Brown and Gorman in Great Bout

By Bob

YOUNG BROWN was in a fight Thursday night. So was Joe Gorman. And both boys were in the fight to such an extent that Referee Grover Francis called the result a draw. Gorman had a shade by a slight, shadowy margin.

Fights may come and fights may go, as the old woman said when she hit the old man with a half done hotcake, but this Joe Gorman-Young Brown affair will go on forever and take its place beside the battles of Thermopylae, Gettysburg and Kemmell Hill.

How the two boys kept on their feet throughout the 10 gruelling rounds is more than mortal can say, but that they did keep their feet with furious tenacity is a testimonial due only to their superb physical condition.

WAS FIERCE ENCOUNTER

Any effort to describe the battle blow by blow, or round by round, would be as futile as an attempt to count the grains of powder on a girl with a greasy nose. It couldn't be done.

The fiercest encounter in ring history is probably that which is chalked up to Battling Nelson and Ad Wolgast. This lasted 40 rounds. Simply cut out the 20 fiercest rounds in the Wolgast-Nelson dispute, turn on the juice so as to squeeze 'em into a film of 10 rounds, put Gorman's and Brown's name in the caption and you'll have some idea of the bout.

The big crowd responded liberally to the thrill offered by the gamesters. Time after time, as the battlers stood toe to toe, refusing to budge, both arms shooting out gloves as drops of water fall from a circular spray, the fans would burst into spontaneous applause. The bell and the referee and seconds had to separate the boxers more than once.

FIREWORKS START

The fireworks were set off in the second round, with Gorman forging slightly ahead. In the third Brown evened up matters by chopping Joe to the chin as they went to a half stooping posture to exchange wallops for a full minute.

Brown fought Gorman to the ropes in the fourth with a fusillade of chops. The fifth was even more terrific than any of its predecessors. In the sixth Gorman hooked Brown to the jaw and he wobbled in the knees and staggered.

As fierce as had been the pace, the seventh round outdid the previous six. Brown was again shaky in the knees, but he gave no quarter. The eighth found both boys neck-deep in a furious assault. Gorman earned the ninth by a wide shade by two right uppercuts to the mouth, one of which lifted Brown to his toes.

MITCHIE IS BEATEN

The tenth was a panorama of lightning-like gloves and feet and arms. There must have been 200 blows struck in this session. Gorman seemed to land the cleaner and the harder and was stronger at the finish.

Gorman's fight fully answered all critics who said he had been drawing set-ups. He convinced the fans that he is ripe to meet any boy in the country at his weight. This is not taking any credit away from Young Brown. He is all that advance notices said he was. The boys ought to be rematched by all means. The outcome of a second match would be as problematical as the first.

The curse of Dusenberry, first put on Peter Mitchie and Neil Zimmerman when he took them to California, followed them into the ring and brought upon them overwhelming disaster. Ted Hoke, hitting like a sledge hammer, was awarded the verdict over Neil in the third round after the latter had been knocked down three times, once in the second and twice in the third. Neil was helplessly out and mercy demanded that the bout be stopped.

Mitchie took an unmitigated drubbing at the hands of the heady and cunning Puggy Morton. After the first two rounds, in which Mitchie showed to advantage, he was completely outclassed. In the third he was nearly out. The fact that he stayed the eight rounds was a tribute to his gameness.

DECISION RANK ONE

Weldon Wing and Young Monroe, brother of Young Brown, battled eight equatorial rounds to a draw. Monroe led in the early stages, but Toughy solved him in the fourth and outfought and outboxed him in the sixth and seventh, with the eighth fairly even. Young Monroe is a growing reproduction of his brother, Young Brown.

The curtain raiser between Johnny Fugate, former amateur lightweight champion of the city, and Jimmy Moscow was called a draw by Referee Francis. It was the rankest mistake of judgment ever pulled in a local ring. Fugate hammered Moscow from gong to gong in every round and won without extended effort.

Lew Blue's Triple Is A Winner

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—Portland defeated San Francisco in a slugging contest Thursday, 10 to 8, Lew Blue's triple in the eighth inning opening the way for the Beaver victory. The count see-sawed back and forth throughout the battle and the locals threatened to score in the ninth.

"Lefty" Schroeder and Couch were the opposing twirlers at the start, but both were replaced, McQuaid taking the burden off Couch in the sixth and Sutherland replacing Schroeder in the eighth.

Dick Cox might be termed the hero. He replaced Baker, one of whose fingers was split open by a foul tip, after Manager Graham of the Seals refused to give McCredie permission to put Koehler back into the game, and made a great catch of a foul fly from Caveney's bat, ending the struggle.

San Francisco scored three runs in the first inning on two doubles and a single. Two singles, a walk, an out and Kamm's boot gave the Beavers a couple in the second. Portland took the lead in the fourth, Schroeder's Texas leaguer scoring Cox and Baker.

The Seals duplicated their first inning performance in the fifth, after Portland scored one. This made the count 6 to 5. Each team scored twice in the sixth and Portland cinched the game in the eighth with three tallies. The first two locals to face Sutherland in the ninth reached the bags, but the next three were retired. Score:

NERVOUS HURLING CAUSES S. L. TO DROP TO VERNON

Salt Lake, May 21.—Salt Lake's winning streak of ten straight was broken by Vernon Thursday, 13 to 10. Twenty hits, charged against the Salt Lake pitchers, tells the story. Bromley blew up in the third inning, allowing five runners to cross the home plate. Reiger, who succeeded him, made no improvement in Salt Lake's game, eight more runners coming in on his delivery in succeeding innings. Schellenbach, who pitched for vernon, did little better than his opponents, but was allowed to finish in evident assumption that the game was safe anyway.

