

IF IT IS NEWS you will find it completely and truthfully told in one of the many interesting news sections of The Sunday Journal. A collection of notable news stories and feature articles for the day of rest.

Hitchcock Eye Has Slant of Pessimist

By Vella Winner
RAYMOND HITCHCOCK, actor, is a comedian of the first rank.

He looks at the universe through the big end of the telescope, and it's upside down, at that; the milk of human kindness in the breast of the world hasn't merely curdled—it just isn't. "I'll have a three minute egg and some dry toast; that will do as well as anything. How I would like to be hungry once! I never am, but I can add a couple of pounds by drinking a glass of water." Hitchcock addressed himself to the waiter and partly to himself.

"Why don't you try a little outdoor life and get up an appetite?" was suggested. "I don't have time to do anything but work. Why, I'm a regular slave. Summer and winter, I work like a dog. Putting over this 'Hitchy-Koo' thing every night is no cinch; and, then, in the summer I wear myself out getting the show ready for next season. Putting on a show isn't what it used to be, when everybody taking part was an all round person—where Hamlet was played one night and comedy the next, and so on. This is an age of specialists. The comedian is just a comedian, the violinist can do nothing but play the violin, the dancer is a dancer, and that's all. You have to hire one person for every little thing, and it costs more than double what it used to be to put on a show."

"This age of vaudeville and 15-minute turns and big salaries in the movies is putting our business on the rocks. These specialists are people of 15-minute minds as well as 15-minute turns; they are self-satisfied; they have arrived, in their own estimation; they are the living exemplification of that old saw, 'Where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise.' Lord, what wouldn't I give to feel that way once!"

"The theatrical business is just one of the things that have gone to the dogs, now. Look at our government! I'm not speaking of any particular party; they may be Democrats, they may be Republicans, or they may be Republicans—it's all the same. The trouble is with the fool people themselves. Here we are facing an election, and, take it from me, the people don't want, and they won't have, a decent man in office. They applaud loudly the man who says, 'Give me 50 cents, and I will bring you back $100,000 next week.' They love to pin their faith to something that they know perfectly well can't be done."

"If Johnson is nominated, I swear, I'll start a revolution. All of this talk about capital grinding down the people is rot; it's the politicians that grind down the people and make for inflated values and high prices."

"No law will stop a money-maker from making money. You don't need laws to make a man honest. Educate him to hate everything that is self-seeking and dishonest. Laws can't do that for you. God help our democracy if we discourage everything in it that is refined, even the luxuries of wealth. You remember Mrs. Osborne, the dressmaker? She said she was going to bring up her daughter to every luxury of wealth; so that if the daughter was left without the means to maintain those luxuries, she would get out and hustle for them. That's how it was with Mrs. Osborne. Her father brought her up in luxury, and when she no longer the means to keep up what she was used to, she got out and got them for herself."

"Education, early influence, not legislation, makes the man. My mother was very poor, but she always had flowers on the table—a few geraniums from the plants she grew in the window—and in the unblooming season green leaves. I have kept the influence of those flowers all my life."

"Someone has said that the twentieth century reformer is trying to make laws that God forgot to make—and that is what Raymond Hitchcock thinks."

Plane Makes Fast Time
Yakima, Wash., May 29.—W. O. Butler flew in a private airplane to Yakima from The Dalles, Or., in one hour and 15 minutes. His flying time from Portland was two hours.

MRS. ALBERT M. BROWN, retiring president of the Portland Shakespeare Study club, which closed its season's work this week with a tea for the several new members recently enrolled.

Grest Concerts Start Sunday; St. Lawrence Parish Picnic Monday

An event of importance to music lovers is the opening of the concert season at Council Crest park, Sunday. These Sunday musical feasts are free to the public, no admission being charged. The Grest concert orchestra is composed of musicians who are mostly members of the Portland Symphony orchestra.

On Monday the crest will be turned over to St. Lawrence parish and friends, who will hold a Decoration day picnic. Races mark the program. Rides, games and the shooting gallery will be available, and the pavilion will be open for dancing afternoon and evening. Monte Austin will have several new songs to introduce with the dancing on Monday.

