken condemnation of the military intervention in Siberia featured the Japanese press today with the receipt of details of the recent fighting between Japanese and Russians in Vladivostok.

The reopening of the Siberian cable service brought reports of the fighting in the streets of the city, which continued for eight hours and which was marked by the use of machine guns and artillery.

Dispatches reported an intense suppressed hatred for the Japanese on the part of the Russians in Siberia. The provisional government in protesting against Japanese occupation of the city holds all the allied governments responsible for conditions, it is said.

The specific provocation which brought about the clash of troops has not been mentioned in dispatches. Fifty Russians were killed and 1000 taken prisoner, while two Japanese were killed and 10 wounded. Five Czech soldiers were wounded.

Reports indicate that everything is quiet in Vladivostok today.

Many Scales and Weights Inspected

Salem, April 15.—A total of 2902 scales and 2677 weights were inspected by the state sealer of weights and measures and his deputies during the quarter ending March 31, according to a report prepared by W. A. Dalziel, deputy state sealer.

The report shows that 522 linear measures, 1475 liquid measures and 428 gasoline and oil pumps were inspected. One hundred and fifty-six gasoline gravity tests were made, 490 pounds of starch were weighed, 123 pounds of butter were weighed, 15 wagon boxes measured, 12,000 bottles of milk tested and 124,297 pounds of hops weighed during the quarter. Ninety-eight towns were visited.

STRIKER IS FIRM

"The government has made a serious mistake," said R. S. Murphy, one of the strikers and a confidant of Grunau's. "It certainly has not weakened the strikers any. They will not go back to work for $5 a day. I know I will not."

The strike leaders had as their attorney Sam L. Pruce, who announced they would be defended when their case was brought up for hearing by Clarence Darrow, who defended the McNamara brothers at Los Angeles.

"This breaks the strike," said Edward Corrigan, vice president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, commenting on the arrest of the strikers' leader.

"It is the psychological moment, and the men have already started returning to work," he said.

Railroad managers reported an increase in the number of switch engine crews working today.

FOSTER DENIES HE HAD HAND IN RAIL STRIKE

"Pittsburg, Pa., April 15.—(L. N. S.)—"Attorney General Palmer is a liar and I suspect that he knows he is. His charges against me, as reported in the newspapers today, are all bunk."

In these words W. Z. Foster, former secretary of the national committee which conducted the steel strike several months ago, denied the charges alleged to have been made by the department of justice that he was one of the prime movers in the present "outlaw" railroad strike.

"I don't even know the fellows who are striking," said Foster.

OFFICIAL OF RAIL UNION DECLARES STRIKE IS BROKEN

Cleveland, Ohio, April 15.—(U. P.)—"The strike can be said to be definitely broken," was the statement issued here today by a high railroad brotherhood official.

More than 100 telegrams on the strike situation in all parts of the country, received during the last 24 hours by W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, indicate that "the strike is not only crumbling, but rapidly dwindling," Lee said.

DEATH MAY SEAL BLUEBEARD'S LIPS

Seattle, April 15.—J. P. Watson, alias Louis A. Hill, who is supposed to have been a second wife here, she is Kathryn Wombacher, formerly of Spokane. Miss Wombacher knew Watson under the name of Walter Andrews, and, according to friends, he has given him $2000, the savings of 20 years' earnings as a dressmaker. She is now supposed to be in Los Angeles, where they went after their marriage here November 8, 1915.

PERSHING IN RACE STIRS POLITICIANS

of the evils that have existed. As instances of this I point to the campaign against arson, the abolition of the loan shark by the legislature, the enactment of a large degree of the curbstone, real estate swindling. I have also endeavored to cooperate fully with those official bodies and voluntary associations which have for their purpose the betterment of social conditions. The handling of matters pertaining peculiarly to women and girls has been delegated to one of their own sex. Special attention has been given to the enforcement of remedial legislation administered by the food and dairy commissioner, labor commissioner, court of domestic relations and other like agencies.

"The civil legal business of the county has grown enormously and has been handled in such a manner that the interests of the county have at all times been fully protected.

