

A black and white photograph of a river scene, likely the Bull Run River. The river flows through a rocky, wooded landscape. A person is visible in the lower right, standing in the water and fishing. The scene is framed by an ornate, decorative border with floral and scrollwork motifs at the corners and bottom. The title "Oregon Journal" is printed in a stylized font at the top right, with "MAGAZINE" and the date "Sunday, May 2nd, 1920" below it. At the bottom center, a small caption reads "THE WIRE & SPRING ON THE BULL RUN RIVER" and "© GIFFORD COMMERCIAL PHOTO STUDIO." is printed below that.