Hot Lake Arrivals

Hot Lake, May 29.—Arrivals at Hot Lake sanatorium Wednesday were: Glenn Harder, Caldwell, Idaho; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Atchison, New York; Mrs. L. D. Phillips, Dallas, Or.; Mrs. G. W. DeLay, Hot Lake; M. A. Stearns, La Grande; James Johns, Pendleton. Arrivals Tuesday were: Mrs. L. B. Tanner, Baker; Joe Comer, Richfield, Idaho; J. E. Faber, Portland; John H. Jacobs, Union; Ellsworth Benham, Portland; C. Butler, Hermiston; J. H. Hawkins, T. M. Ramsdell and C. J. Sherman, Portland.

Japanese Fined for Shortweight Berries

Los Angeles, May 29.—(U. P.)—Fourteen Japanese, found guilty of selling shortweight boxes of strawberries, were fined $50 each by Police Judge Friedericks. The Japanese, all of whom are growers, were arrested in raids on two municipal markets.

Dean E. W. Hope head of the University Law school, has resigned. He will remove to Colorado and engage in a law practice.

Clubs, Society and Features

Last Meeting of Year Is Held By Club

By Vella Winner

THE last meeting of the year of the Portland Shakespeare Study club was held at the home of Mrs. Montrose Ringler in Laurelhurst Wednesday afternoon. The business meeting and installation of newly elected officers preceded the reception and tea, which were given in honor of Miss Elizabeth Eugenia Woodbury, who has been reappointed instructor for the class next year.

The room was decorated with a profusion of spring blossoms. Mrs. Albert M. Brown, retiring president, and Mrs. Julia Labane, newly elected president, cut the cake at the prettily appointed tea table. During the afternoon, Mrs. Robert F. Clark, contralto, sang songs of Jones, accompanied by Mrs. Florence Johnson Young. Miss Helen Harper played several selections on the violin, accompanied by her sister, Miss Jean Harper. Mrs. Herbert Garr Reed gave readings which were followed by children's dancing and a piano solo by Marcel Wells.

The club under the leadership of Mrs. Brainn has grown and prospered, the membership which dwindled down during war times, now having grown to 30. The club is now accounted among the leading cultural organizations of the city.

The Enterprise Women's club has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. George Holmes; vice president, Mrs. E. Knapp; recording secretary, Mrs. James Boyd; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. C. Conley; treasurer, Mrs. L. Jordan. The retiring president, Mrs. J. H. Dobbin, was presented with a beautiful silver pitcher. Mrs. Asa Craig spoke on Hippelwhite furniture and Miss Jean Holmes spoke on Sheraton furniture. Final plans were made for the forthcoming state convention to be held in Enterprise June 1, 2, 3 and 4.

Members of the Mt. Tabor women's gymnasium class enjoyed a short hike through the woods and a picnic dinner which was spread on a high knoll on the banks of the Willamette last Tuesday. The day was ideal and the outing which marked the close of the year's work was greatly enjoyed by all present.

The annual Linn county W. C. T. U. convention opened in Brownsville yesterday. Mrs. William H. Wheeler, Mrs. Forbes, B. F. Kummer, Mrs. C. R. Chills, Mrs. Emma Archibald, Emma Howe, Helen Hale, Mrs. Ed Holloway, Rev. W. P. Elmore, Mrs. Otis Taylor, Mrs. Harry Parks, Mrs. Boyd and Mrs. Henrietta Brown delivered addresses.

The Woodburn Woman's club held its last meeting of the year in the form of a community picnic at the home of the vice president, Mrs. H. P. Butterfield, on the Pacific highway, Wednesday afternoon. Reports from the twenty federations were given by Mrs. Della Overton of Woodburn and Mrs. Ottoway of Aurora. The new officers were installed at a basket lunch served by the Rural club of East Woodburn and representatives from the Aurora Woman's club were guests. Mrs. A. E. Austin, Mrs. G. G. Havemann and Mrs. L. A. Fayette Lawrence are delegates to the state federation meeting at Enterprise.

