west corner of the Hillsboro quadrangle then back down Scappoose creek to the railroad, either at Scappoose or Johnson's Crossing. They will return to Portland at 9:30 Sunday evening. The walk will cover about 18 miles of country near the Mazamas. Frank Redman will be the leader.

Prepares for Fire Season—In an aggressive campaign to get all the telephone lines in the national forests in good working order for the coming season before the fire protective work actually begins, C. M. Allen, telephone engineer of the forest service is making an inspection of a majority of the forests in the district as possible. He has just returned from the Cascade national forest and the Columbia national forest, at the latter places improving the telephone service between Stevenson and the Wind River station.

Opens Class in Citizenship—J. B. Easter, deputy county clerk, in charge of naturalization matters, will take a class of citizenship school at 10 a. m. in the Multnomah county courthouse this evening. All candidates for naturalization are invited to attend. Easter will review procedure in federal, state and municipal courts. The next batch of candidates for final citizenship papers will be taken before Circuit Judge McCourt in June.

Hearse Collides With Auto—Answering an emergency call to the Morrison street bridge, where Sebastian Plymale died suddenly of heart disease Thursday morning, a hearse driven by Chester Buchtel, 492 East Ankeny street, collided with an automobile driven by O. W. Hestford, 71 Couch street, near East Water and Morrison streets. Buchtel's machine was jammed to the sidewalk, breaking in federal, state and two pedestrians, R. B. Diamond of Wilbur street, and H. P. Diamond of Seattle, both being slightly bruised and cut. Buchtel and Hestford were freed.

Speaks on Armenian Massacres—The Armenian Massacres will be the subject of an address by the Rev. E. T. Allen of Uramia, Persia, at the Mizpah Presbyterian church next Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Allen was formerly a pastor in Portland and was also connected with the Presbyterian church at Uramia in Eastern Oregon. Allen was in Uramia during the entire Armenian massacre and saw the work he had helped to build swept away. His mission is a total ruin.

Lecture on Birds—W. A. Elliot will give an illustrated lecture on birds before the Oregon Audubon society Saturday night at 8 o'clock in library hall. His subject will be "The Smaller Birds of the Woodland," which will include the warblers, vireos, kinglets, nuthatches and titmice. The northern rush of the migrant warblers is at flood tide and this talk is a timely one for bird students. The public is invited to attend.

Rabbi Wise's Sermon—The subject of Rabbi Jonah B. Wise's sermon tonight at 8 o'clock in Temple Beth Israel will be "The Probability and Possibilities of a Jewish Homeland." Saturday morning services at 10:30. Strangers welcome.

Loganberry Prices Prohibitive, Chapin Tells Business Men L. J. Chapin of Salem told the members of the Progressive Business Men's club Thursday afternoon that the growers of loganberries in the Willamette valley are holding their product at a price so high the prospect is that they may destroy their own market and have the berries on their hands. He said that the berries and sugar both at excessive cost could not be manufactured into a product of sufficiently low price to induce people to buy it. The growers are said to be holding the berries at from 14 to 15 cents a pound. R. W. Gill presided.
