

BOATHOUSE OWNER SUED FOR DEATH OF BOY IN RIVER

Suit for $7500 damages for the death of Richard Bowles, who was drowned in Willamette river March 22, was filed today by S. E. Bowles against John and Jessie Redding, who conduct a boathouse at Whitwood court.

The complaint of Bowles, who was the father of the youth who was drowned, sets forth that the Reddings violated a city ordinance when they rented a canoe to young Bowles and his companion, Peter Ermler, both minors. Bowles was 15 and Ermler was 17 years old.

Basic Differences Factor

The great fundamental differences between all forms of healing practice on one side and scientific medicine on the other is the bulwark of pure, scientific investigation independent of questions of practice, said Dillehunt.

The other two functions of the medical school, he continued, are the annual production of a few thoroughly qualified doctors and the correlation of the medical school as a part of the extension work of the university with all the public health agencies and the welfare bodies contributing to public health, such as the child welfare commission, Social Hygiene society, Anti-Tuberculosis society and others.

Needs Are Discussed

The need of the direct administration by the medical school to the people was shown in the recent draft examinations of several million men for military service, said Dillehunt, in which 40 per cent were rejected for physical reasons, and out of that 40 per cent 85 per cent were rejected because of preventable defects.

The school should also establish a hospital for the care and study of obscure diseases and for administration to the indigent sick and crippled.

Dillehunt outlined the history of medical education in the United States and the various stages through which it has passed to its present state of development, pointing out the influence exerted by the Johns Hopkins university school, the Carnegie foundation, Rockefeller foundation and the American Medical association, showing that in the eleva-

ELECTED TO LEAD COLUMBUS KNIGHTS

John H. Pearce of La Grande, new state deputy.

Membership in the state council of the Knights of Columbus during the past year has increased 40 per cent, according to reports read Monday at the closing business session. This increase entitles the Oregon council to three delegates instead of two at the national council.

One of the three delegates will be selected to go to France as a guest of the French government. The council authorized the appointment of a state lecturer, who will be required to attend to the educational activities of the smaller councils.

In keeping with their annual custom, the council invited an assessment from members to assist in defraying the expenses of young men studying for the priesthood. The delegates viewed a motion picture in the afternoon portraying domestic and foreign war work carried on by their organization. Election results are: State deputy, J. H. Pearce, La Grande; state secretary, A. A. Mille, Salem; state treasurer, Patrick Bacon, Portland; state advocate, Sam Dolan, Corvallis; state warden, Fred Schwab, Mount Angel; delegates to the national convention, F. J. Loserger, past state deputy, with Carl Johnson, Bend, as alternate; Hugh McLain, Coos Bay, with Frank Davey, Salem, as alternate; J. H. Pearce, La Grande, with Joseph Franzwa, Eugene, as alternate.

Next year's council meeting will be held in the new $200,000 clubhouse, now in course of construction at Park and Taylor streets.

MORE WOOD MEN ARE UNSEATED

delegates-at-large, giving each man one-half a vote.

The committee today demanded that accredited representatives of presidential candidates file their names with the secretary.

Leaders of the organization supporting Lowden for the presidential nomination were openly optimistic today when the Republican national committee here resumed its unique open hearings of contested delegations inaugurated by Chairman Will Hays.

While none of the Lowden men would officially commit himself, it was generally accepted that the organization had gained all of the eight contested delegates temporarily seized by the committee yesterday—one from Alabama and seven from Arkansas. Contesting delegates who lost were understood to be for Major General Leonard Wood.

Lowden Claims 177

Assuming the unofficial claims of the Lowden organization are borne out in the convention the indicated vote on the initial ballot, exclusive of 114 contests yet to be decided, would appear to be: Wood 238, Lowden 177, Senator Hiram Johnson 161, Nicholas Murray Butler 88, Governor William C. Sproul 78, Senator Warren G. Harding 48, Governor Calvin Coolidge 29, Senator Howard Sutherland 18, Senator Miles Polk 18.

The candidacies of the presidential aspirants have in no way entered into the hearings of the national committee making its decisions for the temporary roll of the convention purely upon the legal and party organization questions involved.

Red Cedar Shingle Men Open National Publicity Campaign

Under the management of J. S. Williams, secretary of the shingle department of the West Coast Lumbermen's association, manufacturers of red cedar shingles have entered upon a nationwide advertising and sales campaign in an effort to reestablish their product in the markets of the country.

"Despite the fact that red cedar shingles are the oldest and most widely used roofing material in America today, their per capita consumption is steadily decreasing," said Williams, "and it is only through cooperative methods of advertising and salesmanship that the manufacturers can hope to retrieve their lost prestige in the market."