Little Theatre Open
"You Never Can Tell," by Bernard Shaw, will be presented by the Portland Drama League Saturday night at the Little theatre, under the direction of Nina Louche Greathouse. Curtain at 8:20, according to plans announced.

Bridgroom Admits Crime
Chenault, Wash., May 29.—Wilbert Harris, arrested the day after his wedding on a charge of passing forged checks, pleaded guilty. His record is being investigated. Judge Reynolds plans to parole him.

WHO? WHAT? WHERE?

ROAD SHOW
HEILIG—Broadway at Taylor. Raymond Hitchcock in "Hitchy-Koo 1919." 2:30 and 8:15.

VAUDEVILLE
PANTAGES—Broadway at Alder. High class vaudeville and photographic features. Afternoon and evening. Program changes Monday afternoon.

LOW'S HIPPODROME—Broadway at Yamhill. Direction Ackerman & Harris. Vaudeville and photographic features. Afternoon and night.

BAKER—Broadway between Morrison and Alder. The Baker Stock company in "Lena Rivers." 11:30 and 8:20. Matinee Wednesday and Saturday, 2:30.

MUSICAL FARCE
LYRIC—Fourth at Stark. Musical farce, "Pads and Follies." 7, 10 and 11:30.

PHOTOPLAYS
COLUMBIA—Sixth at Stark. William S. Hart in "The Toll Gate." 11 a. m. to 11 p. m.

LIGHTS—Broadway at Stark. "The Idol Dancer." 11 a. m. to 11 p. m.

RIVOLI—Washington at Stark. "My Husband's Second Wife" and Jiggs comedy. 11 a. m. to 11 p. m.

MAJESTIC—Washington at Park. Dorothy Dalton in "The Dark Mirror." 11 a. m. to 11 p. m.

PEOPLES—West Park at Alder. Alice Joyce in "Dollars and the Woman." 11 a. m. to 11 p. m.

STAR—Washington at Park. Virginia Arlette in "The Twelfth Night." 11 a. m. to 11 p. m.

CIRCLE—Fourth at Washington. Wallace Reid in "Excuse My Dust." 9 a. m. to 4 o'clock the next morning.

Cops Warden on Job
Marshfield, May 29.—J. M. Thomas, for seven years deputy fish and game commissioner in this locality, recently resigned to take the place of chief warden for the Oregon and Curry Fire Patrol association and has assumed his new office. He has opened headquarters in Coquille and will direct the fire fighting work from that point.

Japanese Fined for Shortweight Berries
Los Angeles, May 29.—(U. P.)—Fourteen Japanese, found guilty of selling shortweight boxes of strawberries, were fined $50 each by Police Judge Friedericks. The Japanese, all of whom are growers, were arrested in raids on two municipal markets.

Dean E. W. Hope head of the University Law school, has resigned. He will remove to Colorado and engage in a law practice.

Yakima, Wash., May 29.—W. O. Butler flew in a private airplane to Yakima from The Dalles, Or., in one hour and 15 minutes. His flying time from Portland was two hours.

He looks at the universe through the big end of the telescope, and it's upside down, at that; the milk of human kindness in the breast of the world hasn't merely curdled—it just isn't. "I'll have a three minute egg and some dry toast; that will do as well as anything. How I would like to be hungry once! I never am, but I can add a couple of pounds by drinking a glass of water." Hitchcock addressed himself to the waiter and partly to himself.

"Why don't you try a little outdoor life and get up an appetite?" was suggested. "I don't have time to do anything but work. Why, I'm a regular slave. Summer and winter, I work like a dog. Putting over this 'Hitchy-Koo' thing every night is no cinch; and, then, in the summer I wear myself out getting the show ready for next season. Putting on a show isn't what it used to be, when everybody taking part was an all round person—where Hamlet was played one night and comedy the next, and so on. This is an age of specialists. The comedian is just a comedian, the violinist can do nothing but play the violin, the dancer is a dancer, and that's all. You have to hire one person for every little thing, and it costs more than double what it used to be to put on a show."

