DORTLAND'S baseball boosters are planning many things for the opening of the 1920 season in the City of noon at Twenty-fourth and Vaughn providing of course that Jupe Pluy will hold off for a few hours at least.

One of the novel stunts billed for the afternoon is the dropping of a baseball from an airplane by Milton Reed Klepgon-Washington-Idaho Airplane corporation's machine which will carry Klepper over the park and arrangements have been made by the company to have another ship fly about to take photographs of the happenings.

"You'd bester warn the bleacherites." says Klepper, "to keep their eyes on the plane, for I'm not a Christy Mathewson when it comes to control. I'm going to attach a number of streamers to the ball so that they can see it coming, but I've planned to drop the pill right in the center of the diamond. I piloted Governor Olcott over Mount Shasta last fall, but he won't be in the machine with me Wednesday. Instead he's going to be down in the pitcher's box and I'm going to aim at him."

A parade through the downtown streets has been planned and owners of machines who will have an afternoon "off" are requested to get in touch with land Baseball Boosters regarding places in the doings.
