

LOGANBERRY PRICE HELD PROHIBITIVE

Salem, April 29.—Announcement of the withdrawal of the Puyallup & Sumner Fruit Canning company from the loganberry market in the Salem district was made Wednesday. The high figure at which growers are holding this year's crop, coupled with the shortage and incident high price of sugar, is given as the cause for the withdrawal, and is said to be only temporary and subject to change should conditions in the future justify their re-entry into the field.

This makes the third large buyer to withdraw from the market here within the past few days. The Phez company and the Salem Kings Product company withdrawing last Saturday after it was definitely determined that the price would exceed 12 cents.

The action of the Puyallup & Sumner company follows the failure of the buyers and producers to get together on a price for the crop at the conference last Saturday, at which the producers fixed a price of 14 cents per pound for the crop, with the buyers declaring 13 cents to be the limit.

With these three buyers out of the market it is felt that the growers will be compelled to barrel their product for shipment east, although growers are still confident that a market will be found for their product in the Northwest at the figure demanded.

Student Body Shows No Desire to Fill the Vacancies in Office

University of Oregon, Eugene, April 29.—Student body officers are proving poor drawing cards for candidates while places on the Emerald and Oregona staffs are eagerly sought. Don Newbury of Monmouth is alone in the race for the student body presidency and Lyle Bryson is sole candidate for the secretaryship.

Other candidates for student offices are:

Senior man on student council—Lois Macy, Florence Eiddle and Wanda Brown.

Senior man on council—Leith Abbott and George Hopkins.

Student body vice-president—Jack Benedict.

Business manager of Oregona—Warren Keys.

Business manager of Emerald—Raymond Vester.

Junior Woman on council—Helen Nelson and Eleanor Spall.

Dundee Invites All To Come and View Prunes in Blossom

Dundee, Or., April 29.—Dundee invites the world to view its prune orchards Sunday, when "Blossom day" will be celebrated.

Dundee is known as one of the prettiest spots in the Willamette valley. Motorists can drive from Portland to Newberg over the paved road and then over the Dundee hills. The roads through these hills are being put in first class condition.

The growers around Dundee take great pride in their orchards and, from the smallest to the largest, they are kept like a garden.

Dundee has the distinction of having the largest bearing prune orchard in the state of Oregon, if not in the world. This orchard is located on the very top of the Dundee hills and promises to be in absolutely full bloom at this time. It consists of five acres of prunes, and by driving through this orchard wonderful views of the valley are possible.

Arrangements have been made at Dundee whereby those who do not have their own conveyance will be taken through the different orchards, free of charge, and open house will be the order of the day at the community hall by the women of Dundee.

Assignment of Air Patrols Disappoints Forestry Officials

Salem, April 29.—Announcement by the war department that only one squadron of airplanes would be available for forest patrol on the Pacific coast this year and that squadron would be assigned to work in California, comes as a distinct disappointment to state forestry officials here.

"We had counted on the planes to augment our regular patrols," declared F. A. Elliott, state forester, Wednesday, explaining that plans had been practically completed for the establishment of sub-bases at Portland, Eugene, Medford and either La Grande or Baker under the assurance that 15 planes would be assigned to work in Oregon this year.

Governor Olcott, who has been very active in the interest of air patrols and whose interest is credited by air service officials with attracting attention of war department officials to the need of the planes for patrol work, also expressed disappointment over the announcement.

Both Governor Olcott and Elliott, however, are hopeful that Oregon may yet benefit by the patrol through the assignment of a few of the planes in the one available squadron to this state.

Pendleton Tribune Purchased; Policy Will Be Continued

Pendleton, April 28.—Harry Kueck of The Dalles has purchased the Pendleton Morning Tribune from W. E. Lowell, G. F. Gilmore, C. J. Owen and a trustee company of local men, most of them identified with the Republican central committee. The paper will continue to be Republican in policy. The new owner is a graduate of the University of Oregon.

The Tribune is one of the oldest papers in Oregon, having been founded in the early eighties. It has changed hands many times and has been alternately in the evening and morning field. It entered the morning field on March 1, 1920.

Full-blooded Indians on the Umatilla reservation, who were allotted 40 acres each of land under the allotment act of 1891, will meet Thursday at Adams to discuss ways and means of obtaining an additional 80 acres each. A delegate will be chosen to go to Washington and present their case for the 199 Indians affected. Their position will have the approval of E. L. Swartzlander, Indian agent, he says.

The first conviction in the county for violation of the fishing laws was obtained at Milton in the case against A. Worthington, charged with having in his possession trout under six inches long. He was fined $25.

Bend, April 29.—If he can purchase suitable ranch property in Deschutes county, W. E. Clarke, a well-known dairyman, will bring his large Jersey dairy herd from the Willamette valley to engage in the dairy business.

Woman, Despondent Following Divorce, Takes Her Own Life

Mrs. Grace Cawood, 581 Mary street, who was divorced from her husband, Frank Cawood, about three weeks ago, committed suicide at her home Wednesday afternoon by drinking carbolic acid. She was 40 years old.

The body was found by her mother, Mrs. E. W. Smith, 442 Greenwood street, and her 7-year-old daughter, Geraldine, shortly after 5 o'clock.

In a note written just before her death, Mrs. Cawood gave as the cause of her action, poor health and despondency.

Mrs. Smith and the child saw Mrs. Cawood lying on her bed when they tried to get in the house. Finding the door locked, they entered by a window. Inspectors Howell, Russell, Norene and Motorcycle Officers Forken and Abbott investigated. The body was taken to the county morgue.