"This age of vaudeville and 15-minute turns and big salaries in the movies is putting our business on the rocks. These specialists are people of 15-minute minds as well as 15-minute turns; they are self-satisfied; they have arrived, in their own estimation; they are the living exemplification of that old saw, 'Where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise.' Lord, what wouldn't I give to feel that way once!"

"The theatrical business is just one of the things that have gone to the dogs, now. Look at our government! I'm not speaking of any particular party; they may be Democrats, they may be Republicans, or they may be Republicans—it's all the same. The trouble is with the fool people themselves. Here we are facing an election, and, take it from me, the people don't want, and they won't have, a decent man in office. They applaud loudly the man who says, 'Give me 50 cents, and I will bring you back $100,000 next week.' They love to pin their faith to something that they know perfectly well can't be done."

"If Johnson is nominated, I swear, I'll start a revolution. All of this talk about capital grinding down the people is rot; it's the politicians that grind down the people and make for inflated values and high prices."

"No law will stop a money-maker from making money. You don't need laws to make a man honest. Educate him to hate everything that is self-seeking and dishonest. Laws can't do that for you. God help our democracy if we discourage everything in it that is refined, even the luxuries of wealth. You remember Mrs. Osborne, the dressmaker? She said she was going to bring up her daughter to every luxury of wealth; so that if the daughter was left without the means to maintain those luxuries, she would get out and hustle for them. That's how it was with Mrs. Osborne. Her father brought her up in luxury, and when she no longer the means to keep up what she was used to, she got out and got them for herself."

"Education, early influence, not legislation, makes the man. My mother was very poor, but she always had flowers on the table—a few geraniums from the plants she grew in the window—and in the unblooming season green leaves. I have kept the influence of those flowers all my life."

"Someone has said that the twentieth century reformer is trying to make laws that God forgot to make—and that is what Raymond Hitchcock thinks."

Plane Makes Fast Time
Yakima, Wash., May 29.—W. O. Butler flew in a private airplane to Yakima from The Dalles, Or., in one hour and 15 minutes. His flying time from Portland was two hours.

Dean E. W. Hope head of the University Law school, has resigned. He will remove to Colorado and engage in a law practice.

He looks at the universe through the big end of the telescope, and it's upside down, at that; the milk of human kindness in the breast of the world hasn't merely curdled—it just isn't. "I'll have a three minute egg and some dry toast; that will do as well as anything. How I would like to be hungry once! I never am, but I can add a couple of pounds by drinking a glass of water." Hitchcock addressed himself to the waiter and partly to himself.

"Why don't you try a little outdoor life and get up an appetite?" was suggested. "I don't have time to do anything but work. Why, I'm a regular slave. Summer and winter, I work like a dog. Putting over this 'Hitchy-Koo' thing every night is no cinch; and, then, in the summer I wear myself out getting the show ready for next season. Putting on a show isn't what it used to be, when everybody taking part was an all round person—where Hamlet was played one night and comedy the next, and so on. This is an age of specialists. The comedian is just a comedian, the violinist can do nothing but play the violin, the dancer is a dancer, and that's all. You have to hire one person for every little thing, and it costs more than double what it used to be to put on a show."

"This age of vaudeville and 15-minute turns and big salaries in the movies is putting our business on the rocks. These specialists are people of 15-minute minds as well as 15-minute turns; they are self-satisfied; they have arrived, in their own estimation; they are the living exemplification of that old saw, 'Where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise.' Lord, what wouldn't I give to feel that way once!"

"The theatrical business is just one of the things that have gone to the dogs, now. Look at our government! I'm not speaking of any particular party; they may be Democrats, they may be Republicans, or they may be Republicans—it's all the same. The trouble is with the fool people themselves. Here we are facing an election, and, take it from me, the people don't want, and they won't have, a decent man in office. They applaud loudly the man who says, 'Give me 50 cents, and I will bring you back $100,000 next week.' They love to pin their faith to something that they know perfectly well can't be done."