"I have endeavored to establish such relations with the bar that any attorney may feel free to present his matters with entire frankness and be assured of an open-minded hearing without advantage being taken of him. I believe that the bar, with few exceptions, realize and appreciate this fact."

WOODWARD CANDIDATE FOR PORTLAND SCHOOL DIRECTOR
William F. Woodward, senior member of the firm of Woodward, Clarke & Co., has made formal announcement of the fact that he will be a candidate for director of district No. 1, the Portland district.

The election will be held in June, there being two vacancies to be filled, the terms of Director Sommer and Director Plummer expiring by limitation at that time. It is understood that Mr. Plummer will be a candidate for reelection, though Dr. Sommer has not yet made announcement of his plans.

"I have talked the matter over with Mrs. Woodward repeatedly," Mr. Woodward said this morning, "and we have decided that it would be well for me to offer to serve in a position which carries no salary but a great deal of grief."

"It seems to me that the city could have no higher ideal or goal than a good public school system—efficient, well organized, well managed and harmonious, all parts working in cooperation. I believe that we should build our public schools that the people of the United States would recognize Portland as having the best schools in the country, and would want to come here to educate their children. It is a plan purely constructive and without any thought of criticism of the schools as they now exist. But we should work to be in the vanguard.

"The very life of our nation, its well-being, its ideals, have for their foundation stones our elementary public schools. Through these schools, powerhouses of pure democracy, foreign classes are melted, differences and distinctions of birth, race and material conditions blended, there should be the highest and purest service rendered by all who have to do with their supervision or control.

"There is and should be no room in our land for the elementary, private, sectarian or parochial schools. For in these lie the creation of caste and class. Our schools today are called upon to yield more than elementary book instruction to the child. The educator must implant those principles (lacking those ideals and standards which will make the citizen of tomorrow in the truest and best sense of the word. The educator should find in the directors cooperation, not alone in the business administration, or in matters having to do with the material well-being of the school, but in the general administration. And if the service of a director is responsible and worthy, in how much greater a degree is this true of the teacher, a profession which should be so required as to call forth the best in morale and brain of the land."

BERTHA GOODNICH REPORTED MISSING SINCE MARRIAGE

Spokane, Wash., April 15.—(U. P.)—Local developments in the Hurlt "Bluebeard" case here today were: Mrs. Alma E. Snyder, supposed "wife" of Hurlt, denies that she married him. Hurlt, she says, posed to her as "Gordon" and had sent her $10 with a request "not to work so hard." She refuses to believe Hurlt is as black as he's painted.

Mrs. Sarah A. Durham says she may have corresponded with Hurlt under the name of Anderson, but can't remember details. She denies any marriage.

Mrs. Gebhardt, aunt of Miss Bertha Goodnick, whose body may be identified as that of a woman near Martinez, Cal., says her niece disappeared after marrying Hurlt, alias Gordon, in North Yakima last June.

Replicas of dentures, done by a local dentist on Miss Goodnick's on its way to Martinez to aid investigation.

Mrs. Florence A. Long, said to be named in a will made by Hurlt and Santa Monica, cannot be located here.

SALEM WOMAN IS ON WAY TO LOOK BLUEBEARD OVER

Salem, April 15.—Mrs. Katherine Kruse Watson, who left Tuesday night for Los Angeles in a quest for the arrest of "Bluebeard" Watson, does not believe the prisoner is her husband. She was reluctant in her talk, but told Chief of Police Welch that her husband wears an "I. C. C. A." button and is a commercial traveler.

She said she had been in Salem for about two months, living at a rooming house since her husband, who came to Salem with her, left for the south a short time after their arrival. She admitted she married Watson in Nelson, B. C.

Chief Welch said he understood Mrs. Watson was bound for San Diego, where, she said, she and her husband have a bank account. She said she had not heard from Watson since his departure.

PENDLETON WOMAN MAY HAVE BEEN ONE OF VICTIMS

Pendleton, April 15.—J. P. Watson, California's "Bluebeard," had a victim or prospective victim in Pendleton, a wife, according to friends, who came from Los Angeles. The woman in question, whose name was withheld by the officer, left here four months ago for an Eastern Washington city. Whether she was married to Watson or married him is not known here.

