THIRD and WAR SAVING STAMPS on Sale at Business Office, The Journal

Flood Danger Not Gone—Although the Columbia river is falling at the present, it may reach the flood stage yet, due to the peculiar weather conditions in the mountains. In February there was little snow in the mountains, and it was thought there was little chance for a flood, but since that time much snow has fallen, and when it melts early in the summer high water may result.
Good Prune Crop Promised—A week's good weather will insure one of the largest prune crops ever grown in Clarke county, according to reports from Vancouver. Although the cold rain of the last few weeks was feared by many, it is said that even if the rain had continued it would have injured only the weaker orchards and would have had little effect on matured trees. Growers are certain that the crop this year will exceed that of 1919, in spite of the fact that last year was a good one. The estimated value of last year's crop was $2,000,000.

Will Turn Out Warehouse Lumber—J. O. Hays, San Jose millionaire, who owns much property in the Lake Labish region near Salem, is constructing a sawmill in that vicinity to cut lumber for the construction of warehouses. These will be used as storage places for onions and other vegetables for protection against freezing weather. Larger acreage is being planted to onions than ever before. The present price of onions is about $7 a sack.

Growers Watch Weather—The present season's fruit crop depends largely upon the weather during the next two or three weeks, according to C. I. Lewis, director of the Oregon Grower and exporter of the Oregon Fruit Growers' Cooperative association. If during that time favorable climatic conditions prevail, said Mr. Lewis, there will be 60,000,000 bushels of fruit harvested in Oregon. If the weather is unfavorable this amount will be materially reduced.

None Filed for O. & C. Land—Although 24 applications have been received in the United States land office at Vancouver, Wash., for O. & C. grant lands, there have been none up to this date who have filed for the two tracts of land on Shillashoos lake, all those applying preferring to take their chances on the larger tracts of land directly north of the city. So far no women have been included in those who have made applications for the land.

Fined for Buying Beaver Pelts—A charge involving the buying and selling of beaver skins was answered in justice court in Prineville last week by a plea of guilty on the part of J. A. Stein, a Portland fur buyer, defendant. A fine of $50 with costs of $2.50 was collected. It was alleged that Stein had made two shipments of beaver pelts, one of six skins to Chicago and two to Denver. The case was of two years' standing.

Read to Aid Boys—Americanization work, extension work for boys, and Bible study will be objectives of the Reed college Y. M. C. A., if present plans materialize. Seven leaders of student activities attended the conference at Willamette university Saturday. Reed delegation was headed by Eugene Vincent. Others were William Stone, Jack White and Tom Brockway, recently elected Reed's 1920-21 student councilors; Paul Workman, chairman of the men's social committee, and Maurice Howard, president of the Daydodger association.

Perhaps He Hoped To Kill Policemen With Tack Hammer

"Let's get out in the street and settle this thing with guns," said J. E. Creighton, as he faced the squad of policemen sent to arrest him Sunday afternoon on a charge of threatening to kill Patrolman C. F. Shaylor. Cautiously they approached him, searching his pockets in feverish haste. The only weapon they found was a tack hammer. Shaylor was notified by a waitress in the Liberty Lunch Saturday night that Creighton was carrying a gun. When questioned Creighton shoved forward his right hand, which was in his coat pocket, threatening to kill the policeman, the police say. While Shaylor stepped back into the street to draw his own gun, the alleged bad man made his escape. Sunday the management of the cafe called the police to tell them the supposed gunman had returned. It was then that he was arrested.

10 Mass Meetings Called to Promote Interchurch Work

Twenty-four Portland pastors and other local leaders of Interchurch World movement activities will conduct 10 mass meetings in Portland churches this evening in the interest of the campaign for a fund of $336,777,572, which started Sunday morning and will continue until next Sunday. The mass meetings have been arranged by the Portland Federation of Churches. Five will start at 7:45 in the following churches: Mount Tabor M. E., Central M. E., Patton M. E., University Park Baptist, Centenary M. E. The other five meetings will begin at 8 in the Atkinson Memorial Congregational church, Westminster Presbyterian, Highland Baptist, St. Johns M. E. and First Baptist. All of these meetings are open to the public.

Included in the programs, which are to be the same at all meetings, will be the stereotypical lectures on surveys made by the Interchurch World movement, upon which budget estimates for the campaign were determined, and discussions of the future activities of the cooperating churches.

The canvasses will be continued today, and special "citizens' division" teams will work in the downtown sections. Reports to the state office in the Platt building show that the canvass is under way in practically every community in Oregon.

How much should I give to make this a better world?

A BUSINESS man filled out his income tax report.
It showed an income so large that his tax was 53%. And his total gifts to church and charity for the year were $148.

Think of it—thousands spent for luxuries and pleasure for himself; and $148 to leave the world a little better than he found it!

Most of us do better than that; but not so very much better.

Our average daily gift for all church causes is

- less than we spend for daily papers
- less than a local telephone call
- less than a third of the day's car fare
- less than 3 cents a day

No wonder that 80% of the ministers of America are paid less than $20 a week. No wonder that the church hospitals turn away thousands of sick people a year. No wonder that China has only one doctor for every 400,000 people. No wonder that every church board and charity society is forever meeting deficits, forever passing the hat.

It isn't because we are selfish; it isn't because we don't want to help. It's just because no one has ever put up a great big program to us, and asked us to think of the work of the church in a systematic businesslike way.

The Interchurch World Movement represents the united program of thirty great denominations. They have surveyed their whole task; no business could have done it better.

They have budgeted their needs; no business could have a more scientific budget. They have united to prevent the possibility of waste and duplication. At least a million dollars will be saved by the fact that thirty individual campaigns are joined in one united effort.

And they come to the men and women who love America—to you—this week, asking you to use them as the channel through which a certain definite part of your income can be applied to make this a better world.

Only you can determine what part of your income that should be. The chart printed here is intended merely as a suggestion; it represents a scale of giving of 5%—or less.

Six per cent of your earning power; 15/16ths of your life for your own family needs, and 1/16th for your fellow men—is that more than you ought to give?

It's a good time right now to answer that question. We're passing through the world just once; how much better is the world going to be because you passed through?