"If Johnson is nominated, I swear, I'll start a revolution. All of this talk about capital grinding down the people is rot; it's the politicians that grind down the people and make for inflated values and high prices."

"No law will stop a money-maker from making money. You don't need laws to make a man honest. Educate him to hate everything that is self-seeking and dishonest. Laws can't do that for you. God help our democracy if we discourage everything in it that is refined, even the luxuries of wealth. You remember Mrs. Osborne, the dressmaker? She said she was going to bring up her daughter to every luxury of wealth; so that if the daughter was left without the means to maintain those luxuries, she would get out and hustle for them. That's how it was with Mrs. Osborne. Her father brought her up in luxury, and when she no longer the means to keep up what she was used to, she got out and got them for herself."

"Education, early influence, not legislation, makes the man. My mother was very poor, but she always had flowers on the table—a few geraniums from the plants she grew in the window—and in the unblooming season green leaves. I have kept the influence of those flowers all my life."

"Someone has said that the twentieth century reformer is trying to make laws that God forgot to make—and that is what Raymond Hitchcock thinks."

Plane Makes Fast Time
Yakima, Wash., May 29.—W. O. Butler flew in a private airplane to Yakima from The Dalles, Or., in one hour and 15 minutes. His flying time from Portland was two hours.

Dean E. W. Hope head of the University Law school, has resigned. He will remove to Colorado and engage in a law practice.

He looks at the universe through the big end of the telescope, and it's upside down, at that; the milk of human kindness in the breast of the world hasn't merely curdled—it just isn't. "I'll have a three minute egg and some dry toast; that will do as well as anything. How I would like to be hungry once! I never am, but I can add a couple of pounds by drinking a glass of water." Hitchcock addressed himself to the waiter and partly to himself.

"Why don't you try a little outdoor life and get up an appetite?" was suggested. "I don't have time to do anything but work. Why, I'm a regular slave. Summer and winter, I work like a dog. Putting over this 'Hitchy-Koo' thing every night is no cinch; and, then, in the summer I wear myself out getting the show ready for next season. Putting on a show isn't what it used to be, when everybody taking part was an all round person—where Hamlet was played one night and comedy the next, and so on. This is an age of specialists. The comedian is just a comedian, the violinist can do nothing but play the violin, the dancer is a dancer, and that's all. You have to hire one person for every little thing, and it costs more than double what it used to be to put on a show."

"This age of vaudeville and 15-minute turns and big salaries in the movies is putting our business on the rocks. These specialists are people of 15-minute minds as well as 15-minute turns; they are self-satisfied; they have arrived, in their own estimation; they are the living exemplification of that old saw, 'Where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise.' Lord, what wouldn't I give to feel that way once!"

FRATERNAL

A large attendance of members was present at the giving of the degree of Master Mason to three members of the police force at St. Johns Friday evening. The famous police degree team was in charge and gave the work in full.

Returning delegates from the I. O. O. F. grand lodge at Baker report a most enjoyable fraternal state reunion, with lavish hospitality and a continuous succession of social and fraternal events that fully justified the promises and expectations.

Kirkpatrick council, Security Benefit association, had a merry social dance at Swiss hall Friday night.

Star lodge, I. O. O. F., has a contest on between its police members and its street car members, as to which will have a class of 50 applicants first. The lodge meets every Thursday evening at Killingsworth and Albina avenues, and is one of the busiest members of the Portland lodges of the order.

Special Course for Training Teachers To Relieve Shortage

Salem, May 28.—A special 12 weeks teachers' training course has been arranged for this summer by the Oregon Normal school at Monmouth for graduates of standard four-year high schools who desire to teach in the elementary schools of the state next year, according to J. A. Churchill, state superintendent of instruction. All desiring to enter will be required to take the state examination in June. The course opens June 21. Upon completion of this course, Churchill states, certificates will be issued entitling the holder to teach in the elementary grades of Oregon public schools. This arrangement has been made with a view to relieving, as far as possible, the teacher shortage existing in this state. The state law requires that before a certificate to teach can be issued the applicant must have completed an elementary teachers' training course or a 12 weeks' course at a normal school.