Seattle Wife Revealed

Seattle, April 15.—J. P. Watson, alias Louis A. Hill, who is supposed to have been a second wife here, she is Kathryn Wombacher, formerly of Spokane. Miss Wombacher knew Watson under the name of Walter Andrews, and, according to friends, he has given him $2000, the savings of 20 years' earnings as a dressmaker. LODGE, INTERESTING FIGURE

More than six feet tall, commanding presence, friendly, Sir Oliver Lodge is an interesting figure. An excellent conversationalist, he is said to be one of England's foremost public speakers.

He is in Portland to deliver a lecture tonight on "The Evidence for Survival," one of the three lectures which have caused great interest on his American tour, which began three months ago. Admission will be charged.

BELIEVES IN OCCULT

He began investigating psychic phenomena in the '80s. For 20 years he was skeptical, but so many things seemingly could not be explained that his only conclusion could be that there was genuine communication with the spirit world.

"I cannot communicate. The faculty of communication seems to be a gift, just like the gift of music or proficiency in mathematics.

"It is necessary for me to play a piano to understand music; just so it is not necessary that I be a medium to communicate with the spirit world.

"If it is reasonable to believe in mental telepathy, which is communication between two minds in human bodies, and which has been proved, is it not reasonable to believe possible communication between a mind here and a mind separated from the body 'over there'?"

PRESIDENT'S RETURN BRINGS CONFIDENCE

working side by side with the conservative leaders of union labor to influence the striking workmen to come back to work. But these same leaders, whose sincerity has been doubted again and again, have warned the government against a policy of neglect, and while they were making every effort themselves to keep control of their men they insist that the present situation is the best proof obtainable that the demands which the railroad men left at the White House early as last July cannot be longer ignored.

Much is expected from the new railroad labor board, which has just been named by President Wilson, but as happened in the case of the previous board, the burden will be imposed upon the consumer, just as the man who meets the heavy excess profits taxes adds a percentage of that tax to his prices in order that his own income shall not be diminished.

The economic crisis, in other words, still goes on and the railroad workers are disaffected because they pay no taxes unaltered while living costs go up.

GOVERNMENT AT CRISIS
The government will probably attempt to punish the railway men who brought on the strike if a conspiracy can be proved. The executive branch of the government is equally timid about pressing its case against profiteers and those who are keeping up the cost of living.

Indeed, congress says the executive departments can cut the cost of living if they will but enforce the laws on the statute books. So, between a Republican congress and a Democratic executive very little has happened, though labor leaders have been repeatedly given warning of such a rebellion as has occurred. The big question now is whether the two hostile branches of the government will be able to do better.

Trouble Is Settled Over Water Rights From Cherry Creek

Salem, April 15.—Differences existing between a number of water users on Cherry creek in Klamath county and the Oregon Agricultural college experiment station over water rights were amicably adjusted after a hearing before the state water board Wednesday, at which a stipulation was entered into whereby all parties concerned will share equally in the distribution of water. The supply of water available in the creek is sufficient for all needs, the board held. The water users were represented at the hearing by Fred Brown, Klamath county rancher, and the Oregon Agricultural college by Jesse P. Rose.

WILBUR MAKES GOOD BOAST; PAROLE GIVEN FROM TERM IN JAIL

Oregon City, April 15.—Julius Wilbur, thrice convicted in Clackamas county of violating the prohibition law and two times fined and upon the third offense fined and sentenced to six months in the county jail, has made good his boast at the time of the last conviction that he would never serve time in the Clackamas county jail; for, after being brought back to Oregon City Monday from California, three years following his latest conviction, he was paroled from the jail sentence and will shortly return to Oakland, Cal., where he is in the automobile business and is said to have reformed and is leading a useful life.

