Society folk and members of artistic circles are greatly interested in the performances of fairy plays to be given at the Little theatre by the Cornish Players of Seattle, which opens Friday afternoon with "Alice in Wonderland." The play will be repeated Friday evening and again Saturday morning. Saturday afternoon and evening "Columbine" and two acts from "Alice" will be given. The extra Saturday morning performance was made necessary by the great demand for seats, which exceeded the capacity of the house.

Shakespeare Strotter Club Pays Homage

HONOR was paid William Shakes-peare at the annual luncheon of the Portland Shakespeare Study club Wednesday at the Hotel Portland, with 75 women present. Mrs. Albert M. Brown, president of the club, presided. Out of town guests included members of the McMinnville Shakespeare club. The program opened with a group of vocal solos by Mrs. Robert Clarke, with Robert Clark Jr. at the piano. For one of the numbers Miss Jean Harper played violin obligato. Colonel Robert A. Miller paid a glowing tribute to Shakespeare and made a plea for the encouragement of genius whenever and wherever it is found, Mrs. Julia C. La Barre, the first leader of the club and one of its most beloved members, gave an original poem of much merit, entitled, "The Birth of Our Club. Mrs. Helen Miller Senn spoke on Walter Hampden, the new Hamlet.

Miss May Breslin, a member of the club, sang two delightful songs. Mrs. Toney, president of the McMinnville club, gave a short talk. The bill providing a millage tax for the higher educational institutions of the state was presented by Mrs. Edith Knight Hill and the bill providing a millage tax for the elementary schools of the state was presented by Mrs. A. Miss Verna Felton, who is playing 'Pegli in the Alcazar's production of "Peg O' My Heart" this week, had somewhat of a surprise handed her over the footlights Monday night. There were two baskets of flowers passed to Miss Felton, the first one a large and beautiful one, but the other though quite beautiful, caused somewhat of a frown over her face. "The Woman of Bronze" is not altogether a pleasant thirty, though it is the very anguish and mental torture through which the development of the story carries Vivian Hunt that affords Miss swells to a tempestuous outburst of loving anger and of hate, and drives her to the verge of shedding the life-blood of the woman who has wrecked her life and her home, before she again becomes mistress of herself, and gives all of her own life and contentment for the sake dressed. of the man she once loved.

indicated last night by frequent inter- lipperty-lip. ruptions of applause.

The story in brief is that of the aspirations of a sculptor, Leonard Hunt, splendidly played by Fred Eric, to win a prize in a world contest of artists for the creation of a figure symbolizing the soul of a world emerged from the throes of the great war. The artist's inspiration has been his wife (Miss Anglin), until the appearance of Sylvia Morton, MARGARET ANGLIN displays superly a cousin (Nedda Harrigan). Then the emotional acting in a play of unartist and the cousin love each other, artist and the cousin love each other, artist and the cousin love each other. a cousin (Nedda Harrigan). Then the usual dramatic intensity, as Vivian not without the knowledge of the artist's

The love is unholy, and broken and suffering, the artist returns to him home, and there, in the face of the wife he has cruelly wronged, he finds the expression of a wonderful soul-the expression he has sought elsewhere in vain, and which tramsferred to his artistic masterpiece. "The Woman of Bronze," wins, we are left to infer with Anglin such rare opportunity for display the final curtain, the world's greatest But he has lost the love of and respect of his wife. Miss Anglin's supporting company is well equipped for the exacting demands upon it for an even-going, perfectly balanced production, and the piece is splendidly staged, in one set, and "The Woman of Bronze" goes tonight.

Oily skin and shiny nose How to correct them

Do you know that the oil in your skin is necessary to keep it smooth, velvety, supple? This oil is constantly being produced by the glands of the skin. When it is too abundant the result is an oily skin and a shiny nose. You can relieve this embarrassing condition by using the following treatment as frequently as is necessary.

With warm water work up a heavy lather of Woodbury's Facial Soap in your hands. Apply it to your face and rub it into the pores thoroughly-always with an upward and outward motion. Rinse with warm water, then with cold—the colder the better. If possible, rub your face for thirty seconds with a piece of ice.

This treatment will make your skin firmer and drier the very first time you try it. Use it as often as your skin requires, nightly if necessary, and before long you will see a marked improvement.

Get a cake of Woodbury's Facial Soap and begin tonight the treatment your skin needs. You will find Woodbury's on sale at any drug store or toilet goods counter in the United States or Canada. A 25 cent cake will last a month or six weeks.