Graduating Class Of Ashland High Receives Diplomas

Ashland, May 29.—The 1920 class of the Ashland high school was graduated Thursday evening. Professor D. V. Poling of the O. A. C. addressed the class on "The Grip That Holds."

Following students were graduated: Helen Adams, Eleanor Allen, Elmer Biel, Earl Beck, Donna Rachell, John Brady, Carrie May Briggs, Eugene Bryant, Edna Wells Benson, Louis Benson, Cecile Case, Pauline Gunter, Clyde Gunter, Vesta Goez, Lucile Holdridge, Boyd Homewood, Thelma Hughes, Irven Theller, Esther Kleinhammer, Claudia Kimm, Melvin Kaeli, Mary Moore, Benjamin Miller, Oera Morris, Ruth Morris, Bonnie Jennings, Moe William McMillan, Florence Matties, Ina Neville, Lucile Oatman, Irving Porter, Marie Porter, Demore Provost, Arthur Peters, Lena Provost, Maxine Pracht, Billings Scherman, Thelma Shingler, John Farmer Swigart, Bertha Thumme, Violet Wood, Beulah Walker, Merle Walters, Maud York, Clyde Young.

Farmers' Union to Gather for Picnic

La Grande, May 29.—Today the members of the Farmers Union of Union county gathered at the Riverside park here for an all-day picnic. Two officials of the order, A. R. Shumway of Portland, state president, and A. V. Swift of Baker, national vice president of the Farmers Union, spoke.

Show Shop Bills For Week Are Varied

A group of highly interesting motion pictures are ready for the captivation of Portland playgoers during the week which opens in most houses today. No less important are the vaudeville and legitimate plans for the week. Among the cinema attractions today are:

LIBERTY—"The Idol Dancer," thrilling South Sea island drama, in the making of which David W. Griffith and his players so nearly lost their lives.

STAR—Virginia Arlette in "The Twelfth Night," a typical "Bill" Hart Western melodrama of much merit.

COLUMBIA—William S. Hart in "The Toll Gate," a typical "Bill" Hart Western melodrama of much merit.

RIVOLI—"Jiggs" brought to life in a two-reel comedy, and "My Husband's Secret Wife," a notable Blackton production.

PEOPLES—Alice Joyce in "Dollars and the Woman," billed as a "big special Ben" production.

MAJESTIC—Dorothy Dalton in "The Dark Mirror," in which the delightful Dorothy is said to fairly outdo herself.

CIRCLE—Frillilla Dean in "The Virgin of Stamboul," a widely heralded Oriental drama.

Raymond Hitchcock, fun maker extraordinary, will conclude his three-day run in "Hitchy-Koo 1919," at the Heilig tonight. There is a bevy of beauties with the Hitchcock show.

Next Thursday the famous Howard brothers and all their retinue will open at the Heilig in "The Passing Show," for a three-day stand.

On the new bill at the Orpheum, opening Sunday afternoon, Bothwell Browne and the Browne sisters are the particularly bright spots.

Pantages vaudeville and picture features change with the show Monday afternoon.

Ben Dillon and Al Franks in their quaint antics are again the feature of the Lyric theatre musical program, beginning Sunday afternoon.

J. J. Hughes of the famous team of Adelaide and Hughes, offers Frank and Maxie Hughes as a feature of the new Hippodrome bill.

The Adelphi Musical Comedy company, with a large cast of new talent, opened this afternoon at The Oaks amusement park, playing "Hello Portland" for the opening week of the season.

The Baker concludes the presentation of "Lena Rivers" this evening, and next week the show house will be dark, to remain so until the new season opens.

Seattle club women have protested against elimination of agricultural pursuits at the girls' school at Grand Mount.

Ben Dillon and Al Franks in their quaint antics are again the feature of the Lyric theatre musical program, beginning Sunday afternoon.

J. J. Hughes of the famous team of Adelaide and Hughes, offers Frank and Maxie Hughes as a feature of the new Hippodrome bill.