Instability of prices of logs and consequent fluctuation in the price of shingles are the reasons attributed by Williams to the falling off in sales of cedar shingles. Many dealers recently have refused to handle shingles because of the frequent advance and decline in price and have turned their attention to the roofing materials of the present. This situation, manufacturers of substitute roofing material have gained a considerable market at the expense of the Northwest shingle manufacturers.

OHIO RATIFICATION ALLOWED TO STAND

Washington, June 1.—(U. P.)—The Ohio referendum of last November, as the result of which the state attempted to withdraw its legislature's ratification of the prohibition amendment, is unconstitutional, the supreme court today decided.

The court held that the ratification of any constitutional amendment by a legislature is final.

It also granted an injunction restraining state officials from submitting the woman suffrage amendment to a referendum next fall.

Ohio's legislature ratified the prohibition amendment, but was succeeded in calling a referendum and the voters decided against national prohibition. Proceedings were at once started to enable Ohio to withdraw its ratification and the state supreme court in Ohio decided the prohibition referendum was legal.

law of vital importance to their peace and safety."

Palmer referred to writings of Post in 1908 in which he is alleged to have praised Emma Goldman and Ludovico Cominetta.

Palmer mentioned the case of Paul Burton, Detroit; Earnest Knoepfel, St. Paul; Peter Eiderselto, and Serafino Grandi, Patterson, N. J.; Frank Widmer, Albert Guabello, Tom Miloussko, Milwaukee; Frank Jaworski, Hartford, Conn.; Mike Kristof and Anreec Kramec of Buffalo.

"In hundreds of cases similar to the above, warrants have been issued, despite clear evidence of membership in the Communist party, which Secretary Wilson decided was a deportable offense," said Palmer.

Answering charges of Post that only three small pistols were found in all the big radical raids, the attorney general said 18 rifles and bombs were found in Newark, N. J.; three guns in Providence, R. I.; three in Philadelphia; five guns and bombs in Hartford; five guns each in Chicago and Cleveland; one in Ohio and other such equipment in Buffalo and Los Angeles.

Palmer denied he had demanded excessive bail in deportation cases.

He denounced Post for releasing Ludwig C. A. K. Martens into the custody of his attorney.

The attorney general revealed that Ferdinand Peterson, an agent of Martens, had worked himself into the confidence of the department of Justice and was employed as a government agent for three months until his identity was discovered. Peterson's government reports were reviewed by Martens' secretary, Palmer said.

Time Set for State Chamber Expansion Campaign in City

June 9, 10 and 11 have been fixed as dates for the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce expansion campaign in Portland. This announcement was made at noon today on the assembling of majors and captains of the team organization which is to canvass this city for subscriptions to the $450,000 three years' activities budget.

Today's conference was held in Multnomah hotel to select team workers for the canvass. A list of 300 names was handed to the captains from which to select their team workers.

Out in the state the campaign will begin during the week of June 14, in five communities simultaneously, and will continue, five or six towns at a time, for seven weeks.

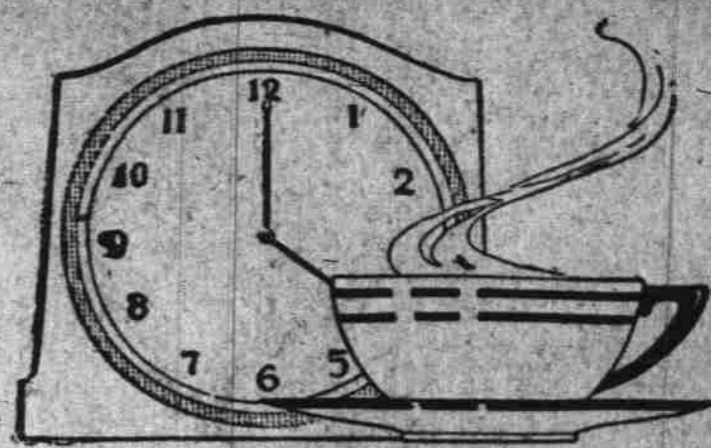

Congressional Help In Forest Patrol Believed Certain

That congress in due course of time will make provision for the airplane patrol of Northwest forests was the feeling that E. T. Allen, secretary of the Western Forestry and Conservation association, found in Washington, D. C. Everywhere was the sentiment of optimism and the belief that the project would go through.

Allen told of the hazardous forest situation in the Northwest and secured the promise of a slight balance of money held in the United States forester's office for contingency purposes, to be applied to forest fire protection under the Weeks law.

Allen visited Washington in connection with the general forest policy program to be worked out by the committee recently appointed by the National Lumber Manufacturers' association.