Wilbur appeared before Judge J. U. Campbell in the circuit court late Wednesday afternoon upon his petition for a parole, and the jurist, who heard the trial, after reviewing the recommendations of other prominent jurists, one on the bench at Oakland and others of Portland, as well as prominent citizens of Oregon, granted the petition with the understanding that Wilbur should pay the $300 fine, all the costs of the court actions, totaling $542.90, together with the costs of the sheriff in returning Wilbur to Oregon, amounting to $66.85. Wilbur had already paid his own fare as well as that of Deputy Sheriff Hughes from Oakland to Oregon City, together with their traveling expenses, and had paid his expenses during his three days' "stay" in Oregon City.

Wilbur was proprietor of the notorious "Friars" club at Milwaukie, which caused the state and county officers trouble for many years until Wilbur's last conviction, when it was put out of business as a nuisance.

QUILA IS BAD ACTOR, SIR OLIVER'S DICTUM TO SPOOK COMMUNER

Sir Oliver Lodge, world famous scientist and psychist, will commune with no spirits while in Portland. Perhaps not until he returns to England next month will he speak to Raymond, his departed son, or the several other persons with whom he claims to be in communication.

"The reason is that Sir Oliver relies upon only five or six mediums, and they are all in England.

"Perhaps there are other mediums just as reliable as those I know," he said, "but of them I have no intimate knowledge."

DOUBTS QUILA'S RELIABILITY

Of investigation and research have convinced me that these five or six mediums do communicate with the other world; I have not tested the others to a degree that would warrant my reposing confidence in them."

He was asked a question about outboard boards.

"Ouija boards are unreliable. How can one know the 'messages' he gets off the board are not drawn from his subconscious mind or his dream strata?"

"Communications on the outboard generally are trivial. They seem to have no solid foundation."

FISTICUFFS FAILED AS FIGHTING DEMON HIT WRONG WOMAN

Half a dozen bottles of lilac perfume, a keen edge razor and $100 in bills were the stage properties in a knock-out and drag 'em out dramma of the old West which thrilled scores of persons in front of an apartment house at First and Harrison streets Wednesday afternoon.

Ed Thurman, 50 years old, Western lodging house, playing opposite Bonita Felice, the alleged vampire, is in the emergency hospital with six deep gashes about the face and one on the left arm.

Both pleaded guilty to being disorderly this morning and Municipal Judge Rossmann fined Bonita $10, sending Thurman to jail for 30 days.

Thurman told Patrolman Travis and Motorcycle Policemen Wiles and Anderson that Bonita took from him $100. The details of the extraction were not made clear to the police.

Going to her apartment to attempt to recover the loot, he claims he was attacked and repulsed by the aid of an unidentified stranger.

When the police arrived the fight was in progress on the street in front of the apartment house. According to the police both principals were fragrant with lilac perfume.

"I'm a fighting rascal," moaned Ed as the police surgeon stitched up his face in various places, "but they ganged up on me."

MISS ISOM IS DEAD FROM LONG ILLNESS

the opportunity came for her to continue her usefulness overseas, she welcomed it.

That her last illness was hastened by her experiences in France is the belief of her friends and associates.

Her task was that of supplying books to the sick and wounded in the hospitals and in the field, during the winter of 1918-19 in France, sleeping in hospital beds, in the deathly cold French hotels and houses and eating irregularly, enduring a harder existence than almost any other of the women workers in France, her strength was undermined.

Her health failed once in France, and she was forced to seek hospital treatment. On returning to the United States she entered a hospital in Cleveland and was there for several weeks before assuming her duties again in Portland.

Miss Isom organized and was the first president of the Professional Women's League of Portland in 1912. This organization has the distinction of having entertained many people of national and international note. In 1915, Miss Isom was again elected to the presidency of the league. She was an honorary member of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae and she was an active member of a large number of the clubs and civic organizations of the city, giving them at all times her personal and financial support in a most generous way.

ALUMNAE OF THREE COLLEGES WORK FOR STATE MILLAGE TAX

Roseburg, April 15.—The Joint Alumnae association, consisting of the alumnae of the U. of O., the O. A. C., respectively, will act as chairman of the campaign.

At the Parent-Teacher meeting of the Benson school the association passed a resolution asking that the Roseburg school board retain Superintendent Aubrey G. Smith as city superintendent.