The Adelphi Musical Comedy company, with a large cast of new talent, opened this afternoon at The Oaks amusement park, playing "Hello Portland" for the opening week of the season.

The Baker concludes the presentation of "Lena Rivers" this evening, and next week the show house will be dark, to remain so until the new season opens.

Seattle club women have protested against elimination of agricultural pursuits at the girls' school at Grand Mount.

Ben Dillon and Al Franks in their quaint antics are again the feature of the Lyric theatre musical program, beginning Sunday afternoon.

J. J. Hughes of the famous team of Adelaide and Hughes, offers Frank and Maxie Hughes as a feature of the new Hippodrome bill.

The Adelphi Musical Comedy company, with a large cast of new talent, opened this afternoon at The Oaks amusement park, playing "Hello Portland" for the opening week of the season.

The Baker concludes the presentation of "Lena Rivers" this evening, and next week the show house will be dark, to remain so until the new season opens.

Seattle club women have protested against elimination of agricultural pursuits at the girls' school at Grand Mount.

Ben Dillon and Al Franks in their quaint antics are again the feature of the Lyric theatre musical program, beginning Sunday afternoon.

J. J. Hughes of the famous team of Adelaide and Hughes, offers Frank and Maxie Hughes as a feature of the new Hippodrome bill.

The Adelphi Musical Comedy company, with a large cast of new talent, opened this afternoon at The Oaks amusement park, playing "Hello Portland" for the opening week of the season.

The Baker concludes the presentation of "Lena Rivers" this evening, and next week the show house will be dark, to remain so until the new season opens.

Seattle club women have protested against elimination of agricultural pursuits at the girls' school at Grand Mount.

Ben Dillon and Al Franks in their quaint antics are again the feature of the Lyric theatre musical program, beginning Sunday afternoon.

J. J. Hughes of the famous team of Adelaide and Hughes, offers Frank and Maxie Hughes as a feature of the new Hippodrome bill.

The Adelphi Musical Comedy company, with a large cast of new talent, opened this afternoon at The Oaks amusement park, playing "Hello Portland" for the opening week of the season.

The Baker concludes the presentation of "Lena Rivers" this evening, and next week the show house will be dark, to remain so until the new season opens.

Seattle club women have protested against elimination of agricultural pursuits at the girls' school at Grand Mount.

Ben Dillon and Al Franks in their quaint antics are again the feature of the Lyric theatre musical program, beginning Sunday afternoon.

J. J. Hughes of the famous team of Adelaide and Hughes, offers Frank and Maxie Hughes as a feature of the new Hippodrome bill.

The Adelphi Musical Comedy company, with a large cast of new talent, opened this afternoon at The Oaks amusement park, playing "Hello Portland" for the opening week of the season.

The Baker concludes the presentation of "Lena Rivers" this evening, and next week the show house will be dark, to remain so until the new season opens.

Seattle club women have protested against elimination of agricultural pursuits at the girls' school at Grand Mount.

Ben Dillon and Al Franks in their quaint antics are again the feature of the Lyric theatre musical program, beginning Sunday afternoon.

J. J. Hughes of the famous team of Adelaide and Hughes, offers Frank and Maxie Hughes as a feature of the new Hippodrome bill.

The Adelphi Musical Comedy company, with a large cast of new talent, opened this afternoon at The Oaks amusement park, playing "Hello Portland" for the opening week of the season.

The Baker concludes the presentation of "Lena Rivers" this evening, and next week the show house will be dark, to remain so until the new season opens.

Seattle club women have protested against elimination of agricultural pursuits at the girls' school at Grand Mount.

Ben Dillon and Al Franks in their quaint antics are again the feature of the Lyric theatre musical program, beginning Sunday afternoon.

J. J. Hughes of the famous team of Adelaide and Hughes, offers Frank and Maxie Hughes as a feature of the new Hippodrome bill.

The Adelphi Musical Comedy company, with a large cast of new talent, opened this afternoon at The Oaks amusement park, playing "Hello Portland" for the opening week of the season.