Seattle Boy Anapolis Captain

Anapolis, Md., May 21.—(U. P.)—G. C. Miller of Seattle, second class man at naval academy, was elected captain of the 1921 boxing team today. The 1920 squad, which was victorious over Pennsylvania and Penn State, presented Coach "Spike" Webb with a gold watch. The schedule being tentatively arranged for next season already includes six big intercollegiate matches.

CALLAHAN CALLS OFF RING CONTEST WITH BEN LEONARD

FRANKIE CALLAHAN, New York lightweight, will not appear against Benny Leonard in the feature number of the Portland boxing commission smoker during Shrine week, says a telegram from the Eastern battler to Bobby Evans, matchmaker, containing the information that Callahan has injured his hand in training.

Evans is undetermined who he will secure as an opponent for the champion, but is dickering with several Eastern managers. Among those being considered at the present time are: Johnny Tillman, the Minneapolis welterweight; Johnny Shepherd, the English 133-pounder, and Pat Moran, a New Orleans battler, who is under the same management as Champion Pete Herman.

It is not likely that an opponent will be secured for Leonard until the end of next week. Charley White of Chicago is not available, as he has already been matched to box Leonard at Benton Harbor, Mich.

Golf Ass'n In States Favored

By George Bertz

ORGANIZATION of state golf associations in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana and Utah so that clubs of those states may conduct championship events and compete for the Portland interstate team trophy, which he has offered for competition in the Oregon championships in June on the Waverley club course, is the tentative plan which John G. Clemson has in mind.

FAVORS PRESENT DEED

Clemson, who is here on a visit from Pittsburg, believes that the formation of state associations would create a great deal of interest in the royal and ancient sport. He is opposed to the idea of making the trophy an international one and for that reason in his deed of gift included Utah among the states eligible for competition. The deed of gift calls for competition between four-man teams representing the various golf clubs in the states named, the low aggregate scores to qualify for match play competition for possession of the trophy for one year. The club winning the event to defend it at a state championship tournament the next season.

Clemson is of the opinion that the trophy, which is the costliest ever offered in competition on the coast, should be won five times.

TO DISCUSS ASSOCIATION

The suggestion has been made that the leaders of golf in the various states assemble and perfect state organizations. Local golf men will likely discuss the formation of a state association during the progress of the 1920 championships.

Race for Gun Title To Be Close

DEVOTEES of the trapshooting sport are looking forward to a close race for the state championship, which will be decided in the three-day tournament which opens Saturday at the Everding park traps of the Portland Gun club.

There are eight shooters in the state who can be counted on in the running for the title, and judging from performances this season the race is going to be an exciting one.

James W. Seavey, present holder of the state title, will defend his laurels. Among those who are considered in the running are Frank Templeton, former champion; J. Blaine Troeh, Wilbur K. France, Ray Spangle, Frank Van Atta, Lou Rayburn, ex-champion, and Dr. C. F. Cathey.

Seavey won the title last year at Pendleton with a score of 293. A shooter to win the honor this season will have to break more targets than that, as Seavey should break around the 296 mark, if weather conditions are good.

The championship race will be determined on the 200 registered targets Sunday and 100 Monday. Saturday's program calls for 200 registered targets. The Oregon state handicap and state doubles titles will be decided Monday.

The meeting of the Oregon State Sportsmen's association will be held Saturday night in the Imperial hotel. The election of a state representative to the Pacific coast zone meet will be named.

Shooting will start each day at 9 o'clock. Charles Dockendorf of Aberdeen, Wash., will cashier the shoot.

Fletcher Suspended For Soiling the Ball

New York, May 21.—(U. P.)—Art Fletcher, captain of the Giants, is the first National league player to be "arrested" under baseball's new "prohibition act."

Umpire Rigler gave him 10 days yesterday before he had a chance to plead to the charge of soiling the ball.

The pitchers of the league were raising such a general rumpus about the difficulty in keeping the ball from flying into the second story of the stands under the new rules that Prexy Heydler was a bit dubious himself.

"Babe" Ruth Out Again

New York, May 21.—(U. P.)—Babe Ruth, having rid himself of a pain in the side, is now laid up with the grippe, and will be out of the game several more days.

TENNIS

DARKNESS put a stop to one of the longest tennis matches played on the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club courts in many years Thursday evening. James Mackie and Alma D. Katz were scheduled to settle their differences in the annual spring handicap tournament of the "Winged-M" institution, and after Mackie had taken the first set 8-6, he started out like a winner of the second. However, Katz tied it up at 5-5, and the two battled through 28 games without determining a winner. They will continue this afternoon, so that Katz can keep his mind off of today's election.

Walter A. Goss worked his way to the semi-finals by defeating H. W. Thompson, 3-6, 6-1, 6-2 Thursday, while Stacy Hamilton won from A. L. Roberts, 6-4, 3-6, 7-5. The schedule for today calls for G. G. Jones meeting A. S. Frohman, Alma D. Katz vs. James Mackie, Ade Norris vs. winner of Jones-Frohman match, Stacy Hamilton vs. winner of Katz-Mackie engagement.
