UNITED ARTISANS LAY CORNERSTONE FOR NEW HOME

beautiful four acres in the suburbs of Portland, the eight assemblies of the United Artisans in this city yesterday laid the cornerstone for a home for aged and dependent members of their order. The site is on Division and East Seventysecond, where there is an excellent view of Mount Hood and surrounding outlook highly favorable for the proposed home.

The address of the day was delivered by B. F. Irvine of The Journal, who said that the structure about to be erected "stand symbolic of that transwould cendent formula, 'I am my brother's keeper.'" He said that "in what we are doing here today I catch a vision of the world as it ought to be, see little companies like this struggling on and on to make universal that eternal priciple taught by the Nazarene, 'therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to Brief addresses were also delivered by Supreme Officer H. S. Hudson and Judge row, and a vocal dust was rendered by Harvey Hudson and G. R. Thomas. The home is not to be a single large building, but will be composed of several small structures artistically grouped about the four acre site, with the grounds properly set with shrubbery and walks.

The Portland Artisans have property worth $500,000, and form the strongest group of assemblies in America.
