Oratorical Contest at Reed College Won by Washington Student

Oratorical honors went to the University of Washington at Reed college Monday, when Kenneth C. Cole won first place in the triangular contest between the Universities of Oregon, Washington and Idaho. Cole and Fred Coley of Oregon delivered orations on the neutral platform at Reed, and Cole's speech on "Theodore Roosevelt" was awarded first place by the judges, the Rev. W. G. Elliot Jr., Professor H. E. Hastings and W. C. U'Ren. The Idaho speaker had been eliminated in an earlier contest, and so Cole's victory Monday gives Washington the oratorical championship of the Northwest.
